SIX LOSE LIVES WHEN AIR LINER CRASHES

Opportunities In Canada Greatest Says Premier King

Prime Minister's Visit to Rosthern, Sask., Is Occasion of Striking Demonstration of Unity Among Diversified Races Which Make Up Population of Dominion; Prairie Workers Hear Addresses by Their M.P.

Rosthern, Sask., Nov. 6—"To be a Canadian citizen is to be have the greatest advantages of anyone in the world."

This was a statement made in an address here last night by Premier King, who added that some seventy members of the present Parliament of Canada had come to Canada as immigrant boys.

No other country offered as great opportunities to young men and women, he said.

The Prime Minister's address last night, delivered in the Town Hall here after a busy day, was heard by an audience of townsmen and women and members of the Prince Albert constituency from rural districts adjacent to Rosthern. It was featured by a plea for racial unity and a recital of international affairs and a reference to the proud place occupied by Canada as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

"Instead of it being a misfortune that we have men and women of many races and creeds in this country, it presents a wonderful opportunity of proving how great problems and great difficulties can be solved," said the Premier.

Fog Leads To Plane Disaster

TWO PASSENGERS SUFFER INJURIES

Marden Park, Surrey, Eng., Nov. 6.—Six persons were killed and two injured when a big German air liner bound for Berlin from Croydon crashed this morning.

Three of those killed were passengers and three were crew members.

One of the two survivors is ex-Prince Eugene Schaumberg-Lippe, second cousin of a former reigning prince of one of the oldest German royal houses. He was acting as second pilot. The prince was injured, but is expected to recover. The other injured man, Lieut.-Commander Glen Kidston, widely known racing motorist, is suffering with cuts.

The passengers killed were: G. P. Milne, director of Henderson & Company, jute merchants, Calcutta; G. S. Gaspar, an employee of Henderson & Company, and D. L. Jones of Lansdowne Road, Stockwell.

The crew members killed were Pilot Rod Schinks, Mechanic Ulrich and Wireless Operator Niklas.

Ex-Prince von Schaumberg-Lippe was so severely burned about the face that he was scarcely recognizable. His clothing was burned from his arms and legs. Before being taken to a hospital he gasped: "I opened the window and crawled out."

The plane was owned and operated by the German Lufthansa Company and was en route to Berlin by way of Amsterdam and Hanover.

PLANES GO TO VICTORIA ISLAND IN ARCTIC TO FLY RESCUED PARTY SOUTH

News Expected That Three Machines Reached Cambridge Bay To-day to Start With McAlpine and Seven Companions for Churchill, on Hudson Bay, From Where They Are to Travel Back to Civilization by Train.

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—Freed after two months enforced stay in the Far North, Colonel C. D. H. McAlpine and his seven companions are expected to reach Churchill terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway by the middle of November. Thayer Lindsey, director of Dominion Explorers Ltd. to-day stated the company's party, missing for eight weeks in the Arctic, should be in Winnipeg before the end of the month.

To-day while the eight mineral explorers are recuperating after their ordeal, three airplanes are en route to their aid from Burnside River, tiny supply base at the south end of Bathurst Inlet, on the northern coast of Canada. According to radio reports, the northbound relief planes are halted by fog at Bathurst radio station, fifty miles north of Burnside and more than 200 miles south of the lost explorers haven.

Physicians State How Other Cities Have Eliminated Disease

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—The many cases of diphtheria in Vancouver have surprised the commission now engaged in making a survey of hospital accommodation and requirements in this city.

"Many Canadian cities have completely eliminated diphtheria by the use of prophylaxis," it was stated.

"This is the most serious disease a child can have, particularly from the point of view of after-effects, and the preventive, which is quite painless,

Prince Baden, Germany, Dies

Constance, Germany, Nov. 6.—Former Prince Maximilian von Baden, sixty-two, the last Imperial German Chancellor, died here at 5.45 to-day.

It was he who negotiated the Kaiser's abdication and the terms of the armistice which ended the world war.

The former Prince's wife, Marie Louise, nee Duchess of Brunswick-Lueneberg, a royal princess of Great Britain, was summoned to his bedside Saturday with their two children, twenty-three-year-old Berchold and twenty-seven-year-old Marie Alexandra. The latter is married to Ex-Prince Wolfgang von Hesse.

MENNONITE GROUP NOT TO MIGRATE

Premier King Says Public Charge on Prairies Not Wanted

Rosthern, Sask., Nov. 6 (Canadian Press). — Request that Mennonites now stranded in Germany after being put out of Russia be brought to Canada was submitted to Premier King before his departure from here for Edmonton to-day. The deputation was headed by Bishop Toews, religious leader of the community here.

The Prime Minister told the deputation this was a matter for Hon. Robert Morke and the Department of Immigration. However, Mr. King understood the department took the view that it would be a serious thing to bring out to this country a large number of people who would have to be looked after during the winter.

Although moved on humanitarian grounds to lend a helping hand, the department would hardly consent to any of these people coming to Canada at this time unless the Mennonites comfortably situated in this country were prepared to take the refugees

NAVY PARLEY GROUPS NOW MAKE PLANS

U.S. Delegation to Sail Jan. 11 From New York Aboard Ss. Olympic For England

JAPANESE TO VISIT U.S.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The United States delegation to the London naval limitation conference is now expected to sail for England aboard the White Star liner Olympic January 11.

State department officials, who are preparing for the departure of the commission, had expected the Leviathan, queen of the United States merchant marine, would be used, but if present plans for the conference are followed that ship would land the delegation in England three or four days too late for the first meeting.

JAPANESE PLANS

Tentative plans have already been made for the Japanese delegation to sail for England aboard the Olympic December 20, as that commission will desire to confer with British officials before the conference meets. The Japanese delegation expects to spend only a few days in Washington en route to London, for conferences with President Hoover, Secretary Stimson, the chief United States delegate and other United States officials.

Both the Olympic and the French liner France will sail for Europe January 11, and would land the United States contingent in England in ample time for the conference.

BAN ON TEXT BOOKS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Vancouver Caught With Heavy Stocks of School Books Now Discarded

Victoria City will suffer little from the Department of Education's ban on foreign textbooks, it was stated to-day by George Deane, municipal inspector, in reference to a report from Vancouver that the mainland area had $20,000 worth of discarded books on its shelves, as a result of the recent order by the department.

The ban on foreign textbooks did not extend to the use of the books for library purposes, and few if any of the discarded works had been actually in use in Victoria schools, said Mr. Deane. In addition no large stocks were held here of any works.

Vancouver appears to have bought books on a more lavish scale, which accounted for the present difficulty there, Mr. Deane intimated.

Vancouver, Nov. 6—With probably $20,000 worth of supplementary readers in stock, which have been taken off the list of books authorized by the Council of Public Education, the Vancouver School Board began to wonder last night who is to stand the loss.

Instructions received from Dr. S. J. Willis, Provincial Superintendent of Education, were placed before the board by S. J. Gordon, Vancouver superintendent. These were to the effect that the board should discard as soon as possible all books not listed by the department and his cursory survey of the stock on hand for Grade 1 showed considerably more than 15,000 supplementary readers now

SHIP ROBBED AT PORTLAND

Two Pirates Bind Captain and Escape With $397

Portland, Ore., Nov. 6.—Youthful river pirates boarded the steamship Edgar F. Luckenbach at the Luckenbach Terminal here early to-day, bound Capt. Carl Alberts and Elmer Atkinson, quartermaster, robbed the ship's safe of $397.60 and escaped.

Atkinson told police he had returned to the steamship early to-day and was in the pantry drinking a cup of coffee when a pistol was thrust against his back. He said he was taken to the paint locker, where he was bound and locked in.

Capt. Alberts told police the thieves broke down his door and bound him with ropes to his bunk after forcing him to open the safe.

ONE IDENTIFIED

Both ship's officers told the authorities they recognized Peter Media, nineteen, discharged boatswain of the steamship, as one of the pirates. They said he ordered his companion to carry out the robbery. It was not told why Media had been discharged.

The Edgar F. Luckenbach had been loading general cargo for New Orleans, Houston and Mobile, and was to have sailed later to-day.

Stock Prices Are Seen In Further Decline As Selling Volume Upheld

New York, Nov. 6.—A sweeping decline in prices, which ran from $5 to nearly $30 a share in most of the leaders and much more in a few specialties, took place in the abbreviated three-hour session of the New York Stock Exchange to-day.

Final quotations showed little recovery from the day's low levels, with the ticker nearly one hour late at the close. A sprinkling of issues broke through the low levels established in the drastic reaction last Tuesday and much of the ground recovered in the closing sessions of last week was lost.

Total sales on the Stock Exchange during the three-hour session were 5,914,760 shares, as against 6,262,930 during the full five-hour session Monday.

Curb Exchange stocks also fell precipitately, particularly the utilities. Electors Investors dropped 30, to close at $103, Electric Bond and Share closed at $35.75, off $18; Allied Power and Light at $38, off $8.87½; American Super-Power at $21.50, off $4.50, and Central States Electric at $22.12½, off $11.62½.

Cities Service was again turned over in huge volume and closed at $39.87½, off $9. It opened with a block of 125,000 shares.

Senator Left Off White House List In Error

Washington, Nov. 6. — President Hoover sent a letter to Senator H. W. Johnson of California to-day saying that "an accident" had caused the senator's name to be omitted from the list of guests invited to the White House dinner last night in honor of Ambassador Dawes.

Mr. Hoover wrote that directions had been given Monday to send invitations to all members of the Senate foreign relations committee, but that "an inadvertence occurred somewhere," which accounted for the omission of one to Senator Johnson.

The absence of Senator Johnson had created a great deal of discussion in Washington till the President's letter made it all plain.

ROBB HOLDING GAINS MADE FOR RECOVERY

Toronto, Nov. 6—Further encouraging reports regarding the condition of Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance of Canada, who has been ill with pneumonia at the Royal York Hotel here for nearly two weeks, were given out to-day by his physicians and members of his secretarial staff.

Yesterday Mr. Robb's temperature declined and it was announced his condition was improved. The Finance Minister maintained this improvement to-day, having passed a comfortable night.

The following bulletin was issued to-day by D. Prendergast on Mr. Robb's condition:

"There was no spectacular change during the night, but Mr. Robb continues to hold the advantage gained yesterday."

POWER LINE WORK STARTS

CONSTRUCTION TO TOTAL $6,000,000

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—The first contract given by the Powell River Company Limited toward the eventual construction of its $6,000,000 additional power project at Lois River, between twelve and fourteen miles from its present plant at Powell River, was awarded to-day to Stuart Cameron and Company Limited.

The Cameron Company will clear a power line right-of-way 150 feet wide and twelve and one-half miles long through brush and timber between Powell River and the site upon which the Lois power house will be erected. The contractors will also erect a power transmission line along the right-of-way.

In announcing the award, A. E. McMaster, manager of the Powell River Company, declined to give the contract price. The right-of-way, he said, would be wide enough for the erection of two lines of poles, although only one would be built at present.

The awarding of other contracts for the project, including those for the construction of the dam across the Lois and a mile-long tunnel from the dam to the powerhouse, would follow during the next six weeks, stated Mr. McMasters.

Blind Drive Expected To Top $10,000 Mark Before Third Day Ends

The $10,000 mark in the blind drive for $50,000 in Victoria to help the work of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in training sightless persons to become useful, happy citizens, will be reached during the day, it was anticipated at the campaign office, 1203 Broad Street, this morning.

An encouraging start early this morning encouraged the workers at headquarters. An elderly gentleman was waiting when the office opened at 9 o'clock with a $10 donation. Within a few minutes another voluntary subscriber arrived with a cheque for $1,000. Two thousand dollars had been subscribed by voluntary givers within an hour and a half.

Canvassers after a fairly satisfactory day yesterday, renewed their efforts under the direction of the chairman, Fred Landsberg, and, setting a good example, Merrill Robinson, western superintendent of the institute, accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, was among the first to start out.

Faces Death After Three Murder Trials

Huntsville, Texas, Nov. 6.—Percy Howard, whose two appeals from a conviction for murder, have boosted his sentence progressively from four years in prison to electrocution, sat nonchalantly in the death cell of the Texas state penitentiary here to-day as his hours for executive clemency waned.

Howard was convicted ten years ago of the murder of N. V. Nixon, a taxi driver. The state charged Howard had forced Nixon to watch preparations of his grave. Howard was sentenced to four years in prison.

Dissatisfied, he appealed and was granted a new trial which resulted in a conviction and a forty-year sentence. He appealed successfully again and drew a third conviction, this time with the death penalty.

Since that time gubernatorial clemency has thrice postponed the date of Howard's electrocution, now set for Friday.

VANCOUVER-VAN HORNE ISLAND MEMORIAL NOW IS PLANNED

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—It is expected that within a short time announcement will be made that Deadman's Island has been procured as the site for a joint memorial or two separate memorials to Captain Vancouver, discoverer of the Port of Vancouver, and Sir William Van Horne, the real founder of the city.

In telling the Vancouver Canadian Club this at its annual meeting last night, George E. Winter, chairman of the Captain Vancouver Memorial Committee said the Van Horne project contemplated by the C.P.R., had been placed in the hands of the club for execution.

Once the sit was definitely at the club's disposal, Mr. Winter said, competitive designs would be advertised for, the field being open to anybody in the world. Then it would be possible to proceed with the raising of funds.

110 STITCHES PUT IN BABY'S HEAD AFTER ATTACK BY DOGS

Spokane, Nov. 6—It took 110 surgical stitches to-day to close wounds on the face and head of a five-months-old baby attacked by five dogs. The baby, Joseph Anderson, was attacked yesterday by the dogs as he lay on a davenport where he had been left by Mrs. R. H. Barney, his foster-mother, while she was out of the room. It was believed the dogs thought the baby was a plaything.

Hospital attaches to-day said the baby had an excellent chance for recovery and unless infection should develop, probably would not be badly scarred.

GEN. FENG WANTS CHANGED CHINESE FOREIGN POLICY

Shanghai, Nov. 6.—Rengo (Japanese new service) dispatches from Peiping to-day quoted General Feng Yu-hsiang, commander of the rebellious Kuominchun or "People's Army," now fighting Nationalist forces in Honan Province, as having intimated the revolution had the endorsement of Yen Hsi-shan, powerful governor of Shensi Province.

Whether Governor Yen's sympathies have been with the "People's Army" or with the Nationalists has been a question since the outbreak of hostilities.

The Peiping advices said foreign correspondents had interviewed Feng and that he had said:

"The present military hostilities on the part of the northwestern armies (Feng's forces) started only after I had consulted Yen Hsi-shan. Therefore we are both responsible for these military operations.

"In the event that we are victorious over Chiang Kai-shek's troops we are planning to hold a conference at Peiping or Chengchow to discuss national affairs, including the establishment of a provisional government.

"We are seeking to carry out the Kuomintang (People's Party) principles. However, we object to the methods which the Nanking group (Nationalists) are using. Therefore we are seeking to impeach Nanking.

"All anti-Chiang Kai-shek circulars issued on recent occasions received endorsements from both of us. If the Kuominchun comes into power we will execute the party's general policy, but will abolish Nanking's make-believe foreign diplomacy, such as that going on at present with Japan."

Cities Service To Serve Chicago With Natural Gas

The natural gas industry has assumed such a prominent position of late that widespread interest has become focussed in both the utility and financial communities upon the rapid developments that are steadily taking place in this field, according to F. Van der Vliet of Christy, Hall & Co.

The latest and perhaps the most signigicant step toward the expansion of the natural gas industry involves the extensive gas facilities of the Cities Service Co. It is authoritatively intimated that officials of Cities Service Co. have within the past few weeks virtually completed arrangements for the transportation to and the distribution of natural gas in the city of Chicago and surrounding territory.

While official details of the arrangements understood to have been made during the recent survey by officials of Cities Service Co. of the gas properties controlled and during the conferences with Midwestern interests, are not known, it is understood that provisions were made for the construction of a 700-mile pipe line from the company's extensive gas resources in the Osage Nation in Oklahoma to the Chicago area. Of even greater significance than the pipe-line facilities in respect to this particular project is the reliable report that Cities Service has definitely reached an agreement with the Insull interests of Chicago, controling the huge Middle West Utilities system, for the distribution of the natural gas in the Chicago territory.

The significance of this step cannot be over-estimated, as it will mean the transmission of this fuel over a greater distance than ever before, and in the opinion of some observers will tend to revolutionize the natural gas industry—eliminating much of the uncertainty and skepticism now prevailing as to the profitableness and feasibility of long-distance transmission of natural gas for commercial and industrial uses.

'Salute' Hours Start To-day

Big Radio Programme to Come Over NBC to KOMO This Afternoon

"Salute" wil lhave its premiere on raido to-day.

This widely heralded programme series, introducing new standards in the art of broadcasting, is a National Broadcasting Company feature, coming through a coast-to-coast chain at 4.30 o'clock, Pacific time. KOMO will broadcast.

"Salute" will have its premiere on bination of radio and legitimate stage practices. Nothing must interfere with the impression of realism. To this end, there will be no announcer—only a voice in the background, weaving the music, the sound effects and the dialogue into a harmonious whole.

Musically, the programme will be noted for a ninety-piece orchestra—fifty instruments and forty human voice serving as instruments. The choir does not sing.

Cesare Sodiero, maestro of the National Grand Opera Company, heads the production staff. The interlocutor will be Pedro de Cordoba, noted American actor. A cast of twenty dramatists completes this repertory company.

To-day's programme will be a salute to the iron and steel industry. Action comes in two brief dramatic sketches. One depicts the grandeur of medieval days, when knights fought valiantly—sword against sword. This hurries to a close and the scene changes to modern times, finding a young couple in a steel building, terrorized by an earthquake.

In all, the "Salute" programme will be the most elaborate and costly of all sustaning features on radio.

War Heroes Arrive On World Tour

Lieut.-Governor Bruce Welcomes Noted Belgian Veterans

Lieutenant-Governor Bruce yesterday afternoon gave a welcome at Government House to the two noted Belgian war heroes, Capt. G. Dufay and Lieut. F. Van Audenhove, who have arrived here on a world tour, on which they started from Brussels, Belgium, on June 12.

The two veterans are traveling in uniform and wear on their breasts a big display of all the medals they won for heroism in the war.

They are making the world tour with a 1920 Studebaker car which they picked up for a few dollars in Montreal. In it they have come through to the coast, visiting the chief cities of Canada and Chicago, Spokane and Seattle. From Victoria they will go on Thursday afternoon to Seattle to visit Governor Hartley at Olympia. From there they will go on south through Oregon and California and Mexico, Panama and South America. From there they will hop to Australia and from Capetown go right up through the middle of Africa to Egypt, then home across the Mediterranean.

TRAIL OF GOODWILL

"May you leave a trail of international goodwill on your great journey round the world; a journey which is in itself proof that the young men of to-day are still imbued with courage and endurance," Lieutenant-Governor Bruce wrote in the big twenty-six-pound signature book they carry.

This book was purchased by Belgian soldiers in Montreal at a cost of $200. It has room for 2,400 signatures of prominent persons which they expect to gather during their trip, which will take them more than two and one-half years.

Besides the signatures of the governers of all the provinces of Canada, they have gathered the signatures and seals of Chief Justice W. H. Taft of the United States Supreme Court, the Mayor of Chicago, Mayor of Spokane, E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the C.P.R., Sir Herbert Holt, president of the Royal Bank of Canada; Premier Mackenzie King of Canada, and Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General; President C. B. Gordon of the Bank of Montreal. Signatures of kings, presidents and other potentates will be gathered in South America, Africa and Europe.

When it is all over and the signature book is full, it will be deposited by the Belgian soldiers of Montreal at the Memorial Museum at Ottawa, the veterans said.

"Like true veterans we find ourselves provided for as we go along," Lieut. van Audehhove said. "The Canadian people have been so kind to us. We like this country very much. There are 30,000 Belgians in Canada, and many of them have gathered to greet us on our great adventure.

WILL WRITE A BOOK

"We keep diaries into which go each day's incidents of our trip and the facts about people we meet and places we visit. We are studying every place and everybody. Then we will write a book on our tour and start out giving lectures."

To-day the veterans are out to get the signature of Mayor Anscomb and the seal of the corporation of the city of Victoria.

Their old, travel-scarred car, with the names of various cities written on it, has been attracting much attention on the streets of Victoria. The car already has traveled 175,000 miles in its nine years of life.

Capt. Dufay won great fame, and was made a Chevalier de l'Ordre de Leopole during the war when, as an adjutant and followed by six men, he openly charged a German machine gun nest and captured eleven Germans. Lieut. Audenhove was one of Belgium's aces in the air service and won many decorations.

Gold Embargo Not Official

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Correction of published reports in London, England, and Montreal, that Canada had departed from the gold standard and that the "government has maintained an embargo on gold exports," was given last night by Watson Sellar, secretary to Hon. J. A. Robb, Federal Minister of Finance. Mr. Sellar discussed the situation in view of the temporary inability of Mr. Robb, now lying ill here.

"Reports must be mistaken when they say Mr. Robb was forced to exert more than ordinary pressure on the Canadian banking institutions to get them to stop shipping gold out of Canada, particularly to New York," said Mr. Sellar. "It is not correct that the Finance Minister was assuming unusual power for the purpose'.

"I believe that some months ago banking heads decided, after verbal discussion with the Finance Department, that it was in the best interests of the country that the gold surplus over and above the required reserves should be conserved in Canada."

RE ROSS BAY CEMETERY

To the Editor:—Will you be good enough to permit me through the medium of your columns to direct the attention of the responsible authorities to the unsatisfactory condition of the paths in the above cemetery?

I think you will agree with me that for many years to come this burial place will hold a sacred place in the thoughts and affections of many of our citizens, and for reasons so obvious as to preclude any necessity for further elaboration.

I would respectfully suggest that the sharp stones and pebbles be removed and the paths rolled and oiled. If this were done I believe I am warranted in stating that the aldermanic committee responsible for such work would, by this simple attention, earn a wealth of gratitude and appreciation from a large number of men and women whose visits to the resting place of the mortal remains of their dear ones is, under existing conditions, fraught with much unnecessary personal discomfort, and in some cases, actual suffering.

ARE WE?

To the Editor:—May I congratulate your contributor, Loose Ends on his column. It is the snappiest column I have read for a long time and should be syndicated.

Now something is puzzling me. I have not only noticed it once, but many times and it is this. Are men growing more like women, adopting their habits and mannerisms?

What I mean is: as I was waiting one day in an office a man came to the counter. As the staff was busy he had to wait for a minute, and he fidgeted a little. He was a great big he-man, over six feet, broad-shouldered, reddish hair and long-pointed moustache.

My mouth fell open in surprise when he took out a little looking glass and comb and began his toilet right there at the counter.

Yesterday walking down Douglas Street I passed a pedestrian coming up. He was of the bruiser type—you know what I mean—heavy set, rather swollen, clouded eyes. As he neared me he fished in his pocket, produced a vanity case, gazed in it and examined a spot on his face. Of course I have seen dozen of young men produce their pocket combs and sleek their hair in public, but when it comes to the other class, outer doors men and the sporting type, I am wondering if the whole sex are "sisters under the skin.' Let Loose Ends advise me.

CAMPAIGN FOR THE BLIND

To the Editor:—A meeting was held at Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion to-night, at which Mr. F. Landsberg and Capt. M. C. Robinson explained the aims and objects of the drive now being made by the Canadian National Institute of the Blind.

The unfortunate coincidence of dates was fully discussed, and, in the opinion of each organization, it was impossible for either to abandon its effort. Both regretted the situation and sought for harmony and understanding.

As veterans, who know something about the sufferings which men and women have to endure, our hearts go out in sympathy to those that are compelled to walk in darkness. We realize the hopelessness of their future unless more fortunate citizens come to their aid and bring light into their lives.

The light of vision is for ever denied them, but the light of happiness which comes with independence and usefulness can be provided. As we served you overseas, loyally, unselfishly and without reserve, so we ask you to serve the men and women who are afflicted with blindness.

During the years of war service veterans learned to "serve," not to ask the reason why, but to carry out their duty to the bitter end; and when that duty meant succoring the helpless, their whole heart and soul was in the work. An opportunity to help a most worthy cause has presented itself, and we appeal, with all our heart for a generous response to the cry of the blind, so that they may reach their objective and secure that measure of happiness which money can provide.

FARM PRODUCTION

To the Editor:—Your editorial in yesterday's paper, "Unpleasant Facts," brings up an interesting question, and as a producer of a stable commodity I should like to make a few remarks.

That Vancouver Island, with its wonderful climate, cannot produce sufficient butter for its own needs is not so remarkable, as this wonderful climate is too dry for dairy farming except in special favored locations, making cost of production too high to make it a profitable undertaking. The farmer, as a rule, is not going to take up an unremunerative proposition, in fact, he cannot afford to do so year in and year out.

Another item, the import of three and a half million one-pound cans of fruits also needs some explanation, but your deduction: "More production obviously is the key to greater population and greater prosperity," is not exactly the solution. The growing of fruit for canning must be done on large tracts of land, uniform standards of product, abundant capital for canning plants on a large scale, a strong co-operative spirit amongst growers and cheap labor.

If all these factors are not present you cannot get cost of production low enough to meet competition in the open market.

Let me point out—the result of these conditions alone would mean greater production, which would bring greater population and perhaps greater prosperity.

More production alone does not necessarily bring greater population and may even, through low prices, drive the producer into some other line of business.

It is up to the producer in British Columbia to make a study of efficiency methods, co-operatively and otherwise. The Ford Company could not lower their prices on cars were it not for mass production and greater efficiency in both producing and selling.

The farmer, as a body, too, must get an idea of what mass production of a standard article means in order to bring cost of production down to a minimum and thereby successfully meet all competition.

RADIO BROADCASTING

To the Editor:—As it appears from reports received that some have misconstrued the import of the published account of the meeting of the Victoria Radio Club held on Friday of last week, I shall be glad if you will allow me a word in explanation.

Recognising that radio broadcasting offers a most effective medium for publicity, many among the membership of the club are strongly of the opinion that it could be utilized locally to a much greater extent than has been the case in the past. At the same time they realize that, to compete successfully with other centres, the transmission plant and equipment of the present radio station would have to be extended and the latest improvements in broadcasting apparatus added. This would, of course, necessitate the erection of the transmission plant on a suitable site considerably beyond the city's boundary, and also the appointment of additional technical help. Other expenses incidental to the suggested changes and improvements would be incurred. Operating expenses would, of course, be materially increased.

Realizing that the management of the local radio station would not be justified in making the suggested changes and improvements without guarantee of proportionately increased returns or indemnity, and also that the cost would be considerable, members feel that the time has arrived for the club to offer its hearty co-operation and assistance, not only towards increasing the usefulness of the station but also in helping bring its plant and equipment up to the highest standard.

Many suggestions were advanced at the meeting, but the resolution bearing upon the question did not specify any one in particular. It was, in effect, simply that a committee be appointed to take the whole question into consideration and if possible, devise a plan whereby the club could co-operate most effectively in furthering the same. The idea of increased civic grant was not the subject of a resolution; it was merely one among many suggestions offered.

The membership is fully conscious and appreciative of the excellent work that has been and is being accomplished in the face of almost overwhelming difficulties by the proprietors of the local broadcasting station, and it is felt that their interests, as well as those of the city at large, merit a larger measure of co-operation and assistance by the club.

For the benefit of those who feel that it would be futile to proceed with extensions and improvement in view of the proposed nationalization of Canadian Radio, it may be said that, even assuming that the Dominion Government decides to act upon the Radio Commission's report, many months must elapse before nationalization is consummated. In any case, adequate indemnity would necessarily accompany acquisition of broadcasting stations and equipment by the Dominion.

HIGHWAY TO YUKON AS NEW MONEY SOURCE

Premier Tolmie Says Proposed Road Would Bring Many Tourists

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—Premier Tolmie's plans with respect to his proposed British Columbia-Yukon-Alaska highway were laid before the Canadian Club of Vancouver at its annual dinner in the Hotel Vancouver last evening. A survey of the country would be made next year by practical men to ascertain the best route, the character of the country, the natural resources, the tourist attractions and the cost, he stated.

The present road system of the Province now extended forty miles north of Hazelton, he stated. By going inland, away from the mountains and the snow, there was a water grade almost all the way to Atlin Lake. Dr. Camsell had said that route would pass through the most richly mineralized portion of the coast.

At present the country could not be developed except through a United States port, unless the proposed road were built, he said. Similarly, the Yukon, which had never had a Canadian port, would gain a Canadian outlet.

MANY TOURISTS

"I can think of nothing that would bring so much money into British Columbia as a road that would allow the 30,000,000 automobiles in the United States to get to Alaska," he said. "The tourists have seen the rest of the continent. This would be something new."

The United States was keenly interested. He had had wires and letters from New York and Washington. The United States Government had had maps and literature prepared.

"How do I propose to finance it?" he said he had been asked.

"On that I have some ideas in the back of my head, but for the present I am open to receive good advice and I am not spilling anything just now."

PEACE RAILWAY

Speaking of the Peace River railway connection, the Premier referred to the rivalry between various coast ports for establishment as the coast terminus. He said that if the road were built to Vancouver it could not do without crossing the line to Prince Rupert.

He said his Government was fully alive to the necessity of an outlet or outlets for the Peace district.

ARBITRATION KYOTO TOPIC OF MR. ROWELL

Canadian Delegate Tells Pacific Institute of Dominion-U.S. Success

Kyoto, Japan, Nov 6.—The undefended frontier between Canada and the United States was held up before the Institute of Pacific Relations at its conference here as an example of the manner in which China and Japan might settle their Manchurian differences without resort to arms, by Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., chairman of the Canadian delegation to the conference.

Mr. Rowell made a statement concerning international events affecting Canada. He had just returned from an extensive tour of the principal centres of China and Manchuria, where he had the opportunity of meeting the leaders of the Nationalist Government and of observing the general conditions there, and in the course of his remarks on disarmament, he said:

"We have an unguarded frontier between Canada and the United States of 4,000 miles—unguarded save for the goodwill of the two peoples and their firm determination to settle by peaceable means all disputes which may arise between them. . . . We are confident the complete absence of opposing naval and military forces along this 4,000-mile border has greatly assisted in avoiding those boundary incidents which might have made the peaceable settlement of these disputes vastly more difficult, if not impossible.

"Our experience in the settlement of boundary disputes might certainly suggest to our Chinese and Japanese friends that even the Manchurian question can be settled without resort to arms."

RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA

Dealing with Russia, Mr. Rowell said:

"Russia is one of our near neighbors on the Pacific and we desire the most peaceful and satisfactory relations should exist between His Majesty's Government and the Government of Russia. Needless to say, we do not approve of either the political or economic theories for which the present Government of Russia stands. At the same time we recognize Russia has the same right as every other nation to try the political and economic theories she considers best suited to her condition, but she should not seek to impose those theories upon other nations."

Mr. Rowell in his review also dealt with Canada's part in the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, the Permanent Court of International Justice, the League of Nations, the International Labor conference and intra-Empire relations.

DEMOCRATS GAIN IN U.S. ELECTIONS

Virginia Returns Democratic Governor; New York Re-elects Mayor Walker

New York, Nov. 6.—Virginia returned to the Democratic fold in yesterday's gubernatorial election by a majority more than twice the size of that which carried it into the Republican column in the presidential election a year ago.

New York City re-elected its Democratic mayor, James J. Walker, on the crest of a tidal wave which swept before it the three other candidates, Fiorello H. La Guardia, Republican; Norman Thomas, Socialist, and Richard E. Enright, Square Deal Party nominee.

Besides these two victories, the Democrats repulsed a Republican drive to capture the Kentucky Legislature and saw their candidate in the single congressional contest—the Twenty-First New York (Manhattan) district—forge to the front in late returns after for hours trailing the Republican, Hubert T. Delaney, a negro.

Almost complete returns from the Chicago municipal election indicated a decisive victory for the entire Democrati Coalition ticket consisting of ten Republicans and twelve Democrats for superior and circuit court judges.

MAYOR RE-ELECTED

Although the Democrats held the Kentucky Legislature, the Republicans re-elected the mayor of Louisville, William B. Harrison, by an unprecedented majority.

The Democrats were victorious in the mayoralty contest in Indianapolis, electing Reginald Sullivan, and another Democrat, James M. Curley, was elected mayor of Boston in a race with two other Democrats running on other and non-party tickets.

In the bitterly contested election in Detroit, Charles Bowles defeated John W. Smith for mayor in a contest conducted on non-party lines.

Charles Kline was re-elected mayor of Pittsburgh in a Republican sweep of that and Allegheny County.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE

Continued Republican control of the New Jersey Legislature was indicated. The Democrats gained three votes in the New York State Assembly.

A majority in excess of 60,000 was the answer of the Virginia Democratic organization to the challenge for state control of the anti-Smith Democrats under the leadership of Bishop James Cannon Jr of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and others. The Republicans formed a coalition.

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, interpreted the result in Virginia as indicative of a turn of the Democrats in this first election since the Republican landslide of 1928.

Mayor Walker's plurality of 497,165 and the record vote of more than 166,000 for Norman Thomas, Socialist, furnished the high spots in New York City's mayoralty contest. The previous high vote for a Socialist candidate for the office was 145,332.

EVE URGES AIRPORT BE SECURED

Says New Route From Havana to Alaska Should Include Victoria

Hopes City Will Take Over Landing Field to Keep Victoria on Air Map

Expressing his desire to see the young men of Victoria become "air-minded," Cecil Eve, president of the B.C. Airways, last night gave an instructive address on flying and its possibilities in this city before the Y Men's Club at its supper meeting.

During the address he stated that plans were being made in the United States for a Havana-Alaska aeroplane service. When this was completed, he continued, aeroplanes would fly over Victoria en route to Alaska. Hence he considered the need of a flying field here even greater now than ever before.

Victoria was only on the air map at present through the endeavors of himself and his brother to maintain the Lansdowne Road landing-field. Of course, he said, Victoria was known as a seaplane base, but was only registered for land aeroplanes through the Landsdowne field.

Should his brother and himself cease to pay rental for this, Victoria would no longer be charted as a land plane base.

HOPES FOR CITY'S SUPPORT

He expressed the hope that the city would take over the field and do improvement work on it.

While dealing with the type of machine most suitable for Victoria, the speaker stated that the amphibian was the most desirable. However, when the B.C. Airway's tri-motor Ford was bought, these amphibians were virtually unobtainable.

The company's decision to buy a land plane had been influenced by the idea that such a machine, with three engines, was safer than a seaplane or flying boat with one or two.

FEW FAULTY MACHINES

It was very seldom that an aeroplane accident was due to structural faults, Mr. Eve stated, when speaking on the making of aeroplanes. Generally, he said, the pilots lack of concentration or unsuitable conditions in the air were responsible for crashes. While on the subject he stated that European machines were as a rule better than those made in the United States, since the workmanship in the older countries was finer than that of this continent.

Incidents of his own career in the air added a touch of interest to the talk, which was illustrated with numerous photographs of machines and aerial views.

ORIENTALS AND LAND DEBATED BY B.C. FARMERS

Vernon, B.C., Nov. 6.—Delegates from Farmers' Institutes throughout the entire Okanagan Valley attended the annual convention of District G Institutes in the courthouse here yesterday. Following a lengthy meeting they drafted resolutions which they will submit to the Advisory Board of the Provincial Institute, with a request they be passed on to the agricultural committee of the Legislature.

ORIENTALS AND LAND

A resolution declaring the meeting heartily in favor of any feasible method of justifiably restricting the ownership of land in this Province by Orientals was passed after considerable comment.

It was sponsored by J. Seaver of Winfield, who declared the Orientals overworked land which they leased and lowered its value. He urged the farmers to co-operate with business men in order to secure satisfactory legislation.

Hon. J. W. Jones, Speaker of the Legislature, asked the delegates to define what they meant by a feasible method of restriction. He said he was heartily in favor of the idea, but thought the question was too big to expect any settlement on it.

GASOLINE PRICE

The convention endorsed resolutions calling for the restoration of the $7.50 bounty on coyotes; requesting that, before any addition is made to the gasoline tax, the Government take steps to ascertain why the price of gasoline was unduly high in the interior as compared with coast and Washington points; asking Grote Stirling, M.P., to take up with the authorities at Ottawa the alleged pollution of the waters of Okanagan Lake by steamers; and urging that the Indian Act be amended so that every Indian will be made liable for any damages he may cause in auto accidents.

COL. HIAM DUE HERE TO-MORROW

With Mr. Creelman here to-day are G. A. McNicholl, general passenger agent; R. Beaumont, assistant passenger manager, coast steamships, and J. M. Macrae, general freight agent, all of Vancouver.

Col. Hiam arrived in Vancouver last Saturday to take over the new executive office with jurisdiction over British Columbia.

COAST PROBLEMS

It will be his duty to keep closely in touch with the problems and progress of British Columbia, which, in effect, will widen the direct influence of the system's head office at Montreal to include the Pacific coast.

Col. Hiam has spent much of his time in Europe in recent years, having been technical adviser to the transportation section of the League of Nations at Geneva.

He is no stranger to British Columbia. He started his railway career with the former Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, transferring later to the Canadian Northern Railway as assistant to Sir Donald Mann.

He first came out to the coast in 1908 and has been in close touch with British Columbia railway matters since the inception of the idea of building the Canadian National Railways system through the Fraser River valley to Port Mann.

BAN ON TEXT BOOKS CAUSE OF TROUBLES

banned, which had cost the board approximately $5,500.

The ruling of the department against foreign readers arose, Miss A. B. Jamieson claimed, from a mistaken idea that children could best be educated entirely from Canadian books. In the best British schools there was no discrimination as to origin in the choice of textbooks, she declared.

Trustee James Blackwood spoke along the same lines and brought down on his head the wrath of Trustee C. M. Woodworth.

CANADIAN LITERATURE

"I am shocked at the attitude of two members of the board, especially Trustee Blackwood," he said, "in urging us to defy the Department of Education. We are trying to build up a nation and are crowding in so many foreign books there will be no opportunity for developing.

"I would suggest that Mr. Gordon write the department, giving the value of the books now on hand, and ask if the ruling is to apply to Vancouver, which has had more or less autonomy in matters of education," suggested Trustee Tom Brooks.

W. J. Baird, chairman of the management committee, added that the board should ask if the change might be made gradually.

"I hope you are not going to revolt against the department," said Mr. Woodworth.

Mr. Brooks's suggestion was adopted by the committee for recommendation to the board. Miss Jamieson pointing out further that the department could hardly have an idea of how cramping the order would be if put into practice.

Proper use of prophylaxis here would mean that at least one floor of the infectious ward could be closed, the commissioners stated.

"It means the elimination of the deathrate from diphtheria," declared Dr. M. T. McEachern, former superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital and now directing the hospital standardization movement in the United States.

ALL OFFICERS

Dr. William H. Walsh, hospital consultant of Chicago, maintained it was up to the medical profession to tell the public the value of the treatment. Every doctor should be a medical health officer in his own circle.

"Of course, there are always people of belligerent ideas and if they will not conform, the law should step in for the protection of the majority," Dr. Walsh stated. "The whole theory of organized society is that one must conform to regulations designed for the good of the community."

ACTION TAKEN

Dr. F. T. Underhill, city medical officer, showed the commission, Dr. Walsh reported, that he had done everything in his power to remedy the situation, which had been causing him much concern.

These facts came out when a member of the commission said he would like to meet a conscientious objector to vaccination, remarking he had heard "there were such persons in this part of the country."

WILL DISCUSS LONGER HIGH SCHOOL TERM

Subject Brought Up at Oaklands Parent-teacher Association; Officers Elected

The ninth annual meeting of the Oaklands Parent-teacher Association was held on Monday evening in the school auditorium. Letters were read from three other parent-teacher associations stating their views on the four-year high school course. These were laid over until the next monthly meeting when it is hoped to have another discussion.

In answer to an appeal from the Armistice Period Committee, the meeting voted to purchase a poppy wreath to be placed on the Cenotaph in memory of those who went overseas from the Oaklands district.

The president, W. H. Robbins, in his review of the year's work referred to the loss to the organization of W. D. Knott, former vice - principal of the school, who has left the school. Mr. Robbins expressed gratification at the completion of the park adjoining the school grounds and the repairing of the grounds. The attendance at all meetings this year had been very good, he said, and he wished to thank the members and especially the executive committee, who had worked together in perfect harmony throughout the year.

CO-OPERATION

The secretary - treasurer, George Hughes, in his report spoke of the co-operation of parents, teachers and pupils which had resulted in a successful year. Kitchen utensils had been purchased and a donation given to the school sports fund, while the bank balance showed an increase over last year. Mr. Hughes thanked the ladies of the committee, Mesdames Wharton, Brooks, Young and Jones for lending their homes for executive meetings and for serving of refreshments at card parties and regular meetings.

On the motion of Mrs. Brooks, a hearty vote of thanks was given to The Times and The Colonist for giving publicity to the activities of the association during the year.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, W. H. Robbins; first vice-president, R. McInnes; second vice-president, Mrs. Cave; secretary-treasurer, George Hughes; executive committee, Mesdames Young, Warburton, Smart, Pimm, Glover and Mr. McNair.

An enjoyable musical programme was given, consisting of violin solo by Master John Pimm, an accordion solo by Mr. Pimm and vocal trio by S. Honeychurch, R. P. Knott and W. I. Land.

Popular Pair Wed Saturday At St. John's

An interesting wedding took place Saturday, November 2, at St. John's Church, when Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick united in marriage Margaret Waddell, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. McIntyre, 935 North Park Street, and David Wyber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyber, Clydebank, Glasgow, Scotland. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of peach satin, with skirt of frills and uneven hemline with picture hat to match. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses and carnations. Miss Mary Minnis as bridesmaid was attired in a mauve georgette gown with long bodice of silk radium lace and mauve picture hat. She carried a bouquet of two shades of pink carnations. Mr. George Preston supported the groom. The ushers were Mr. D. McIntyre and M. W. Coates. During the signing of the register Mr. Mark King sang "At Dawning."

The reception was held at 1230 Government Street where the happy couple received the congratulations of their friends under an arch of chrysanthemums and a white bell. A buffet supper was served, the table being centred with a three-tier wedding cake, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. G. Kelman.

Among the many beautiful gifts received was a mantel clock from the stewards of the Ss. Princess Charlotte; a cutlery set from the employees of the New Method Laundry, and a silver cake plate from the W.B.A. Review No. 1. The happy couple left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, the bride traveling in a navy broadcloth coat and hat of gold metallic embroidery. On their return they will reside in Victoria.

Other leading New York bank stocks dropped $10 to $120 a share. Guaranty Trust dropped $120, Corn Exchange $115, Equitable Trust $110, National City $90, New York Trust and Central Hanover $45 each, Chase $36 and Bankers' Trust and Bank of Manhattan (new) and Manufacturers' Trust $15 to $30.

AT MONTREAL

Montreal, Nov. 6.—Wide reductions in securities values resulted from today's short session of the Montreal Stock Exchange. The heavily-traded issues, all giving way before a wave of selling orders and margin accounts, were further declared up following the swift descent of the market during the past month.

Brasilian and International Nickel both lost heavily, the former dropping 7⅛ at 42 and the latter 6¾ at 32. Montreal Power lost 15 to 125. Losses of from five to ten points were suffered by National Breweries at 124; National Steel Car at 42; Power Corporation at 83; Shawinigan at 79; Sherwin-Williams at 40, and Hamilton Bridge at 30.

Consolidated Smelters were the greatest loser, being off 25 points to 260. Dominion Bridge dropped 11½ points to 69, and Dominion Glass at 140.

Toronto, Nov. 6. — Prices broke sharply in to-day's abbreviated session of the Toronto Stock Exchange and the close witnessed a long list of losses. Selling was not as violent as last week's, but leading issues fell off from fractions up to nine points.

International Nickel and Walker's were active. Nickel lost five points at 33 and Walker's eased 1½ at 104½. Brazilian closed at 42, down 5½ points.

Before any action was taken, Mr. King stated, the province concerned would have to be consulted, as it was a matter of provincial interest as well as Federal.

Rid teeth of dangerous, glue-like FILM

Germs are imprisoned in a dingy, glue-like coating on the teeth called film. There they breed by millions in contact with the teeth and tissues in every crevice.

Film clings so stubbornly ordinary ways are not successful in removing it. Use the special formula called Pepsodent. You instantly notice the difference in the way it feels. Film vanishes. Teeth become gleaming white. Yet Pepsodent acts gently. No pumice, harmful grit or crude abrasive—but a soft, creamy paste that is prescribed for the softest teeth and tenderest gums.

AN EFFECTIVE BODY

TO-DAY'S MEETING OF THE INTERnational Joint Commission at Bonner's Ferry, Idaho, south of Nelson, B.C., is a reminder of the important work this body has accomplished without the least friction since it came into existence more than twenty years ago. This session has been called to hear an application on behalf of land holders on the American side of the line with respect to an application which is being made by the West Kootenay Power Company to erect a dam to regulate the flow of water from the west arm of Kootenay Lake, so as to facilitate the development of power. The provincial water comptroller granted the power company's application, subject to the approval of the International Joint Commission.

This body is composed of an equal number of Canadians and Americans, each with their own chairman. Representing Canada is Mr. C. A. Magrath, the chairman of the Canadian section, who also is chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission; Sir William H. Hearst, former Premier of Ontario; and Mr. George W. Kyte, K.C. The American section of the commission is headed by Chairman John H. Bartlett, former Governor of New Hampshire, and former first assistant Postmaster-General, appointed to the commission by President Hoover to succeed former United States Senator Clarence D. Clark, late chairman. His colleagues are former Senator Fred T. Dubois and former Senator P. J. McCumber, both members of long standing. Secretary W. H. Smith accompanies them.

This International Joint Commission has been referred to by a number of public men of world-wide prominence as a model body for the settlement of such disputes as may arise between countries adjoining one another. In the case of Canada and the United States, of course, there is a considerable amount of work for it to do, especially in connection with the use and diversion of water. Not all such questions lend themselves to rapid settlement. It often is necessary to continue discussions and hear much evidence before agreement is finally reached. But the outstanding feature of the commission's accomplishments has been the smoothness with which its business has been dispatched.

Originally this body, it should be noted, confined its activities to matters affecting boundary waters; but it was so successful, the results achieved were so satisfactory, that it has gradually taken the form of a tribunal to which all questions capable of settlement by a body composed of representatives of the two countries might be submitted. Its composition, of course, insures ample protection for the interests of both Canada and the United States. Nothing is done unless complete agreement prevails.

POPPIES FOR REMEMBRANCE

IT IS NOT NECESSARY AT THIS STAGE to explain what is meant by Poppy Day. Its significance is impressed upon the minds of all. But we wish to remind the generous citizens of Victoria that they now have an opportunity to mark in tangible fashion their gratitude for the sacrifices which so many Canadians made on the battlefield. Many of these men are disabled, wholly unfitted now to take their place in the competitive labor market, but able to engage in light employment such as is furnished at the Red Cross workshops. Here are being made the poppies, the token of remembrance, in single and wreath form, and a campaign now is in progress to build up a fund by the sale of these poppies, and through the generosity of the citizens, which may be utilized to take comfort to these disabled men and such other former members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force as may from time to time require a helping hand. Those in charge of the campaign ask for a generous response. It should be assured.

THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF ROSTHERN

WE ARE TOLD IN A DISPATCH THIS morning that the boys and girls of Rosthern know all the verses of "O Canada" and sang them for Mr. Mackenzie King when they greeted him at the town hall yesterday afternoon.

Hats off to the boys and girls of Rosthern! If we had been merely told that they had welcomed the Prime Minister with our national anthem, we should have thought nothing of it. But it was an event. It impressed Mr. King so much that he commented on the fact that he had heard "O Canada" sung from the Atlantic to the Pacific, yet he was unable to recall any other audience which knew all the words. We believe him. We would be surprised if more than a dozen of our public men have heard this inspiring anthem sung as the boys and girls of Rosthern sang it yesterday afternoon.

One of these days perhaps we shall agree on a standard version which will not offend anybody's susceptibilities. Then we may be able to do ourselves justice right to the last line of the last verse. Meanwhile the boys and girls of Rosthern—some with continental European origin—have put many Canadians to shame. Mr. King no doubt is really proud to represent a constituency in which Canadianism has such a sound foundation.

TIME WILL TELL

ABOUT GREAT BRITAIN'S DECISION to resume full political relations with the Soviet Government of Russia, the proof of the pudding will be in the eating. Under ordinary circumstances it would be reasonable to assume Britain could not afford to ignore indefinitely either the political or economic existence of a nation of 150,000,000 people. But the circumstances in the case of Russia are not ordinary. Her rulers have combined a campaign to induce Great Britain to give her a better diplomatic standing among the powers, by consenting to the exchange of ambassadors, with another campaign of trouble-making in various parts of the British Empire.

The gentry at Moscow do not inspire confidence. They have been found guilty of double-dealing on a number of occasions. They have tried to make the world believe the sinister agency known as the Third Internationale is nothing to do with the Soviet Government itself, that the Soviet Government should not be held responsible for its world-revolution propaganda. This is so much moonshine. The Soviet Government, the Communist Party, and the Third Internationale, as far as Russia's relations with the rest of the world are concerned, are one and the same. Such fine distinctions as may be drawn between them for internal purposes do not interest outside nations.

It is not clear that Foreign Secretary Henderson has anything in the nature of a guarantee that Soviet organizations will cease their propaganda against the British Empire. There was to be an understanding about this and other matters before the exchange of ambassadors. As far as Great Britain is concerned, her economic situation requires her to get all the trade she can without regard to the character of her customers. Russian business means more to her than it does to the other Dominions or the United States. She does not like the Bolsheviki, but, in her own economic interests, she cannot ignore them.

MORE TAXATION?

AT THE CONFERENCE BETWEEN THE Minister of Education and representatives of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities it was proposed that the Government increase the income tax to help to pay for the cost of education. There is good ground for the belief that such a step is contemplated.

We would like to know what impression this proposal has made upon the city members of the Legislature. On the eve of the general election last year they promised that if Dr. Tolmie were permitted to form a government, the income tax would be reduced by fifty per cent at least, while the succession duties would be abolished altogether.

Taxation, of course, has not been reduced at all. Nor does there appear to be any prospect of reduction. Pre-election promises were lightly made and just as lightly ignored. It will be interesting, incidentally, to observe the attitude of the city members towards this suggested new tax. Instead of imposing fresh taxation, the Government should collect income tax from those who should, but do not, pay it.

THE RIGHT COURSE

BY CO-OPERATING WITH THE PROvincial authorities, the Dominion Government has taken the right course to prevent the admission into British Columbia of fanatical Doukhobors from the other side of the international border.

It has been arranged that all members of the sect shall be closely questioned at the border and entry be denied if there should be the slightest suspicion that they either belong to or are sympathetic with that faction which is known as the Sons of Freedom. This course has been determined because it is generally believed that much of the recent trouble in the neighborhood of Nelson was the outcome of the influence of radicals who had drifted into the Interior from neighboring states. Eight of such newcomers now are cooling their heels in Oskalla jail.

In taking these steps, moreover, the Dominion and provincial Governments are being no more than fair to that larger element of the Doukhobor community which is law-abiding and industrious. Its members naturally feel that they are "tarred with the same brush" every time the malcontents stage one of their weird "demonstrations."

Russia is said to be turning to hygiene, and "letters, in addition to the usual stamp of Lenin, now carry the Government slogan, 'Think before you kiss. Every kiss costs 40,000 bacteria.'" Some people would say it was cheap at the price, but then we do not know the young ladies of Moscow.

CURBING RECKLESS DRIVING

The Hamilton Spectator

The biggest task before the legislators to-day is the curbing of reckless driving and the punishment meted out to these two motorists should have a salutary effect. The difficulty of securing convictions, we think, lies in the fact that the majority of men called for jury service are motorists themselves, who know how easy it is to have an accident. In motoring cases, more than any other, there is a decided tendency to give the prisoner at the bar the benefit of any doubt that exists, so the conviction of these particular drivers must be interpreted as meaning that the evidence of their guilt was conclusive. The automobile has become such an integral part of our community fabric that it is now indispensable. Properly employed it is a medium of great service, but in the hands of the reckless it is a menacing juggernaut that has taken depressing toll on our streets and highways. Those who will persist in ignoring the rules of the road, who speed willy-nilly through traffic, inviting accidents to happen, must be discouraged. If prison sentences will do it, then let us have an epidemic of them.

Loose Ends

Science develops a system to entertain the ladies on the left and right—There is grave trouble in London Town over the rights of waiters—medicine achieves a new triumph but not for the patient—and young Mrs. Coolidge tells what she doesn't know.

By H. B. W.

EVEN SCIENCE is not free from the present rage for labor-saving devices. A new text-book has been issued in Washington, D.C., to give busy people a deep knowledge of scientific topics at a glance, and the publishers issue the guarantee that, by an hour's reading before dinner, a man can master informing small-talk and avoid the fate of the husband in the advertisement, who is tormented by his wife on the way home for not having opened his mouth all evening.

IN THIS remarkable publication are to be found innumerable snatches of information with which you may dazzle the ladies on your right and left when dinner conversation lags. Thus you may fascinate the lady on the right by assuring her, in the words of the book, that the duck-billed platypus and the spiny ant-eater are the only mammals that lay eggs. If that doesn't register a hit, you may assure her that whales depend most upon hearing to protect them from their enemies, and that the average person spends one-fortieth of his life in bed on account of illness.

THAT SHOULD hold the lady on the right for a while, and then, recalling further gems from the book, you may turn to the one on the left and quote: "The cony is the only farmer of the animal world, staking his hay-stacks of plant food so that it may dry out and then be used in his burrow for the winter." And then again, "one misplaced golf ball, landing in the intake line supplying a fish hatchery with water, costs the lives of 74,000 fish. (But fortunately it has never happened and probably never will.) Still, on the other hand, geysers are found in all quarters of the globe at elevations from sea level to 20,000 feet." After you have thoroughly mastered the book of condensed science your dinner talk will be so scintillating that you probably won't be invited out to dinner any more. The trouble spent on acquiring your knowledge thus will be well worth while.

OF SIMILAR interest to professional diners-out is the news from London. The National Association of Outfitters, in convention there recently, was in agony of great doubt. It had decided that to avoid many cases of embarrassment waiters must somehow be distinguished by their dress from guests in public eating places, but it could not decide whether the costumes of waiters or of guests should be changed. (Apparently whatever the Outfitters' Association says settles such questions, and at this moment the continued usefulness of many a man's evening clothes is trembling in the balance.) Well, to decide this burning issue the Outfitters' Association has applied for the co-operation of the Hotel Proprietors' Association, which presumably is asked to decide whether the guests or the waiters must change their clothes.

THE SUGGESTION that waiters be put into new and gaudy uniforms is acclaimed with satisfaction by professional diners-out, but with somewhat less enthusiasm by the waiters, who would have to pay for them. The Manchester Guardian, which has entered this controversy with great earnestness, wants to have waiters all put into costly livery but at the expense of their employers, who will not regard this proposal as entirely sound. But those who have observed these things know that all the argument is entirely empty and unnecessary. These painful cases where the host is taken for a waiter and a waiter regarded as the guest of honor do not happen among observant people. They can always distinguish waiters from others at a party. They know that the more distinguished-looking men are sure to be the waiters. And the fellows who look as if they should be waiters are most likely the distinguished guests. As there are so many people with limited powers of observation, however, something must be done about this problem, for respectable waiters find it humiliating indeed to be mistaken for their employer's friends.

SCIENCE HAS just achieved another notable success which may make an important contribution to the life of every man, or more likely, to his lack of it. In brief, science has used wireless photography for the first time as an aid to medical diagnosis. The photograph was sent from one specialist in Berlin to another in Buenos Ayres, and we are told that "the consultation, carried out by wireless photography and wireless telephony, was completely successful." Indeed, it was so successful that the scientist in Buenos Ayres was able immediately to assure his colleague in Berlin that the owner of the organs photographed would die immediately. As this squared exactly with the diagnosis of the scientist in Berlin both were highly delighted with the results of their remarkable experiment.

THE ONLY party to the transaction whose satisfaction might be tinged with some slight regret was the patient. If he has a proper respect for science, if he is a gentleman, the patient will do his duty and proceed to die. But if he is not, he probably will live, all the scientists' trouble will have been in vain, and the use of wireless photography as an aid to diagnosis will be sadly discredited. I hope he does. Who wants photographs of his interior anatomy floating, uncensored, through space?

FLORENCE TURNBULL COOLIDGE, who has been married to John Coolidge, son of Ex-President Coolidge, for several weeks, has contracted to write magazine articles on the art of housekeeping. These articles will be read, though they will contain no useful information on housekeeping, because their author is the new bride of the ex-President's son. Twenty years from now, when Mrs. John Coolidge knows something about housekeeping, no one will want to read her articles, because she will no longer be a new bride, the Coolidge tradition will be hazy as the tradition of Cleveland and McKinley, and by then housekeeping probably will have only a historic interest.

APPLICATIONS ON TARIFF ARE HEARD

Ottawa, Nov. 6. — Applications for downward revision of the tariff rates on malt extract and malt syrup powder and on health bread and biscuits manufactured by the Energen Foods Company of London, Eng., and a submission from C. B. Sissons of Victoria College, Toronto, for the free admission into Canada of encyclopaedias and dictionaries, were before the Tariff Advisory Board here to-day.

Baking companies in Canada opposed the Energen Foods Company's application, but R. J. Deachman, for the Consumers' League of Canada, observed it was unfair that that medical bread should be withheld from diabetic sufferers just because the shareholders of a company which did not even make that commodity were apprehensive about their profits.

EARLY CLOSING LAW EFFECTIVE

Department and Variety Stores and Bazaars Must Close 6 p.m. Saturdays

The Department Shops Saturday Early Closing By-law will be observed in effect for the first time on Saturday, when all premises coming within the terms of the by-law must remain closed after 6 p.m. The Christmas late shopping period, which runs for a few weeks before December 24, is expressly excluded. The by-law is registered and goes into force to-day.

Drug stores, restaurants, tobacconists and new agencies are not included in the by-law, which gives the following definition of a department shop:

"The words 'Department Shop,' where used in this By-law, shall mean any building or portion of a building, booth, stall or place in which five or more distinctive lines of goods, wares or merchandise are sold or offered for sale by retail and which is commonly known as a Department Store, or any building or portion of a building, booth, stall or place in which miscellaneous articles or lines of goods, wares or merchandise are sold or offered for sale by retail and which is commonly known as a Chain Department Store, Variety Store or Bazaar, and shall mean and include every store, place and premises which is advertised or publicly held out as a retail store affiliated or identified with a chain of stores in divers cities, as, for instance, a Hudson's Bay Store or a Woolworth or a Spencer Store or a Metropolitan Store. Provided that the said expression, 'Department Shop' shall not include any drug store, restaurant, tobacconist store or news agency."

Some department stores in the city had voluntarily applied this rule before the passage of the by-law, but one or two premises under control from outside the city remained open until 9 p.m. on Saturdays. Local representatives of the latter concerns would concur in the passage of the by-law, the City Council was told when the measure was under discussion.

Kruschen Salts dulls the sharp edges of these crystals and then dissolves them away altogether. Afterwards, Kruschen flushes the system clear of every trace of these dissolved crystals. Furthermore, Kruschen prevents uric acid from ever forming again. How? Simply by assisting the body to expel every day all undigested food which produces uric acid and other body poisons which undermine the health. Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c, and 75c, per bottle, and is manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Established 1756). Just think of it! Could not rise from his back without assistance and had to be helped into his clothes! One month later he was active, free from pain and feeling 20 years younger. Read how he did it:—

"I am 69 years of age. Four years ago I had a severe attack of Rheumatism and Lumbago, which continued for six months, and for some time I was quite unable to dress myself or rise up from my back without assistance. After reading about Kruschen Salts I commenced taking a half teaspoonful of Salts in a glass of hot water first thing in the morning for about three weeks and I began to improve. Afterwards I took a small dose, enough to cover a sixpence, every morning in my first cup of tea, and in a month's time I felt quite well and have not since had an ache or pain and feel 20 years younger. I am still keeping to the small dose in the tea every morning. I am thankful to say it has answered well in my case."

More Santa Claus Letters

The Victoria Times offers a prize of $25 for the best letter of not more than 150 words telling just why you know there is a Santa Claus. For the letter which is judged second to the best there is an award of $15; the third prize is $10 and the fourth $1. For the next five letters to receive honorable mention The Times will give $1.

There is only one condition attached to the contest. You must be less than twelve years old.

All letters must be received at the office of The Times not later than midnight of Wednesday, November 20. Announcements of the winners with their letters will be made the following Monday, November 25.

Now is the time to get busy. There certainly is a Santa Claus and all the world knows that he lives right on top of the world, way up at the North Pole.

Of course, there are some little boys and girls who don't think there is a Santa, but that is just all they know about it. You can prove it to them now that you know there is one and he will come to see you at Christmas and with the money from your letter you can buy lots of presents and candy.

Address your letter to the Santa Claus Editor, The Victoria Daily Times, and be sure you mail it in plenty of time. Then watch The Times for your name among the winners.

I believe in Santa Claus because we see hi malmost every year at Granny's. He gives us presents at Christmas. He brings the presents from our aunties at christmas.

Dear Santa Clause Editor:—
How I know there is a Santa Clause is because I went to see him at the Hudson's Bay store and when he came down the chimney and he nearly burnt his legs. And because he shook hands with me and asked me what I wanted. I told him a table and two chairs. And Santa brought me my table and two chairs. After he has taken all his toys to the little girls and boys on Christmas Eve, he goes back to his igloo at the North Pole where he stays till next Christmas.

I am three-years old
Yours truly
Florence Thornett.

Dear Sir
I believe there is a Santa Claus because I see his picture in the papers and on Xmas cards and if there was not a Santa how would they get his picture? Also he left presents in my stocking I have seen him in the stores and spoken to him.

BROUGHT DAD A HUMMING TOP
November 4, 1929. 910 Yates St.

Dear Mr Editor,
I believe there is a Santa Claus because he brings my brothers and sisters and myself lots of toys at Christmas also a Christmas tree with lights on it.
Last Christmas he brought me new shoes, silk stockings and many toys for all my brothers and sisters.
Our Play room is full of toys which Santa must have brought because Daddy never has any money.
He also brought Dad a humming top because that is all he ever had when he was a boy.

Love to Santa

Of course I know there is a real Santa and so does my little brother Frankie last Christmas Santa sent us a bovely jumbo waggon and lots of nice toys in our stocking and he gave us a box of apples and oranges and a nice cake and a piece of holly on the box We have no dear Daddy to buy us presents he was sick in the hospital and one night Jesus came and took him up to Heaven because the Doctor could not make him better. We know Santa will not forget to come to us and I hope he will bring us each a jumbo scooter because we know he loves all the little boys and girls even if they are naughty some times

Santa Claus Editor,
Dear Sir,
I am writing to tell you why I know there is a Santa Claus.
I know there is a Santa Claus because I have seen him down town.
I know that (Santa Claus) he is only a spirit we cannot see and that he lives in "The Land of the Midnight Sun."
Last year, "Mrs. Roundabout," a very little old lady who lives in the desert. She visited our Grandmother on Christmas night and told us that Santa could not visit us because he had the measles.
She also told us that she had asked for roller skates and Santa Claus could not give it to her and she started to cry.
I am eleven years old and am in Grade six at Saanich.

Yours Sincerely
Winifred Woodward

Dear Editor
I know there is a Santa Claus because he comes to our house every Christmas eve and fills my stocking with nice toys and things. Last Christmas I woke very early, it was quite dark, but I could smell leather and I knew he had brought me the football I had asked him for.
I love to see his happy smiling face and wish he would come to see us oftener.

SO THAT PROVES IT
2803 Rock Bay Ave.
Victoria, B. C.,
Nov. 4, 1929.

Dear Editor,
The reason I know there is a Santa Claus is because he comes every Christmas to make poor little children happy. Last year my little brother and I went to see Santa Claus at spencer. He is a jolly old fellow with a red coat and a white beered.
It must be quite hard for Santa to pick the right toys for the children. It must be quite hard for his reindeers to pull him from house to house with his big bag of toys.
Last Christmas when it was time to come to our house, I left him some oranges. And when I got up in the morning they were gone so that proves that there is a true Santa Claus.
Aage, 11.

Yours Truly.

DEAR SANTA CLAUS EDITOR
I THINK THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS BECAUSE I GET TOYS EVERY XMAS.
HE COMES AT NIGHT AND HE CLIMBS DOWN OUR CHIMNEY.
I SAID ONE DAY IF THERE WAS A SANTA CLAUS TO MY MAMA. SHE SAID THERE WAS A SANTA CLAUS. THAT ISN'T A REAL SANTA IN THE STORES. THE REAL SANTA LIVES IN THE NORTH. HE LOOKS LIKE A NICE MAN. I'LL SAY HE DOES BECAUSE HE BRINGS ME TRAINS AND WAGONS AND ALL KINDS OF FRUIT AND STUFF. HE WEARS RED AND WHITE CLOTHES. I THINK HE HAS A RED TASSEL ON HIS RED HAT. I THINK HE LIVES IN A CASTLE WHERE ALL THE FAIRIES AND ELVES ARE TOO.
WE HAVE A NICE FIREPLACE FOR HIM TO COME DOWN.
I HOPE HE DOESNT GET DIRTY THIS YEAR.

I believe in Santa Claus because I have met him at Spencers last year. He shook hands with me. He fills my stockings with whatever I want. He brought me good presents last year. SURE ENOUGH, THERE THEY WERE 1727 Second St.

Dear Sir
Why I believe in Santa Claus is because last Christmas I went down to the parade and saw Santa arriving from the north-pole with his Reindeers. He had all his toys pilled up behind him and he had such a jolly smile and greeting for us all.
I afterwards went and saw him in Spencers and told him what I wanted for Xmas and sure enough on Xmas morning he left just what I wanted and also some surprises.
I think he is a wonderful old man to visit so many homes on Xmas Eve and leave so much good cheer behind him.

Yours Truly

Eileen Coutts.

BECAUSE DAD SAYS SO
Dear Mr Editor
You ask why we children think there is a Santa, and why he comes, well my idea, is, he comes to bring everybody he can. Good cheer, for he always bring us something, we don't always get what we would like, but what ever dear old Santa leaves us shure maks us happy and the fun waking up and looking in our stockings, and sometimes a parcel hung by the side, and wonder what is in it Dad and Mum always say they wish they were kiddies again but they have as much fun as we do, showing us how the things all works. Why I believe there is a Santa is because Dad tells us there is one, and I felt him shake my bed two years ago when he brought my Scooter.

I Remain
Yours for Santa

EMPIRE ECONOMIC CONFERENCE DATE IS PUT FORWARD

London, Nov. 6 (Canadian Press).—Final agreement with regard to the assembling of the proposed Empire Economic Conference has been delayed by the change of Government in Australia, Premier MacDonald told the House of Commons yesterday.

He also said the deliberations of the committee of experts now considering territorial and Dominion legislation and merchant laws were also a factor, and the conference would have to be delayed until the committee made its report.

The results of the conference might be of the most vital consequence not only to the Empire, but to the world. Whatever was to be done, he said, a unity of spirit and allegiance must be preserved with a development of nationality.

Famous Old Tree Cut Down to Make Road

Seattle, Nov. 6.—The 350-year-old Bagley maple, once a landmark to early pioneers and one of the biggest trees in this region, was lowered by wood choppers yesterday to clear the way for a new state highway extension between here and Renton.

The old tree, located on the Bagley claim site a few hundred yards from the lower end of Lake Washington, had attained a height of 110 feet and a phenomenal branch spread of ninety feet. The spot where it stood will be an earth cut twenty-six feet deep so that even its roots must go.

Wilson's Bachelor Cigar

A quarter of a century ago, the Bachelor Cigar introduced a new smoking pleasure . . . a genuine 100% Havana filler cigar of unusual mildness and fragrance.

Because of this exceptional quality, maintained for 25 years, the Bachelor celebrates its silver anniversary with the largest sale of any 10c cigar in Canada.

To honour the occasion, the Bachelor now appears in gala dress—each cigar individually wrapped in silvery foil, to prevent breaking, cracking or chipping in the pocket, and to preserve its freshness, richness and delightful aroma.

Irradiation of Cereals by Steenbock Process now offered for the first time

Muffets, wholewheat cereal, now have "sun" vitamin by irradiation with Ultra-Violet Rays. No increase in price!

HERE, for your pleasure and health, is something entirely new in breakfasts. Muffets is its name. Muffets is cooked whole wheat, drawn to a ribbon, rolled up and toasted to a delicious brown. In the making, Muffets are passed under ultra-violet lamps and given the healthful vitamin "D" of sunshine.

The process used is that discovered by Professor Steenbock of the University of Wisconsin and acclaimed by nutritionists everywhere as the most important food discovery of the age.

Vitamin "D", or the "sun vitamin", builds sound, hard teeth and strong bones. Children need an abundance of the sun vitamin if their bodies are to be well developed. Adults, likewise, need a constant supply of Vitamin "D". The ultra violet rays of the sun cannot penetrate through ordinary window glass. They are effectively stopped by fog or smoke, and even by the clothes you wear. During fall and winter months the supply is greatly diminished.

Now it is possible to increase your "sunshine ration" the whole year round. Irradiated Muffets, are ready to eat with cream and sugar, or with berries or fruit added . . . or just buttered. Um-m-mm! You'll find they make a wonderful meal.

Irradiation does not change the taste or appearance of Muffets in the least. This nutritious whole wheat food is simply made more nourishing and healthful now in a way that no other whole wheat food can claim to be—and at no increase in price!

Ask your grocer for irradiated Muffets. Breakfast on "sunshine" today.

Children and grown-ups both benefit from sunshine. And now the sun's precious health vitamin is in a cereal food! 591

Adding the "Dash of Sunshine"

The healthful Vitamin "D" is added to Muffets by passing this whole wheat cereal under the rays of Ultra Violet lamps. Every Muffet is thus "irradiated" and retains the effect of the irradiation indefinitely. Muffets, therefore, bring to you an important ration of the precious "sun vitamin."

The vogue for Grossmith's Oriental Perfumes came when modern woman realised that here at last were perfumes which merely "beautiful" didn't describe; perfumes so subtle, refreshing, intriguing and individual that it was easy to believe the legend of their mysterious Eastern origin.

Cathedral W.A. Hears Address On Health Topic

The open meeting of the Christ Church Cathedral Senior Branch of the W.A., was held in the Memorial Hall on Monday afternoon. There was a large attendance of members and friends to hear an address on "Health," given by Miss Wormald, who is corresponding secretary of the branch.

Mrs. Cannoch, president of the branch, was in the chair and introduced the speaker. Mrs. Quainton, honorary president, expressed a very hearty vote of thanks to Miss Wormald for her instructive address which was endorsed by the meeting. Two songs were charmingly rendered by Mrs. James Merrix, who was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Cannock.

Tea was served under the convenership of Mrs. Hinton, assisted by Mrs. Merrix. Mrs. Luxton and Mrs. Finlayson poured tea. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Miss Wormald by Mrs. Wollaston, who had also kindly donated flowers for the decoration of the tea table.

Owing to Monday being Asmistice Day, there will be no meeting of the branch until Monday, November 18.

"It Just Happens"

says Edna Wallace Hopper, "that your shoulders for convenience and custom's sake, are covered. And how fine the texture of their skin!

"Your face must be the harbor for innumerable specks of dust and soot, lashed by the wind—treated harshly day in and day out. So if you thoughtlessly attempt to cleanse it with soap and water, ugly, large pores, seamy roughness result.

"Your face is entitled to the best of care. It's even easier than the hit-or-miss method of washing, which places additional tax on an over-burdened skin.

"My French liquid cleanser, which I call Facial Youth, goes to the depths of your pores, gently, actually removes the dirt and soothingly undoes the harm of the wind and dust. It has a fresh, clean scent and is by far the best method I know of to protect and cleanse the face. Get Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth at any toilet counter." (Advt.)

QUEEN ACCEPTS HANDSOME QUILT FROM INSTITUTES

Craftswomen of England Present Exquisite Linen Bedspread

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island will find particular interest in the presentation to Queen Mary in London recently, of an exquisite bedspread, the handiwork of craftswomen in institutes all over England. The formal presentation of the gift was made during Her Majesty's visit to the exhibition of Home Crafts at the Imperial Institute, South Kensington.

PROUD OF UNITY

Lady Denman, president of the Federation of Women's Institutes of Great Britain, in making the presentation of the bedspread to the Queen, said:

"This bed cover is a gift to Your Majesty from all women's institutes in England and Wales. It is the work of members from every county. We pride ourselves on unity and in nothing are we more united than in our appreciation of Your Majesty's never-failing help and encouragement, given for the good of village life."

The Queen graciously expressed her pleasure in accepting the gift and marveled at the skill of the women who made it. The quilt is made of linen, worked all over in a pattern of gold and lined with silk. It was made in small squares by cottage craftswomen from every county in England and Wales and took over a year to complete.

Her Majesty, during her tour of the exhibition, stopped at a furcraft stall exhibiting the work of women of West Kent. After Her Majesty had examined a moleskin coat, a stallholder mentioned that nearly 400 pelts had gone to its making and said, "And most of them, Your Majesty, were trapped in the churchyard at home."

From twenty-nine villages, embracing ninety workers in Warwickshire, came a complete modern business girls' bed-sitting-room. Here the Queen found much to admire, especially a quaint armchair made entirely from used wooden cotton reels. The Queen signed the visitors' book here.

An organizer of the exhibition told a press representative:

"One of the best quiltmakers in the country is a woman, nearly ninety years of age, who lives in a mining valley in Glamorgan. Although she is nearly blind, every bit of these huge, heavily embroidered and artistically designed quilts is hand-made.

"The whole of this exhibition shows how skilful British women are. The paintings, decorations, articles of furniture, rugs and carpets and even the pottery in our model rooms, shown by organizations from West Kent, Warwickshire, Yorkshire and Staffordshire, are the work of members of women's institutes."

QUIET WEDDING IS HELD TO-DAY

Miss Myrtle C. Moore Becomes Bride of Mr. E. G. Morley at St. Mary's

A quiet wedding took place this afternoon at 2.30 at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, when Rev. A. E. de L. Nunns united in marriage, Myrtle Caroline, youngest daughter of Mr. Robert Moore, Brighton Avenue, Oak Bay, and Mr. Ernest Guy Morley, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Snow Morley, View Street.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a frock of suntan georgette, trimmed with lace, and a close-fitting hat to match. She carried a sheaf of chrysanthemums in autumn shades, and Ophelia roses. Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald, as matron of honor, was the bride's only attendant and wore a dress of powder blue georgette with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums and pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. John Dunn. Mr. F. T. C. Wickett presided at the organ.

Following the ceremony at the church, a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, Brighton Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Morley left on the 4.30 boat for Seattle en route to Portland. On their return to Vancouver Island, they will make their home in Victoria.

MOVIE-STRUCK GIRLS SWINDLED

Hollywood Promoter of "Movie School" Faces Serious Charges

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Charging that Frederick M. McLemore, twenty-six, of Hollywood, swindled scores of girls from Central and South America out of thousands of dollars through a fake motion picture school, police arrested McLemore at a fashionable hotel here.

He was booked at the city prison on a charge of operating an employment bureau without a license, but detectives said more serious charges will be made when investigations are completed.

McLemore, they said, placed glowing advertisements in Spanish newspapers here and in Latin America, setting forth his asserted plans to produce "super features" for Latin exportation. On the promise of giving them employment as actresses, said investigators, he sought to sell to the young women stock in his company, variously known as the Spanish American Sonofilm Company, the Associated Artists' Productions and the Hispano-American Sonofilm Corporation. Upon payment of various sums, police said, he promised returns on a graduated scale.

The producer's arrest grew out of the suspicions of Miss Adala Bernudez, daughter of a Nicaraguan coffee planter, one of the young women he had attempted to interest in his scheme, Wm. Harry Gorman, deputy state labor commissioner, and city police posing relatives, the girl visited McLemore's hotel headquarters to-day. The promoter detailed his plans and was arrested.

Police also questioned Julio Serrador, Peruvian film director. He was released, however, when there appeared no evidence to link him with the alleged scheme.

Lodge Held Shower.—Under the auspices of Lodge Primrose, Daughters of England, a successful miscellaneous shower for the bazaar on Friday was held at the home of Mrs. Baron, many useful and pretty articles being donated. The usual social meeting will be held on Friday at 7.30 a.m., followed by a partner court whist at 8.30 p.m.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

WHAT IS NORMAL DEVELOPMENT OF EIGHT-MONTHS-OLD INFANT?

Mrs. E. H. writes:

"Will you answer a few questions about my baby? How many hours of sleep does an eight-months-old baby require? How many feedings of milk a day?

"What makes her jerk in her sleep?

"At what age should she make an attempt to sit up, to creep?

"What is an eight-months-old baby supposed to weigh?"

Answer:

I am going to give you the picture of a typical eight-months-old baby and then you can compare your own baby with this. The eight-months-old child who weighed seven pounds at birth will weigh fourteen pounds at five months, and between seventeen and eighteen pounds at eight months.

He will have four feedings a day; a milk feeding or nursing at six o'clock in the morning, orange juice about nine o'clock, cereal and nursing or bottle feeding at ten, vegetable soup, zwieback and part of a bottle feeding or nursing at two, or sieved vegetables instead of the soup. At six at night there will be another cereal feeding, nursing or bottle, then baby is put to bed for the night. At ten, or some time between ten and two in the morning, there will be another feeding, usually, though some well-fed babies sleep all night.

Sleeping from six until six with one feeding is about eleven and one-half hours at night, and there is usually a two-hour nap in the morning, perhaps longer than that, and a short nap of one-half to one hour in the afternoon. The average would be about thirteen to fifteen hours of sleep in the twenty-four.

The average baby makes an attempt to pull himself to a sitting position at five months. He should be able between six and seven months to sit straight without any support. He will be yearning to creep between eight and nine months or perhaps a little later. It depends a great deal on the opportunity the baby is given to creep (on the floor) and his general physical strength and development.

I have a feeling from reading your letter that your own baby is not making an attempt to sit up or creep, and as you said only "what milk feedings," there may be a real connection between her apparent backwardness and the meagreness of her present diet. Won't you let me send you a feeding leaflet so you can check up on this? Just send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to this department and ask for the leaflet.

Jerking in the sleep is an indication of light slumber and nervousness. It might be caused by fatigue, too little sleep day and night, and this in turn might point right back to the same causes that are preventing the baby's development. I would certainly get that diet straightened out.

BOOK SHOWER TO AID AGED WOMEN

Annual Affair Planned For Wednesday, November 13 at Home

Arrangements for the annual book shower and tea, to be held at the Aged Women's Home on Wednesday, November 13, from 3 to 5 p.m., were made at the monthly meeting of the committee held yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. W. After the general routine business was attended to, and the bills incurred for the month ordered paid, arrangements were completed for the book shower and tea. A great deal of renovating and alterations have been made during the summer, and this tea is planned to give the friends of the Home and the public generally, an opportunity to see through the Home and also enjoy a social time. Lake Hill W.I. Hears Address By Health Officer

At the meeting of Lake Hill Women's Institute held on Tuesday afternoon, with a good attendance of members, and the president, Mrs. Peddle, in the chair, it was decided to assist with the street sales of poppies, and Mrs. Moody will convene a corner on November 9.

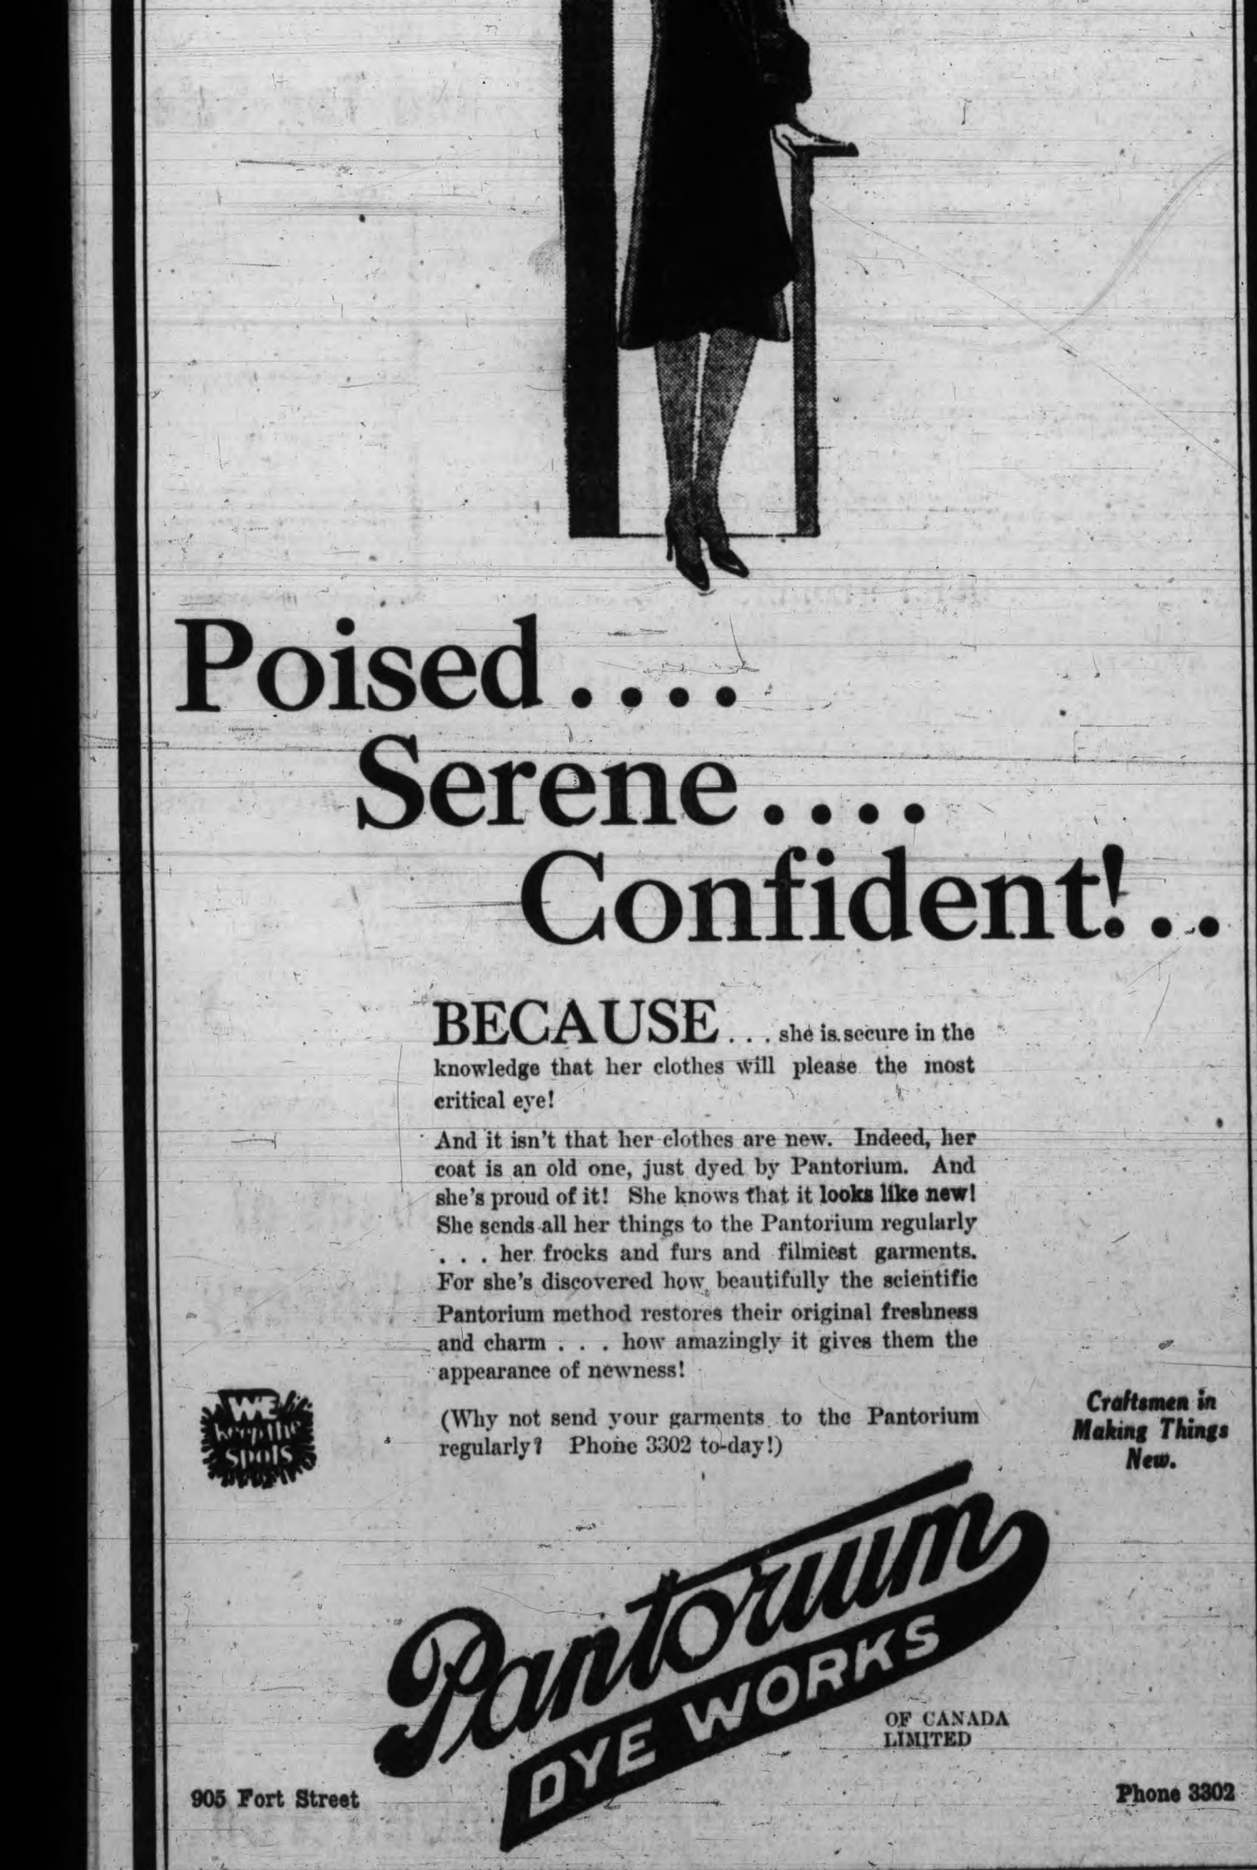

The raffia classes will be continued for two more evenings. There are now thirty pupils and a number of pretty articles have been made.

Two successful card parties were held during the month.

A wool bee will be held on Thursday, commencing at 10 o'clock, when it is hoped that two quilts will be made.

Mrs. Moody gave a report of the Hallowe'en party, which had proved successful in every way. Several items of interest were inadvertently omitted from the published report, among them being a song by Jean Currie, Edna Dawkins and Louise Ford, a song by Miss N. Sneddon, and a song by Muriel Mercer, Mary Ford, Florence Pegg, Phyllis Dawkins and Bernice Walker. These numbers were very much enjoyed. Mrs. R. M. Mercer, delegate to the recent conference in Victoria, gave a detailed report of the proceedings.

Dr. Berman, medical health officer for Saanich, gave an interesting talk on "The School-age Child," and also answered questions on the subject. He was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks. The annual meeting and election of officers will be held in December. Mrs. Mercer Sr., and Mrs. Scott were hostesses for the day and served tea at the close of the meeting.

BECAUSE . . . she is secure in the knowledge that her clothes will please the most critical eye!

THE SPORTS MIRROR

GREECE has just held a "Balkan Olympic" meet. It will be a great day for athletic sport when this country holds another set of Olympic games. The two Olympics held in Greece were by far the most interesting events in modern sport. With its marvelous background of over a thousand years of athletic sport and Olympic competition before the second century of our era, Greece has athletic tradition far more interesting than that of any other land.

Originally it was agreed that the Olympic Games would be held in Greece every four years, in memory of the ancient Olympic meets, and that Olympic Games would be held in other countries at alternating four-year intervals, so that Olympics would be held every two years. But unfortunately there is a great deal of money needed in holding the Olympic Games. The countries that hold them draw money from all over the world, the many thousands of sport followers from other lands bringing in a flood of money spent for transportation, hotels, games' tickets, etc. When the other European countries discovered that, little Greece was dropped out of the combination as a matter of business. There were strenuous protests against holding the 1932 Olympics in Los Angeles, and very likely this will be the last Olympic Games held in America for many years.

Holding Olympic Games should not be a matter of national business at all. The Olympic Games are traditionally Greek, were resurrected in Greece, and should be held in Greece at alternate periods, as first planned, if for no other reason, so that athletes of newer countries could go back there now and then and compete in the rebuilt stadium at Athens where Greek heroes ran and jumped and threw the discus, wrestled and fought, twenty centuries ago. Modern sport is a magnificent part of modern life, but it wouldn't hurt anyone to get into touch a bit with the days when men trained a year and competed for no greater prize than honor and the victor's laurel wreath.

With the opening, on December 28, of the new $2,000,000 racing plant of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club, more than half of the stabling accommodations have already been spoken for. To be exact, a total of eight hundred and forty equine blue-bloods have been allotted homes for the winter by General Manager James N. Crofton. Allowing for tack and feed stalls, these racers will occupy eleven hundred and fifty stalls out of the total of eighteen hundred available at the new course and the the old Tia Juana track, which has been whipped into shape for training purposes. Included are private stables for Baron Long, W. R. Coe, the Meadowbrook Stable, Hamilton Cotton and several others.

Many of the greatest stables of the racing world have already made reservations and requests are being received daily from big race centres in New York, Maryland, Chicago and Kentucky. America's highest class stake and handicap horses are included in some of these stables, which will furnish candidates for the $140,000 Agua Caliente Handicap on March 23, the world's richest race, and the other stake fixtures, handicaps and special daily features which the Agua Caliente meeting will offer.

Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, who fought Billy Townsend to a draw last Friday night in Vancouver, experienced a tough "break" during the course of the ten rounds. It has been announced that Morgan will probably be out of action for several months due to an injury to his right thumb, received in the third round. Consulting a doctor, it developed that the nail had worked back through the skin. Morgan was advised to have the bone amputated at the joint, but has deferred action until he consults a specialist. It will be remembered that Morgan's last fight in Vancouver was postponed a short time on account of a nail infection in one of his toes.

Allan Cup Lying Amid Wreckage of Championship Team

Great Team That Won Third Dominion Amateur Hockey Title for Port Arthur Last Season Has Fallen to Pieces; Pros Have Taken "Bud" Jarvis and Jimmy Creighton; Toronto Amateur Club Snaffles Harold Gross, Eddie Baker and Bruce Cox; Lake Team Will Rebuild.

Winnipeg, Nov. 6—Waiting for someone to take it away, the Allan Cup—emblematic of Canadian hockey supremacy—stands lonely at Port Arthur to-day, amid the wreckage of a championship team. The top-notch sextette that last year won for the Hill City on the lake its third Dominion title in five years has fallen to pieces like a house of cards.

Two age-worn veterans and an ambitious youngster are all that remains of Canada's best hockey team of last season. Wilf L'Heureux, the "Old Fox" who has retired oftener and played more seasons than any other amateur ice star; "Pat" Wilson, who has starred with L'Heureux on three Allan Cup teams, and Cliff Barton, pink cheeked youngster of the flashing blades—these are the last of the lake head stalwarts to survive.

Many a time the disappointed hockey fan can point an accusing finger at the plundering professional team, and say:

"It's your fault."

But even this deceptive consolation is not left to the ardent frequenter of the ice amphitheatre at Port Arthur. The pros have snatched away two of last year's Port regulars—but an amateur team has gone the moneyed men one better and grabbed off three.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company team in the Toronto Commercial League got a trio of last year's stars: Lumbering Harold Gross, who left Kitchener, Ont., to make a place at Port Arthur as defence man on an Allan Cup team, admitted to-day that he was to leave next week for Toronto to play with Goodyear. Eddie Baker, a Toronto boy himself and a stubborn goalie, made the same confession a week ago. Bruce Cox, who subbed his way to stardom in last year's cup finals, started the rush to the ranks of the Toronto rubbermen.

GO WITH PROS

"Bud" Jarvis and Jimmy Creighton, wing worker and centre man last year, are the acquisition of the professional ranks. Jarvis has signed his allegiance to Frank Frederickson, of the down-trodden Pittsburgh Pirates, after a final amateur season of prolific scoring. Creighton, lined up with Jack Adams's Detroit Cougars, made his simon pure bow by loading all the scorers with a brilliant display in the Allan Cup finale at Winnipeg.

It has been held that within the thorax of man, hope surges without end—and more or less undaunted, management of the Port Arthur team is rebuilding from the wreckage. Three members of the west end junior team that carried Port Arthur's colors into the Canadian final a couple of years or more ago, have been enlisted in the reconstruction as a starter.

Andy Spooner is delegated to stand between the sticks with his puck-dented goal pads, and Brooks Dafoe with Earl Samec are the new acquisitions of the forward line. Add these to Wilson and L'Heureux and Barton, and include maybe, Norm Friday, who performed at distant intervals for the seniors last winter—and you have the present available line-up of the three-time Allan Cuppers.

Last year at this time, few of the hockey guessers were accusing Port Arthur's seniors of being the coming Allan Cup holders. This year, opinions are unchanged and much more certain of being correct.

Roger Wilson Makes McGill Rugby Twelve

Roger "Pouch" Wilson, familiar figure in Victoria and Vancouver English rugby circles, crashed through the line in the Canadian game this year and gained a place for himself on the regular McGill first string squad.

Wilson started his rugby here several years ago at Brentwood College, where he gained quite a name for himself in the pack. Later he went to Victoria College and formed the main cog in the scrum of that squad. At Varsity he made the McKechnie Cup squad the first time he tried out and has climaxed his rugby activities by gaining a place on the McGill squad in his first year at the Canadian code.

"Pouch" carries about 200 pounds of bone and muscle on to the field with him and has enough speed to plough through most opposition.

In the recent game against Toronto Varsity, one of the classics of eastern rugby, he played the majority of the match and has spent plenty of time on the grid in other fixtures.

By winning a place on the team Wilson secured his big "M," one of the most prized emblems in eastern sport.

He is studying medicine at McGill and is reported to be making excellent progress in the scholastic as well as the athletic field.

Miracles of Sport — By Robert Edgren

Leafs, With Nearly All Last Year's Players and Four Newcomers, Appear One of Most Formidable in Eastern Loop; Suffered Severe Blow When Shorty Horne Was Drowned; Bailey, Blair and Cox Will Compose First String Forward Line; Charley Conacher Promising Youngster.

Toronto, Nov. 6—Toronto has not had a professional hockey championship since the old St. Patricks captured the Stanley Cup in 1922, but each year since then word has gone out to watch Toronto. The warning can be repeated this year.

The Leafs suffered a cruel blow during the summer when Shorty Horne, one of the most brilliant young players, was drowned in northern Ontario, but otherwise last year's aggregation is intact. Smythe has added four young players who appear to be good major league prospects.

In the nets, Toronto has Lorne Chabot, a fine goalie, with Benny Grant as a capable but inexperienced substitute. The Leaf defence is composed of three tried veterans, Art Duncan, Happy Day and Art Smith, and one good young player, the fast Red Horner.

HAVE LEADING SCORER

Among the forwards, the name of Irvin "Ace" Bailey, right wing man, leads all the rest. Bailey led the National League scorers last year. He is ably supported in the first string forward line by Andy Blair, tall centre, and Danny Cox at left wing.

Two products of last year's trades, Harold Cotton, formerly of Pittsburgh, and Eric Pettinger, who came to Toronto from Boston, are the reserve forwards who have played with the Leafs before. Joe Primeau is back again from the minors, apparently to stay.

The other Toronto newcomers are Charley Conacher, younger brother of the famous Lionel, player-manager of the New York Americans; Clegg McBride and Gordon Brydgeson.

Conacher was the star of the Toronto Marlboro Juniors last season McBride was a leading player with the Windsor Bulldogs, and Brydgeson played with Buffalo last year.

It was the most successful fistic attraction, financially and from the fans' standpoint, ever staged indoors in Chicago.

'OLD ROMAN' STARTS TO BUILD SOX

Charles Comiskey Has Already Purchased Ten Minor League Stars

Reports Say He Is in Field For Mark Koenig; May Dispose of Cissell

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Baseball's "Old Roman," Charles A. Comiskey, arranged a huddle with his new manager, Donie Bush, to-day to map out their campaign to rebuild the White Sox.

Although ten minor league stars, including Smeed Joley of the San Francisco Seals, have been purchased already, Comiskey promises more purchases. It is known the White Sox are in the market for a second baseman who can do some heavy hitting, a catcher, another heavy clouting outfielder and a pair of steady pitchers.

"The Old Roman refused to discuss current reports he was after Mark Koenig, the New York Yankee shortstop, and that he planned to send Bill Cissell, the high priced shortstop, to Washington in exchange for a right-handed pitcher, possibly Irving Hadley.

Applications for the championship must be in four months before the meeting so action will be taken by the club immediately.

Hector McDonald Gains Draw With Don Burchard

Los Angeles, Nov. 6.—Ignacio Fernandez, Los Angeles, Filipino, won a ten-round decision over Ward Sparks, San Francisco featherweight, last night.

Hector Macdonald, Vancouver, B.C., a newcomer in local rings, fought to a draw with Don Burchard in six rounds. The decision was unpopular, most of the fans believing Macdonald had the best of the milling.

Victoria's Cubs Start Systematic Training To-day

Seattle and Vancouver Players Also Down to Stiff Grind, With Portland Bucks Holding Opening Practice Friday; Local Players Shaping Up Well; McInenly, Williamson and Lowe, Three Newcomers, Look Good; Jimmy Evans Arrives in Town; Jocko on Ice.

Pacific Coast Hockey League teams are now into the hard grind of getting into shape for the opening of the 1929-30 schedule just two weeks away. Although the actual season, as far as the fans are concerned, does not start until November 18, it has begun already for the players, who have just two bare weeks in which to get their "ice legs" and shooting eyes into first-class shape. Victoria, Seattle and Vancouver held their opening work-outs on Monday, while Portland will call their initial practice Friday.

Manager "Jocko" Anderson of the Cubs started real systematic practice to-day. The players were split into two forward lines and attempted to crash through a defence and score on Goaltender Robertson. Ernie Kenny, one of the last year's regular defence men and Tommy McInenly, newcomer from Ottawa, worked on the back division and Jack Kelly, Odie Lowe, Herman Runge, Paul Runge and Ken Williamson composed the forward lines.

"JOCKO" ON ICE

Yesterday "Jocko" donned his blades and assisted the Cubs in their practice. Standing at one end of the rink he watched the boys go through their paces and after rushes would give them pointers on their passing and shooting.

Kenny and Herman Runge worked out the defence yesterday and although they were not allowed to use any stiff body checking this pair did the job very well. After he gets a little of the surplus weight off there is no reason why Runge should not develop into a first-class defence player. He is fast, has lots of weight and should be able to stop opposing forwards from getting in on top of Robertson. It would not be surprising if Manager Anderson used Herman on the back line this season.

Williamson, McInenly and Paul Runge stepped about yesterday. The first two, with their own skates, looked much better than in the first workout. They held their balance better and both are fast. McInenly, who was in centre, gives a nice pass and can shoot well and he may possibly be moved up to a forward position. William plays a nice combination game while his shots pack lots of punch. Paul Runge looks to be in for a good season. His skating and stick work are better than last season.

Jack Kelly and Odie Lowe teamed up together yesterday and certainly look a couple of sweet players. Lowe shapes up as the find of the season while Kelly is working as if it was mid-season. Both are fast skaters and very tricky with their sticks.

Jimmy Evans, midget centre player of the Cubs last season, and voted the most valuable player on the Victoria team by the fans, arrived in town this morning and was on hand for this afternoon's practice.

ANOTHER NEW PLAYER

It was announced by Stanley Patrick, last night that Ed. Kninfel, a brother to Earl who played on the defence of the Victoria Caps two years ago, would arrive in Victoria in a couple of days for a try-out with the Cubs. He played in Marquette, Michigan, last season.

Vancouver, Nov. 6. — Under the watchful eye of Frank Patrick, the champion Vancouver Lions held their first workout at the Arena on Monday afternoon before a goodly smattering of railbirds. The players went at their task so strenuously that Patrick was called upon to order his help to ease up. The entire team was present with the exception of Art Somers, who jumped to the Chicago team of the N.H.L., Doug. Brennan, who will arrive Thursday, Bill Phillips, a.w.l., and Don Cummings.

Sammy McAdam and "Red" Beatty were going in mid-season form. Both were shooting right on the net and boring through the defence in real championship form. They forced Percy Jackson to display his best. Percy incidentlly has lost none of his cunning.

Joe Jerwa, husky defence man, took the ice with two of his brothers, Frank, who finished up last season with the team, and Art, who has just arrived from Canmore. Frank has filled up a bit since last year and should have little difficulty in making the team. Art is a little light, but packs a good shot. He will probably catch on with the new Commercial League.

Jimmy Arnott worked on the defence with Joe Jerwa. He looks in good shape and should have a big season. He is just as fast as last year.

Chuck Dunn also turned in a good opening performance. Railbirds were also predicting a good year for the former Edmonton boy.

F. Porteous, trainer of the Calgary Canadians last year, was in one goal. Sid Riley of ex-King George were also in uniform.

President Frank Patrick of the Coast League stated, after looking over his team, that he anticipated a big season of hockey, that competition would be keener this year due to the fact that the clubs would be more evenly balanced. Nate Druxman of the Seattle club, who was also one of the ringsiders, opined that Lloyd Turner had collected a strong team and he fully expected to take the measure of the champions. He added that the rink opened to a packed house last Friday for skating.

Seattle, Nov. 6.—Seattle's Eskimos, or half a dozen of them, anyway, donned their blades and their armor and put in their first practice licks of the season at the Ice Arena yesterday in preparation for their first contest of the Pacific Coast Hockey League season, which will be against the Cubs at Victoria on November 19. It will be three days later than that, on Friday, November 22, that Lloyd Turner will trot his proteges out on the local ice pastures to make their bow before the home folks.

Bobby Jones On Golf

HESITATION TOO ONG IN MAKING SHOT BAD POLICY

Times Special Service

I cannot leave entirely the subject of the Preble Beach championship without touching on one more point that struck me forcefully and to which I have given considerable thought since leaving the scene of the tournament. In a sense, the remarks which I am going to make may be taken as a criticism of Pacific Coast golf, and I hope it will be remembered that it is intended to be entirely constructive and friendly.

Several of the California dailies were quite outspoken in their criticism of Dr. Willing, the runner-up, for the deliberate manner in which he prepared for and executed his strokes, at least one of them even hinting that the deliberation was intentional, with the idea of upsetting his opponent. It is unnecessary for me or anyone else to come to the Doctor's defence upon an accusation of that kind, but it is appropriate to call attention to the unfairness of the criticism on other grounds.

COAST GOLFERS PLAY SLOWLY

I saw Willing play only in the afternoon round of the final match, but during that round I saw him take no unnecessary time or make any unreasonable delays. It may have been that in this match he was making a particular effort to quicken his gait in order to avoid even the appearance of excessive deliberation. But even so it is impossible to see that the Doctor could have been a bit slower than a number of other players from the Coast whom I have observed. Apparently it has become the accepted idea in this region that the importance of competition makes it necessary to devote four or five minutes to a shot which would be played without hesitation and probably much better in a practice round.

There can be no odium attached to slow playing when the motives of grandstanding and of upseting an opponent are eliminated—and these can be entirely eliminated from this discussion. But whether rightly or wrongly I regard it as a mistake, considering both the player's efficiency and the welfare of the game in general. Golf depends for its growth upon public interest and competitions are designed to stimulate public interest. Nothing can be less entertaining to the spectator than to watch a golf match drawn out by minute examinations of every shot.

The East has no doubt been particularly fortunate in having the example of Francis Ouimet, who though never hurrying himself, is still a quick player. I can't help thinking, too, that those who saw Francis hole a fine putt on the last green in his match with Little were convinced that time is not always the essence of golf.

After all, the degree of deliberation that is considered necessary depends entirely upon the man who is playing the game. It is his business to play the shot, and he should never be required to play until he is ready.

DELAY AT MOST SHOULD BE MATTER OF SECONDS

Some situations which one finds on a golf course require some amount of study before the player can determine the best way to overcome the difficulty. But these are unusual. The vast majority of shots from the fairway are but repetitions of countless hundreds played before. At least to one familiar with the course, as all tournament contestants are, the decision should be a matter of seconds.

There is one very cogent reason why the older heads and more prominent players should make an especial effort to avoid unnecessary delay. That is, on account of the effect of their examples upon the youngsters coming along. Youth is naturally confident, at least in golf, and playing with assurance, is not so likely as the older man to quail at the difficulties of a shot.

Whenever I see a much considered shot go astray I can't help thinking of the lawyer who had unsuccessfully defended a client charged with murder. The trial had been long drawn out, lasting nearly a month, and the lawyer had made quite a lot of noise and stormed eloquently in his argument. Meeting a brother lawyer on the street a few days afterward the case came up in discussion and the lawyer askd his friend what he thought of his conduct of the trial. His friend replied, "Well, I think you could have reached the same result with a whole lot less effort."

More often than not the first impression is the best. There is no man capable of hitting a golf ball with sufficient exactness to warrant concern about the minute undulations which a very close examination might reveal. If he can care for the difficulties which he can see at a glance he will have done well enough.

They Sizzle 'em In —By Jimmy Thompson

On Friday night the National Hockey League makes its 1929-30 bow, when the Chi-Hawks invade the Toronto Leafs' camp; the Canadiens visit the Senators at Ottawa; the Maroons entertain the New York Rangers, and the Boston Bruins and the Cougars of Detroit play in the motor city. Last year "Ace" Bailey of the Toronto Leafs showed the boys what it was all about, even though Andy Blair, the Winnipeg collegian, made things most interesting for him in scoring honors. The new change of rules tends to make the net look like a shootin' gallery and will give the boys plenty to work on.

Andy has been abroad enjoying a holiday in England, learning to drive a car, and if the Peg boy drives like he skates down the ice it would be a picnic to watch, but only watch. The "Ace," who jumped into the matrimonial sea this summer, goes after business the way he does goal, to wit, his flourishing garage at Bracebridge, Ont. Connie Smythe has seen to it that the leading goal scorer will be on his side of the line this winter.

J.B.A.A. To Clash With Navy Fifteen In Opening Tussle

Both Clubs Appear To Have Strong Line-ups; Great Interest Being Taken in Match at Mount Tolmie Between Vancouver and Victoria Old Boys; Bays Have Formidable Club to Defend Championship; College To Meet J.B.A.A. in Only Intermediate Game.

Only three games will be played in the first half of the senior rugby league, it was announced this morning by Phil Willis, secretary of the Victoria Rugby Union.

On Saturday the Navy and J.B.A.A. will clash in the initial fixture of the loop. The following week the Scottish will meet the sailors and on November 25 the Bays and Scots will close the first half with another game. Unless a McKechnie Cup fixture is arranged to follow the regular league games, the second half will start immediately.

One intermediate game is scheduled for Saturday. In this division Victoria College will clash with the J.B.A.A.

Another game of senior class will be played at Mount Tolmie on the same day when the University Old Boys of Vancouver take the field against the local graduates. Although not a league fixture, this promises to be one of the most popular of the season, as both local players and those who have played here in former years will again don uniforms for the event.

SEVERAL FROM SCOTTISH

In view of the fact that the Canadian Scottish requested to be omitted from the day's play, it is understood that several of the Highlanders will be on deck for the local Old Boys. "Cy" Bernard, Godfrey Wenman, Knapton, Bill Pollard, Reg. Wenman, Bobby Tye, Archie Miller and other well-known Victoria players will line up for the game, while Fred Cabeldu will probably lead the Vancouver contingent.

Little is known of the strength of the Navy for their game against the oarsmen in the regular senior fixture of the day, but it is understood that they will have some of their old standbys along with them. Barker, Putman and Hall, three of last year's huskies, will be out of the game.

However, their loss will be partly compensated for by the addition of McDonald, the blonde speed ace, who showed up to advantage in track meets this summer. The latter is reported to be the long-distance champion of the Maritime provinces.

BAYS STRONG

With the possibility of Arthur Thornton Fell turning out for them, the Bays three-quarter line should prove more formidable than in former years. Fell is rated close to a ten-second man, has plenty of weight and knows the game exceptionally well. For several seasons he played with the U.B.C. McKechnie Cup squad and was rated as one of the best threes in Vancouver.

Dr. Art Webster is also expected to wear the dark blue jersey again this year and should add materially to the strength of the team with his ball-handling and running. Homer Cavines, one of the old guard, will be back on the three-quarter line, which will probably be completed by Gavin Hume and Roy Gaunt.

Cockin, the flashy little half who drew down plenty of praise last year, will again look after the scrum along with McMillan, a new man from Vancouver.

Frampton will probably play fullback.

LOST McLEAN

Although the loss of Donny McLean and Ben McMillan will be felt considerably by the oarsmen, the addition of these new men should bring them to their former strength.

"Cubby" Goodwin, who played on the College line last year, has signed up with the Bays for the opening game and will doubtless prove an asset to the team on the attack.

John Locke, "Wamba" Warnock, Bert Buller, Rex Askey, Ronnie Mawhood, Horace Goad, Buss and Morris will in all probability complete the team.

College is expected to trot out the same team as it did against the University School for its game against the intermediate oarsmen. As it stands at present, the Craigdarroch boys seem to have an edge over their opponents, having more experienced players in all departments of the game.

In view of the fact that they walked over the speedy University school to the tune of 18-0, they should have little difficulty in repulsing the onslaughts of the Bays.

BLIND DRIVE EXPECTED TO TOP $10,000 MARK BEFORE THIRD DAY ENDS

TWO BLIND LEADERS

Throughout the drive for $150,000 in British Columbia, two blind men and their wives are among the most earnest workers. Mr. Robinson, who lost his sight as an eighteen-year-old sergeant-major at Vimy Ridge, has infected the workers with his enthusiasm. Sometimes with one of the canvassers but more frequently with Mrs. Robinson, he has been on the move continuously on some business connected with the drive. The self-sacrificing efforts of Mrs. Robinson in the worthy cause have inspired all the workers. On the Mainland Dr. J. MacDonald, national secretary, also totally blind, has set the example to the rest of the workers with Mrs. MacDonald always on hand to help.

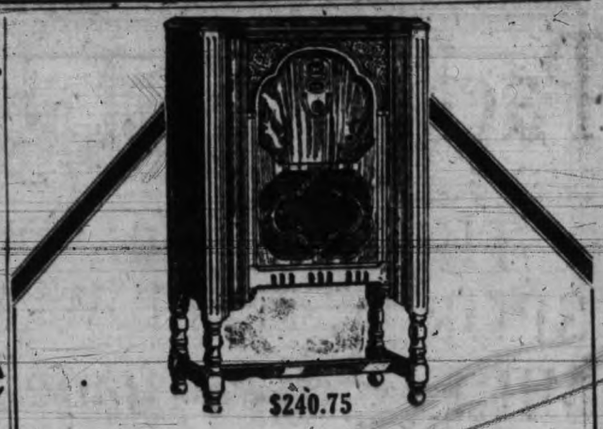

RADIO TALKS TO-NIGHT

Several radio talks will be broadcast during the drive. For the first one to-night, B. C. Nicholas will make an appeal to the citizens of Victoria and will introduce Mr. Robinson. Mr. Robinson will give a short talk. The programme is scheduled for 8 o'clock over CFCT.

The wide range and versatility of work planned by the western division of the Institute for this year embraces: Field work and registration of all blind people within the territory; operation of a broom factory; operation of a basket shop; saleroom, a department for the distribution of raw material to blind persons working in their own homes, with subsequent assistance in the sale of their finished products; extensive placement service, securing positions in sighted industries, and the obtaining of special concessions, such as news-stands, candy stands, etc.; home-teaching to adults, of raised point reading and writing, of sewing and knitting, and of the light handicrafts, such as basketry, chair caning, making of bags and hammocks and mat weaving; relief for needy blind persons; money allowance for vocational study, as well as for the sick; free library service; a department in co-operation with the head office of the Institute, for the publication and free distribution of literature for the blind; prevention of blindness; a campaign among parents, teachers, etc., for the prevention of blindness and the conservation of the sight of the semi-blind.

The administration department secures radios and radio equipment for the blind at cost price, obtaining the license for their use free of charge. It secures free street-car passes. It provides varied entertainment for the blind, and exercises direct supervision over placement in business and industry.

According to the programme of the Institute for this year alone, $29,000 will have been paid to its blind workers.

FOG LEADS TO PLANE DISASTER; SIX LOSE LIVES

When the machine passed over Godstone at about 10.30 a.m. it was flying so low as to be just above the housetops, but this was believed to be because of poor visibility. An employee of the Godstone Motor Works said the engine seemed to be functioning perfectly, with the pilot making for Brighton Road apparently to get his bearings.

The crash, which was followed by the machine bursting into flames, is believed to have been caused by the pilot's flying against a hillside in the fog.

Behind the remnants of the air liner was a large tree which had been torn from the ground by the last lunge of the big machine. The crash and the burst of flames followed instantly.

NO RESCUE POSSIBLE

Kidston was the only one of the passengers able to crawl free, but found himself powerless to do anything to rescue the others as the machine almost instantly was fully ablaze.

When firemen and other rescuers arrived at the scene they could not do much more than to start extricating the bodies from the wreckage.

Kidston, who was only slightly injured, had been near death on several previous occasions. He was flying to Nairobi for a big game hunt when his aeroplane crashed, but he escaped uninjured. Later he was charged by a rhinoceros and succeeded in killing the animal when it was only two yards away. As a submarine expert and a motor racer he also had other narrow escapes.

BOWLING

Althongh R. Williams of the Restorer took individual game and aggregate high scoring honors with totals of 189 and 530 respectively, his team dropped two games to the Royal Arcanums in the Commercial League fixture played at the Arcade Alleys last night.

Eagles took three straight games from the Elks in the first Fivepin fixture of the day, despite the fact that R. Lott of the Elks and his teammate, A. Falk, won scoring honors with totals of 548 and 303 points in the aggregate and individual game classes respectively.

Joe Delahunty of the Colonist Scribes, led the scorers in the other fivepin match, when his team bowed before the bowling of the Colonist Typos to lose by the odd game.

VICTORIA CUBS START SYSTEMATIC TRAINING TO-DAY

Of the eleven men whom he figures to make his permanent squad, Turner had six in action yesterday. Jack Walker, Smoky Harris and Oliver Rennikka of last year's aggregation, were on hand, together with Ernie Anderson, new right winger, and Gordie Savage, the jack-of-all-trades from Kitchener, who is billed to take the utility role.

Half a dozen local amateurs were out on the ice along with Turner's hired men, among them being McCuag and Fritz, a couple of lads who may possibly be considered for professional jobs.

There was no attempt at line-up practice. The lads just skated around to limber up and did a little stick handling and shooting to get the feel of their weapons.

An Averted Tragedy

Here's a near tragedy I heard about the other day. "I'll give you a tip," said Morgan to his friend Edwards, "buy Casabianca Common at 74."

Next day the tape recorded Casabianca Common down to 64.

"I have ruined my friend," cried Morgan, and he rushed off to Edwards' office.

"Oh," said Edwards, "I decided not to act on your tip. Instead of Casabianca Common, I bought Tucketts Preferred. Have one".

"A first-rate investment," said Morgan, lighting up. "A very satisfactory transaction I call it."

TWO MATINEES OF PANTOMIMES

Philip Rodway Company to Give Two Programmes Monday and Saturday

Philip Rodway's celebrated British Panomime Company in which "Wee Georgie" Wood, Dan Leno Jr., Florence Hunter, Fred Conquest and other well-known English musical comedy stars apear, will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre in two musical pantomimes, commencing next Monday, with a holiday matinee Monday and a popular price matinee on Saturday. The first three days of the week they will present "Humpty Dumpty" and the last three days "Mother Goose."

From the opening scene of "Humpty Dumpty" there is a kaleidoscopic presentation of colorful settings that fairly take the breath of an audience. Given whole-hearted approval in London, Ont., at its Canadian premiere, and later at Toronto, it comes west with nothing but praise in its train. Without doubt it is one of the most picturesque musical fairy tales ever presented in Canada, and its tuneful melodies, clever principals and pretty and accomplished chorus would be hard to match anywhere on the stage to-day.

In "Mother Goose," which is regarded by many competent critics as being one of the foremost English pantomimes, there is a complete change from "Humpty Dumpty" in costumes, scenic effects and all other material.

WILL APPEAR IN PANTOMIME HERE

who is following in the footsteps of his famous father as England's leading pantomime comedian with Philip Rodway's "Humpty Dumpty" and "Mother Goose," which will be presented at the Royal next week.

Elsie McLuhan To Give Recital

At the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Emmanuel Baptist Church held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. Marrion, 1009 Chamberlain Street, it was announced that the noted Canadian elocutionist, Elsie McLuhan, would give a recital in the church on Friday evening, November 22.

A report of the concert held October 28 was presented to the meeting, it being intimated that a considerable amount had been raised and that this money would be given towards church renovation work. An evening sale of work will be held under the auspices of the auxiliary on December 5 in the schoolroom. This is to take the form of a social gathering.

OLD PROSPECTOR LOST HIS LIFE IN BUSH FIRE

Princeton, B.C., Nov. 6.—Trapped, helpless and alone, John Henry Jackson, octogenarian prospector of Tulameen and proprietor of Princeton's first hotel, met his death four and one-half miles from the mouth of Cedar Creek, a tributary of the upper Tulameen, when a camp fire broke away from him and quickly spread about him several acres of blazing bush.

The mystery of Jackson's disappearance more than four weeks ago was solved by W. A. (Podunk) Davies, veteran woodsman, and Constable V. Palmer of the Princeton detachment of the provincial police, after an eight-day search.

FAMED AS WOODSMAN

The discovery added another honor to the remarkable record of Podunk Davies, whose skill in this connection is almost wizardry. Three years ago he successfully sought out Nurse Marion Warburton and saved her life after she had been lost six weeks following the taking of a wrong turn on the Dewdney trail between Princeton and Hope. She had been given up as dead.

The body of Jackson was found in seven inches of snow, following a search in fough country that required more than ordinary skill, and not a little courage. A tattered coat gave evidence that the aged prospector had tried desperately to keep his camp fire from spreading.

The body, carried into Tulameen by the searchers, will be buried in Princeton.

Strength After Childbirth

"After my baby was born I was very weak and run-down. I was not able to do any heavy work but I had to be around on my feet all day. The strain proved too great and I was real sick for about two months. My mother advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to take it. You should have seen the change in me. I am now well and strong and in good spirits. I have taken the Vegetable Compound ever since if I feel my energy lacking. I also take Liver Pills and I find them a wonderful help for constipation." —Mrs. James E. Robson, Box 693, Fernie, British Columbia.

AT THE THEATRES

SPLENDID DOUBLE BILL IS FEATURE AT THE COLISEUM

A most enjoyable evening's entertainment is guaranteed all those who this week attend the Coliseum Theatre where the management is presenting the Coliseum Players on the stage in a play entitled "Why Girls Walk Home," and a picture called "Pleasure Crazed" on the screen. This double bill is a splendid one and all who have seen it so far this week have expressed themselves entirely satisfied with the brand of entertainment provided. The stage attraction and the all-talking pictures seem to make an admirable combination.

"Why Girls Walk Home" is a typical Leitch production. Throughout the play runs plenty of fun and humor, while at the same time the plot is an interesting one and the cast well chosen. Miss Leone Webber, dainty leading lady with the company, also gives a splendid performance, others in the production ate Miss Esther Todd, Miss Ruth Albright, Leon Cluff, Horace Arnold and Rollin Parker.

INDIAN CHIEF PLAYS ROLE IN "GREAT DIVIDE"

Chief Little Bison, a Sioux Indian chief, added several new followers to the sport of archery while he was working in a colorful "bit" of "The Great Divide," the First National picture starring Dorothy Mackaill, now showing at the Capitol Theatre all this week.

The Indian leader, who is depicted on the screen weaving a blanket with his wife, is as expert with the bow and arrow as his forefathers who depended on their skill for existence.

IRENE RICH AS "CRAIG'S WIFE" AT THE COLUMBIA

A woman mercenary and unscrupulous, who uses her beauty and charm to mould the desires of her husband to her own advantage, yet one whose vary avarice and dominance are so deep-grained, that they have an element of poignance and claim a certain need of sympathy. Such a hapless individual is "Craig's Wife," portrayed by Irene Rich in the screen play of that name now being shown at the Columbia Theatre. Warner Baxter is the husband.

"HOLLYWOOD REVUE" FOLLOWS STYLE OF STAGE SPECTACLES

"The Hollywood Revue," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's huge musical extravaganza, a talking, singing, dancing all-star production, M-G-M's first picture of this character and, by the way, the first film of this type to reach the screen, is showing all this week at the Dominion Theatre. "The Hollywood Revue," was constructed along lines similar to Ziegfeld's "Follies," Carl Carroll's "Vanities" and George White's "Scandals." It has "blackouts," ensemble spectacles, and even a master of ceremonies. M-G-M has assembled all of their famous stars for bits in this production. It includes the names of Marion Davies, John Gilbert, Norma Shearer, William Haines, Joan Crawford, Lionel Barrymore, Buster Keaton, Karl Dane, George K. Arthur, Marie Dressler, Conrad Nagel, Gus Edwards, Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy and Gwen Lee, in addition to Charles King, Anita Page and Bessie Love, the three featured players in "The Broadway Melody."

MISS LIVINGSTON HEADS CAST OF "THE CHARLATAN"

NATIONALIZATION OF PARKS URGED

An appeal for the nationalization of famous scenic parks of Canada was made by Mrs. Don Munday at the conclusion of a lecture before the Royal Society of St. George in the Amphion Hall last night.

Only by bringing these parks within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government could a guarantee of their preservation for posterity be secured, Mrs. Munday said. The Dominion Parks Commission would undertake the protection of game and plant life as well as supervise things pertaining to policing, road building and maintenance. Everyone should support the National Parks Association and take a share in keeping these wonderful natural playgrounds for all time.

Mrs. Munday gave an interesting and entertaining lecture on Mount Garibaldi, showing a number of fine lantern slides to illustrate her talk. She explained, boots must be heavily were presented, Red Mountain, Bentinel Glacier, the Table, Sphinx Glacier, Black Tusk and Black Tusk Meadows, and many of the crevasses and pinnacles of the famous B.C. mountain being shown on the screen.

Difficulties of crossing crevasses on snow bridges were mentioned by Mrs. Munday. Good equipment was needed, he explained, boots must beheavily nailed, clothing must be light but warm, and goggles, ice axes and rope are essential. The climber must be sure of every foothold and progress must necessarily be slow.

A delightful addition to the evenings entertainment was furnished by Mr. Guy, who sang several solos.

Announcement was made that the First United Church choir would give a concert in the Amphion Hall on Tuesday, November 19, under the auspices of the society.

One of the interesting features of the evening was the pictures displayed by J. Howard Chapman of the King, YQueen, Prince of Wales and Princess Mary.

Legion Unveils Memorial Tablet

Gen. Sir Percy Lake, past president of the Canadian Legion, unveiled the memorial tablet in the board room of the Britannia branch of the Canadian Legion last night. The tablet carries the names of those of the Canadian Legion who have "passed on."

Tribute was paid by Sir Percy to the late Col. F. A. Robertson, who had been outstanding in the work of the Legion.

Religious dedication of the tablet was carried out by Rev. F. Mortimore, chaplain.

At the business session presided over by Jack Cassidy five new members were admitted, and a resolution was passed against circulation of Bolshevik propaganda in Canada. The resolution, which will go to the Dominion convention of the Legion at Regina this month, asks the Government to stop growth of Bolshevism here.

Public Utilities Chain Involved In Big Foshay Crash

Minneapolis, Nov. 6.—An organization valued at more than $20,000,000, built up through the financial wizardry of Wilbur B. Foshay, crashed when a voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed here against the W. B. Foshay Company, holder of public utility, industrial, banking and real estate properties.

Collapse of the parent Foshay Company carried with it subsidiaries in thirty states throughout the nation and in Alaska, Canada and Central America and marked the greatest financial disaster in the Northwest.

Named with the W. B. Foshay Company in the receivership action were the Public Utilities Consolidated Corporation, the utility operating subsidiary of the concern and the W. B. Foshay Building Corporation, which owns the company's office structures in various cities, including the thirty-two story Foshay Tower here.

Joseph Chapman, Minneapolis banker and merchant, was named receiver of the vast interests in the proceedings brought before federal Judge John B. Sanborn in chambers. Foshay filed only a brief answer, agreeing to the receivership and declined to comment afterward.

OVER-EXPANSION BLAMED

Over-expansion of business and lack of a market for securities of the Foshay companies were given as reasons for the receivership proceedings in the petition. Three companies were specifically named in suits filed to-day on which total judgments of approximately $667,000 were ordered by Judge Sanborn.

Three petitions were filed in the action, one by H. H. Henley, a vice-president of the W. B. Foshay Company, the second by the O. M. Spratt Insurance Company against the Public Utilities Company and third by Mr. Chapman against the Foshay Building Company.

LIABILITIES OF $12,000,000

While assets of the public utilities corporation were listed at $20,000,000, it was said they may be higher. Assets of the other two concerns were not estimated as it was explained that they will depend on stock values.

Liabilities of $12,000,000 are charged against the Foshay interests by the petition, which recited that Foshay "finds himself with a large amount of stocks, bonds and notes which he finds difficulty in selling and faces the necessity of paying large amounts of the obligations with no ready money to do so."

GREAT BUSINESS BUILDER

The business thrown into receivership to-day is the third built up by Wilbur B. Foshay since 1917, when he started operations here. Twice Foshay sold out to eastern interests only to start welding another business chain. The third group of utilities companies, involved in to-day's receivership, were formed in 1927.

At the modest beginning of the Foshay interests here in 1917 the personnel of the concern consisted of Foshay himself and another. To-day the personnel in Minneapolis alone numbered over 400 and records show the Foshay utilities serve 192 communities in the United States, Alaska and Central America. Gross income in 1928 was announced as $2,589,653.

When he began his operations here Foshay was thirty-six years old and had had experience in railroading in the east besides having worked for public utility concerns in the Middle West and the Pacific Coast.

As a boy he studied art and had planned to pursue an art career, but failure of his father's business forced him to forego that ambition.

ENORMOUS HOLDINGS

Properties owned by the Foshay Company include telephone, electric light, water, street railway and gas companies. Within the past few years he also purchased three banks in the twin cities, two in Minneapolis and one in St. Paul, which are involved in the crash.

None of the depositors in the Minneapolis banks will lose their money, however, as both were taken over to-day, one by the Northwest Bank Corporation and the other by the First Bank Stock Corporation. No action was announced, however, relating to the St. Paul bank, which was closed to-day by the state banking department.

The St. Paul bank has deposits of about $250,000.

Mink Coats, Diamonds All Go As Women Are Shorn In Wall Street

New York, Nov. 6.—Stories flew about all day in brokerage offices of the woman who, unknown to her husband, was forced to pawn her $5,000 mink coat for $300 to meet her marginal debt; how in the late afternoon she even attempted to raise another $100 on the pawn ticket; of another wife who is stranded in Bermuda with two children because her husband was sold out and can't raise the steamship fare; of the hundreds of women who pledged diamonds, grand pianos, and other valuables to save their failing stocks.

"GIRL" ORE SHORN

The women's board room at the office of W. E. Hutton & Co., No. 57 West 57th Street, presented a typical scene throughout the day. It was thronged for the entire trading session. A customers' woman who addressed the assembled traders as "girls" and circulated among them, remarking, "I must see how my lambs are to-day—pretty well shorn or otherwise?" preserved a tone of her own.

ACTRESSES FOR THIS OFFICE

"Yes, we have a lot of celebrities here," he said. "The boss says he likes Broadway customers because they're good sports when they lose. They love to gamble, and they do most of their trading by phone. They don't have time to clutter up our office."

Yesterday afternoon, when the boys and girls of Rosthern welcomed Premier King on his arrival at the Town Hall from the city of Prince Albert, they proved they know all stanzas of "O Canada" by singing them. Mr. King remarked he had heard the Canadian anthem from the Atlantic to the Pacific and never recalled any other audience which knew all the words.

"We would be surer of having a united people if everyone knew the inspiring words as well as you boys and girls do," he said.

Germans and Ruthenians predominate in this section of the prairies, with a large settlement of families who immigrated from France not far away. There are also many of Anglo-Saxon descent.

"The constituency of Prince Albert is an object lesson to the world of how men and women of various races and creeds can live together in friendship and happiness," said Premier King.

CONSTITUENCY IS BIG

The Prime Minister, speaking about the big constituency he represents in the Federal House, said:

"I told the people of London the Prince Albert national Park contained 1,300 square miles and was only one corner of my constituency. I do not think they could ever appreciate it, but since then 300 more square miles have been added to it."

HIS COTTAGE

In his speech last night Premier King said the visit of Premier Ramsay MacDonald had made it impossible for him to visit his constituency earlier this year. However, he hoped at some future date to be able to occupy the beautiful cottage his friends had provided for him in Prince Albert National Park.

"It is much too beautiful, I think, for a man who has no wife," Mr. King continued. "However, I have not altogether lost the hope we shall yet see a wife sitting on the veranda."

This brought rousing applause from the audience.

PEACE PACT

Mr. King proceeded to describe the signing of the Briand-Kellogg pact in Paris in a vivid word picture that was intensely interesting to the people of this prairie town. Later, at the League of Nations session, he had been proud "to point to Canada as an example of racial unity," he said.

Dr. J. M. Ulrich, Rosthern member of the Provincial House, the first speaker at the night meeting, said a recognition of equality among the different races was necessary for the well-being of this country. There should be no best race in Canada, no race which could look down on any other race. Britain had ever recognized the principle of racial equality. In Wales a million people spoke no English at all. They did not need a treaty to protect those rights, for the rights of minorities was an accepted principle in Great Britain.

DEVELOPMENT WORKS

Senator Andrew Haydon of Ottawa spoke of the action of the present Federal Government in helping the development of the Maritimes on the one hand and the West on the other. It looked after the welfare of every part of the country.

LUNCHEON GIVEN

Yesterday afternoon Mr. King bid a temporary farewell to the city of Prince Albert. A luncheon was given in his honor just before he left for Rosthern and following that he described to his constituents Canada's position in international affairs and the inauguration of legations at Paris, Washington and Tokio."

McColl-Frontenac Dividend Is Set

Montreal, Nov. 6.—The directors of McColl-Frontenac Oil Company Limited at their meeting placed the common shares of the company on a regular dividend basis at the rate of sixty cents per share per annum.

The first dividend of fifteen cents per share for the quarter ended October 31 was declared payable December 15 to shareholders of record November 15, 1929.

This action on the part of the directors can only be interpreted as constructive at the present time and indicates clearly the complete confidence of the directors, not only in the future business of the company, but also the fact that fundimental conditions in Canada are sound.

Explorer Started Out On Adventures As Boy.

Twelve-year-old George Back, an English boy, had already begun a life of adventure. He was in the navy, and when his ship took part in a battle with a French ship, off the coast of Spain, he was in the thick of the fighting. His ship was defeated, and he was among those taken prisoner.

The French captors made ready to take their prisoners with them across a mountain into the interior. Some of them had to walk, and some of them, who were wounded, were put on mules.

The French captain looked at the small George. Then he picked him up and put him in a basket intended for provisions, swung on the back of a mule. In that basket he rode across the mountains. He was very indignant at being put in a basket, when he already counted himself a man.

Sir George Back, born 133 years ago, was a famous explorer. He explored and mapped most of what is now Northern Canada, and discovered a river which was given his name.

Belmont Young People's Society.—The weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of Belmont United Church was held on Monday evening with twenty-four members present. The meeting took the form of a Christian fellowship meeting and was in charge of Rennie Butler's group. Mr. Cook, the president, gave a report on the meeting of the Young People's Council which took place at the Y.M.C.A. on October 23. Alice Anderson also gave a report on Temperance work. Some very interesting talks were given by Charley Chapman, Charlotte Ingram, Ruth Levers and Rennie Butler, the first mentioned taking as his subject, "Faith," while the others spoke on "Thanksgiving." Mr. Cook tendered a vote of thanks to the group in charge, after which the meeting was brought to a close with a prayer by the Rev. James Hood. As next Monday is a holiday the meeting has been postponed till November 18, and will be in charge of Mr. Cook. Any young people attending these meetings will be given a hearty welcome.

There were twelve tables in play at the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club five hundred party held in Hampton Hall last Saturday when the first prize was captured by Mrs. Goodwin, Mr. Mowatt, Mr. Morrison and Mr. Ott. The second prize went to Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Clark, Mr. Vallance and Mr. Murphy. The ten-bid prize was won by Mrs. Morrison and Mr. Swaluk. Next Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Boston will be the hosts. Hampton Hall is proving to be quite an asset to the Burnside district, many functions being held there. This is, in no small way, due to the untiring efforts of the ladies of the club, who have worked hard to make the hall comfortable and cheery.

Victoria will reap publicity reaching millions of readers through The Saturday Evening Post error in publishing a picture of Victoria harbor over the caption of Vancouver, according to a letter received by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. To-day the Bureau is in receipt of a letter acknowledging a number of pictures sent and stating that some of them will be published in future issues of the weekly magazine.

Mr. Julian I. Piggott, who has been spending the last week at Government House as the guest of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie, left last night on his return to England.

J. A. Maharg Discussed Grain Matters With James Burden at Ogden Point Plant

J. A. Maharg of Moose Jaw, Sask., general manager of Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Limited, paid a flying visit to the city yesterday and spent most of the afternoon with James Burden, superintendent of the Ogden Point elevator.

Since he took over the management of the Panama Pacific interests, Mr. Maharg has been working to secure grain shipments for the local elevator. He was not anxious to discuss the grain situation while in the city, and, after visiting the elevator and talking matters over with Superintendent Burden, he left by the night boat for the mainland.

Mr. Maharg plans to return to Victoria very shortly, and by that time expects to have some grain news.

OPEN SHIRT, SHORTS AND NO TIE PROPER DRESS FOR MEN SAY COLLEGE DEBATERS

Audience Agrees With Affirmative Debaters in Interesting Argument at Victoria College, But Judges Think Otherwise; "Short Pants Week" May Be Result.

A debate on modern men's dress reform held last night at the meeting of the Literary Society of Victoria College failed to decide this burning question.

The Sophomore debaters, Charles L. Backler and Eleonor Walker, supporting the negative of the subject "Does Modern Men's Dress Need Reform" earned the judges' decision, but on a division of the house, the Freshies, Dick McLean and Eileen Pettit, registered a nearly complete triumph. Their cause was evidently the more popular, and the students are following it up with a vengeance by talking of a "short pants week" to be held in the near future.

Mr. McLean, who led off for the affirmative, put the assembly into hysterics by appearing dressed according to his views. He wore a tennis shirt, with rolled sleeves, no tie, a pair of basketball shorts, golf hose and black brogues. He looked comfortable, but hardly artistic.

CONTRARY TO REASON, HE SAYS

In his debate, Mr. McLean took his male opponent's attire as an example of inadequate dressing, and attacked it as ugly, sombre, depressing and inartistic. Its only merit were the shoes, which were low and comfortable. A heavy tweed suit was not hygienic, and a woolen sweater was the last straw. The collar and tie were contrary to all reason.

Mr. McLean extolled the advantages of his own attire from the standpoint of health, since it exposed his body to the sun. He praised the sense which women showed in the reduction of dress and said that if man showed equally as much sense he would adopt a more suitable dress.

Mr. Backler, in rising for the negative, ridiculed his opponent's attire, and said that man was too busy as a breadwinner and a citizen to evolve in his imagination such an outfit. Why were the Orientals, the Turks, adopting the western style of dress in their search for a more uplifting life? And again, the unconventionality of the age, so much talked about, would not subordinate man to unfavorable dress convention. The fact that so few complained showed that people were satisfied. Man nowadays led a racking town life, and had not the physique to justify body exposure. Man's beauty was a muscular beauty, and when he lacked the muscles, he must hide that lack. Mr. Backler asserted that, if the reformers had their way, a man would ultimately don a skirt, and this would so affect his attitude to life, his ideas, that woman would take courage and go right over his head.

LOOK AT THE SCOTS

Miss Pettit, for the affirmative, refuted some of her opponent's arguments, and took a more serious attitude that Mr. McLean, who was by far the most humorous of the four speakers. Suppose a man was to wear a skirt, she asked. Were not the Scots a very hardy race, with a lower mortality in the World War than any other country? Miss Pettit advocated the health aspect of dress reduction, quoting from several eminent professors. The present wearing of garters gave men varicose veins at forty, she said. Collars caused cancerous growths.

Miss Walker, the second speaker for the negative, attacked effectively the arguments brought forth by her opponents. She further explained some of the points already made by the negative. Miss Walker finished with the statement that dress reform would be entirely superfluous and extremely foolish. The Scots, she said, wore kilts because they were continually running up and down mountains.

All speakers were allowed eight minutes in which to speak. Mr. McLean was given two minutes for rebuttal.

After the debate the subject was opened to discussion, and several students gave their views. The judges were Walter Gage, Ruth Humphrey and Colin Curtis, and voted two to one for the sophomores.

ARMISTICE PROGRAMME NOW READY

Impressive Ceremonies to Mark Eleventh Anniversary of War's Cessation

Buglers and Whistles to Signal Silent Period

The eleventh anniversary of Armistice Day will be observed in Victoria on Monday with impressive ceremonies at the Cenotaph in Parliament Square, to be attended by Lieutenant-Governor Bruce, provincial and civic officials, detachments of naval and military forces and returned soldiers.

At 11 o'clock the signal for the customary two minutes of silence will be sounded by factory whistles. Six buglers, stationed at points through the business district, will sound the Last Post, and all citizens will be expected to stand in silent tribute. Street cars will stop and drivers of all other vehicles are asked to observe the two minutes period of tribute to those who died in the Great War.

PARADE PLANS

The programme arranged by the Armistice Period Committee provides that returned men taking part in the parade to the Cenotaph will fall in at 10.15 o'clock on Douglas Street, opposite the Veterans of France Building. General Sir Percy Lake will be in command, with Major P. T. Stern as adjutant. Sergt.-Major Lisney will "fall in" the parade which will be headed by the band of the Fifth Brigade Coast Artillery at 10.30 o'clock.

The route of the march will be: Courtney Street to Government to Belleville Street. Arriving at the Cenotaph at 10.45 o'clock, the parade will form up facing the monument. Arrangements will be made for a limited number of seats for disabled men.

Commencing at 10.45 o'clock the tenor bell at the Cathedral will be tolled until the arrival of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

The programme will open with "O Canada," with band accompaniment. Rev. J. W. Leighton, chaplain, will lead the prayer and afterwards recite Pericles "Tribute to Fallen Heroes."

Following the sounding of the Last Post and observance of the two minutes of silence, Lieutenant-Governor Bruce will place a poppy wreath on the Cenotaph, while pipers play "The Flowers of the Forest."

The gathering will sing "Abide With Me," and the band will then play "Land of Hope and Glory." Reveille will be sounded by the buglers and God Save the King rendered.

Poppy wreaths will then be placed on the Cenotaph by representatives of the naval and military forces, the ex-service organizations, auxiliaries, chapters of the I.O.D.E. and the general public.

Following the service the parade will march to Belleville Street, adjacent to the Empress Hotel, to dismiss.

HINCHLIFFE ESSAYS ROLE OF PACIFIST

Warring Plantagenet School Factions Meet in Minister's Sanctum

The movement for disruption of the newly-created Plantagenet consolidated school district took a new turn this morning, when Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, called in consultation officials of the new school board and representatives of the dissatisfied district of Mill Bay, now almost a unit in demanding cancellation of the order-in-council which erected the consolidated school.

The meeting was attended by E. W. Bomford, chairman, and J. Anstie, secretary, representing the new Plantagenet school board, with H. B. Wingate White and A. L. Meredith, representing the dissatisfied ratepayers of Mill Bay school district.

The meeting was primarily called in an effort to attain accord between factions and avert the necessity of reference to a judge of the legality of the steps which preceded consolidation.

CITY IS SUED FOR DAMAGES

Chinese Cobbler Described Being Flooded Out of Government Street Cellar

The troubles of Low Mon, a Chinese cobbler of 1804 Government Street, when a city water main burst and flooded his cellar at an early hour on Sunday, April 8 last, were told in County Court before Judge Lampman this morning, in trial of his action for damages against the city of Victoria.

On the witness stand, Low Mon described being awakened by the roar of rushing water, which he discovered had half filled his cellar at that time and was still pouring in. Witness said he ran to his neighbor, Hing Lee, who after a hasty inspection of his own cellar, telephoned for help. Together the two watched the water pouring out of the premises of Low Mon, after the cellar had been filled to the ceiling.

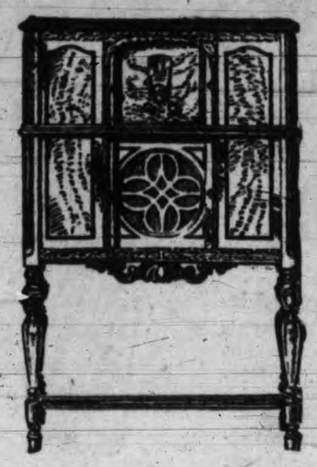

In time a policeman arrived, continued Low Mon, and a crowd. City waterworks officials might have been present, but he did not know them by sight. Later in the day a fire engine pumped his cellar out. Cleaning up after the break had interrupted his business for the best part of a week, said witness, claiming $200 in general damages, and $430.80 in special damages for loss of household and personal effects. Low Mon was under cross-examination at the luncheon recess.

W. C. Moresby, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and H. A. Maclean, K.C., with H. S. Pringle for Victoria City.

Deep Sea and Coastwise Transportation

Victoria to Welcome Nine Steamers Worth $30,000,000 Next Year

Five Coastal Steamers and Four Deep-sea Passenger Liners Will Arrive Here Within Next Twelve Months for Service From Victoria; Three Ships for Canadian National, Three for Canadian Pacific, and Three for Nippon Yusen Kaisha.

Victoria will welcome nine new steamers valued at approximately $30,000,000 during the next twelve months. Four of these are deep-sea passenger liners for service on the Pacific between North America and Orient ports, and five of them are for coastal runs betwen Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Prince Rupert and Alaska.

Three of the ships, valued at $1,500,000 each are for the Canadian National Steamships, two of them, valued at $1,000,000 each, are for the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R., three for the Nippon Yusen fleet are building at a cost of $5,000,000 each, and the new Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan at a cost of $8,000,000.

BERTHS AND DORMITORIES

The first ships of this fleet to arrive here will be the Princess Elizabeth and the Princess Joan for the Canadian Pacific night run between Victoria and Vancouver. Both these ships will be launched on the Clyde, where they are now building at the Fairfield plant, early next year and are scheduled to arrive here in March and April. They will go into service on the night run early in June. Both ships will have large and commodious accommodation for a large number of night travelers, as well as for 1,500 day passengers. There will be more than 500 berths and a special feature of the new ships will be dormitories, where berths may be had for a moderate price. They will supply a long-needed want, as the travel between Victoria and Vancouver for the last several years has been exceptionally heavy, and at times there have not been enough berths for all the passengers. On holiday week-ends it has been necessary to put sometimes as many as four extra steamers on the run.

SPEEDY SHIPS

The other coast boats are the Canadian National steamers Prince Henry, Prince Robert and Prince David. The first of these, the Prince Henry, is scheduled to enter service between Vancouver and Alaska on July 3. The other two steamers are for service between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle and, while no schedule has yet been released, it is expected they will be ready for service early in June. The three ships are now building in England and will be launched early in the new year. They will arrive on the coast early in the spring. Capt. Neddon, now of the Prince George, and Capt. Donald of the Prince Rupert, veteran masters in the Canadian National service on this coast, will bring two of the ships to Victoria by way of the Panama Canal. The three of them will be the last word in modern marine architecture and will have accommodation for more than 1,000 passengers. They will be speedy ships, the Prince Henry being scheduled to make the round trip between Vancouver and Skagway in seven days.

JAPANESE SHIPS

The deep-sea liners are the Canadian Pacific vessel Empress of Japan, and the N.Y.K. liners Hikawa Maru, Hiye Maru and Heian Maru. They are due here next year on May 28, September 3 and October 29 respectively. The first of the three ships was launched in Japan a short time ago, while the other two will take the water shortly. The three of them will be sister ships of 11,000 gross tons, powered with modern motors. Each ship will be 535 feet in length, with a sixty-foot beam and a forty-one foot depth. They will have accommodation for eighty first cabin passengers, seventy tourist cabin and 140 third cabin passengers. They will have a sixteen knot speed and will cut the voyage between Victoria and Yokohama by two days, making the voyage in twelve days instead of the fourteen days as at present.

LUXURIOUS SHIP

The new Empress of Japan will be one of the finest and most luxurious ships afloat, and will certainly be the finest in service on the Pacific Ocean. She will be launched on the Clyde on December 17 next and will arrive here on her maiden voyage on August 29 by way of the Suez Canal, India and Orient ports. She will be 25,000 tons and will have a sea speed of twenty-one knots, which will materially reduce the present running time of nine days between Victoria and Yokohama. There will be accommodation for a large number of passengers in first, second, third and steerage compartments. The first and second class accommodation will be magnificent, and even luxurious. The public rooms will surpass anything of the sort now on the Pacific, while the deckroom and playing space will be immense and comparable to the largest liners afloat.

C.N. SCHEDULE REMAINS SAME

Steamers Will Provide Twice-weekly Service to Northern Ports All Winter

Vancouver, Nov. 6—The Canadian National Steamships will continue to sail two boats weekly between Vancouver, Prince Rupert and other coastal ports and will not cut the service down to one boat a week after November 17, as previously announced, according to R. Creelman, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg, who is in Vancouver.

The Prince George will be taken out of the service and sent into drydock on November 17 for the usual winter overhauling to prepare her for the 1930 service, but she will be replaced by the Prince Charles, which, with the Prince Rupert, will continue the Monday and Thursday sailings from Vancouver, which constitute the existing schedule.

The decision to continue the two boats in service after the middle of November is a departure from the practice hitherto observed and is one arrived at by reason of the exceptional value of passenger and freight traffic offering.

It is many years since coastal freight and passenger traffic was maintained at as high a level as at the moment, officers of the Canadian National Steamships say, and the volume cannot be adequately cared for by only one sailing per week.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

B.C. TIES FOR CHINA RAILWAYS

Initial Order For 500,000 Placed For Rebuilding of Shanghai-Nanking Line

Hankow-Canton Railway to Be Completed With British Boxer Indemnity Funds

China has placed an initial order with a British Columbia company for 500,000 ties to be used in the reconstruction of the Shanghai and Nanking Railway, according to Floyd Carman, mining engineer of Shanghai, who arrived in Victoria by the liner President Lincoln from the Orient.

The Chinese Government is anxious to test the lasting qualities of the B.C. fir sleeper and this material will be largely used in the relaying of tracks in the modernization of Chinese Government railways.

BOXER MONEY

The Chinese Government, Mr. Carman says, is planning to complete the Hankow-Canton Railway with funds received from the British Boxer indemnity.

Realising that communications are necessary to the development of China the Nationalist Government is concentrating on railways and highways. Over 3,000 miles of roads have already been built in Kwangsi Province and other important highway undertakings are being planned, Mr. Carman states.

EXTRA SHIPS FOR HOLIDAY

Princess Norah, Princess Maquinna and Princess Royal For Service Thanksgiving

For the expected heavy traffic between Victoria and Vancouver over the coming week-end when people will travel to spend the Thanksgiving holiday in the respective cities, officials of the British Columbia Coast Service have arranged extra night boats each way.

Saturday night from Vancouver to Victoria, in addition to the Princess Alice, the regular steamer, the Princess Norah will also be in service. Both ships will arrive here Sunday morning. Sunday night there will be only the two regular steamers, one each way.

On Monday there will be extra boats from both Victoria and Vancouver. The Princess Maquinna will sail from Vancouver at midnight on Monday for Victoria in company with the Princess Alice, while the Princess Royal will be an extra boat from Victoria on Monday night with the Princess Adelaide.

Extra service has also been arranged between Vancouver and Nanaimo for the week-end, as in the past large numbers of people have chosen motoring between Victoria and Vancouver by way of the Up-island point. The Princess Elaine will make two round trips between Vancouver and Nanaimo on Monday, leaving Nanaimo on the second return voyage at 8.30 o'clock in the evening. She will leave Vancouver at 10 o'clock in the morning and at 5.45 o'clock in the afternoon on regular schedule.

PLANES GO TO VICTORIA ISLAND TO FLY McALPINE PARTY SOUTH

northern coast of Canada, the eight refugees are waiting. Secure in the comfort of the Hudson's Bay Company's post, they have flashed out meagre radio messages to their friends and relatives. They told of weeks of wandering after their two planes had been forced down through lack of fuel; of discovering roving Eskimos and of their trek over the sea ice to Cambridge Bay and safety.

SEARCH HEADQUARTERS CLOSED

By to-morrow night the search headquarters of the Dominion Explorers at Winnipeg will have been closed down. The office whence activities of a score of hunt planes were directed during six weeks of anxiety for the lost men has completed its task. Work of bringing the McAlpine crew south from Cambridge Bay is to be directed by Captain G. S. Blanchet, commander of the four planes working out of Burnside. Both Thayer Lindsley and H. R. Noseworthy of the Dominion Explorers Ltd., will leave Winnipeg to-night for Toronto, whence all communication with the north henceforth will be carried on.

Probably to-day the trio of Blanchet machines will push on to Cambridge Bay to pick up the newly-found explorers. Their return trip is expected to be made station, Burnside River, Baker Lake by way of the Bathurst Inlet radio and Churchill. From Churchill it will be possible to travel by rail to the Pas, Man., and thence south.

Undamaged but not equipped with skis the McAlpine seaplanes probably will not be brought south from Melbourne Island, at Dease Strait, this winter.

Personnel of the rescue crew en route to Cambridge Bay was not indicated in Captain Blanchet's message from Bathurst. Undoubtedly Roy Brown and William Spence, with whom Captain Blanchet conducted the greater portion of his search flying, will pilot two of the machines. Either Andy Cruickshanks or H. Hollick-Kenyon, both stationed at Burnside, will pilot the third.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Reports were received here yesterday that the Luckenbach Steamship Company is contemplating increasing its fleet of steamers plying in the intercoastal trade from twelve to seventeen vessels, and speeding up its schedule from seven to five days. The new vessels to be added to the service are the Susan Luckenbach, and four vessels now operating in the gulf service of the Luckenbach company. A definite announcement is expected to be made Thursday, when M. J. Wright, Pacific Coast manager of the line, returns from a trip to Seattle.

The former Shipping Board freighter West Ally, purchased by the McCormick Steamship Company, is now being reconditioned at Philadelphia, the local offices of the company announced yesterday.

The vessel was purchased for $171,000 and the cost of repairs is expected to run up to several thousand dollars.

Nachman Inner-spring Mattress

We are often asked what are those spring filled mattresses? They are a mattress filled with springs, just soft enough to conform to the shape of the body, allowing the spine which is the centre of the nervous system, to lie straight, which means utmost nerve rest as well as bodily comfort. These springs are covered top and bottom with a layer of springy white felt, the whole being covered in the very best of tickings with air vents all round the edge, making it extremely sanitary. Doctors are strongly recommending this mattress for nervous patients, or for those who have much nervous strain in their daily occupations. TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

WHEAT SUPPLY SHOWS BIGGER CARRY OVER NOW

Chicago, Nov. 6 (Associated Press)—In commenting on the wheat market situation a Chicago trade authority says the United States visible supply can decrease 4,000,000 bushels per week between January 1 and July 1, and still leave 90,000,000 bushels on the latter date.

There was no milling demand of consequence yesterday for grain in store. World shipments of wheat for the last week were small at 9,727,000 bushels, compared with 21,241,000 bushels last year. North America cleared 6,505,000 bushels. Supplies on ocean passage were reduced 2,512,000 bushels, making the total 39,016,000 bushels, compared with 50,332,000 bushels last year.

Stocks of wheat at Liverpool increased 2,584,000 bushels last week and are 7,760,000 bushels, compared with 1,328,000 bushels last year. Stocks of wheat at Fort William and Port Arthur increased 1,156,000 bushels and are 55,846,000 bushels, compared with 39,659,000 bushels last year. Private cables showed a tendency to raise estimates on the Argentine wheat crop.

Nat C. Murray cables Clement Curtis from Buenos Ayres: "Wheat prospects improved last two weeks, due to favorable weather now unless adverse future outcome likely above forecast of 224,000,000 bushels."

J. E. Bennett Co.—The market seems in need of board constant export demand if wheat prices are to be maintained.

Uhlmann Grain Co.—With an increase in the visible and the almost certainty that reported export sales of wheat and flour were largely exaggerated, lower grain prices are looked for.

Bartlett, Frazier—We see no change in fundamental conditions in wheat, and do not expect the decline in corn to go far.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, Nov. 6.—Wheat: Market was very heavy again to-day, with prices breaking over two cents from the previous close. Offerings were heavy at times, with the local pit crowd and commission houses liquidating long wheat and a certain amount of short selling, and it appeared as though everybody had become tired of the long side of the market, although the market recovered over one cent from the extreme break near the close with shorts taking profits.

There was some fair buying early which was said to be against export sales worked overnight, but the volume was not believed to be large. The weakness in the stock market undoubtedly had considerable effect on the commodities market and Liverpool was extremely weak during the first part of the day, but made a good recovery to close only ⅛ to ¼ lower.

Only a small trade was passing in the cash market, but a little more interest was shown by American and Canadian mills and they were after 3 Northern and No. 5 wheat, but were not inclined to pay the prices asked for any volume. Spreads generally unchanged, with offerings light in all grades.

There is not likely to be any large business out of this market for the balance of the season, as holders of grain in the east are determined to sell what they have there before making new shipments from the head of the lakes.

The foreign demand for wheat is very disappointing, although it has shown a little improvement the last week and this is the main factor in the market at present, as North American supplies are tremendous. See little hope of any permanent upturn to prices at the present time. Bulges will take place from time to time as the market becomes oversold, and believe these should be taken advantage of to sell wheat.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Wheat—Winnipeg reports stating the Pool still has 1928 wheat unsold, and in consequence could not make final payment, with the drastic decline in stocks, caused further declines in wheat to-day. It must be borne in mind that prices are again down close to the level at which the Farm Board will loan freely, which should be a stabilizing influence.

The seaboard reported export sales of 1,000,000 following sales of 2,000,000 bushels yesterday. Cash sales were good, with the sale of 28,000 bushels, with spot basis firm. Primary receipts in this country were light and the Canadian movement is extremely small, but as clearances continued light the small movement has little effect.

Prices are off ten cents or more from the recent top and, barring further unsettlement due to the stock market, we think the market is likely to be two-sided here for the time being. There was a charter for 250,000 bushels to go to Buffalo.

Corn—Net declines in corn were not extensive, there being a good demand on the dips, and there was considerable short covering. Weakness in wheat and stocks was the main factor. The cash demand was good, with sales of 110,000 bushels, with sales to arrive only 23,000 bushels.

Weather conditions favorable over the belt, being clear and cold as a rule. Look for trading market pending more settled conditions. Cash corn basis unchanged to one higher.

VANCOUVER RESISTS BIG BREAK IN EAST

Vancouver, Nov. 6 (Miller, Court Leased Wires)—Active trading continues in Grandview, George Copper, Noble Five, Golconda, Reeves-McDonald.

What surprised those on the trading floor here to-day was the fact that although the New York and Eastern Canadian markets broke sharply, the B.C. mines list was firm, with prices holding and offerings drying up.

"A lower market in New York to-day tends to dislodge stock from the hands of weak holders, who purchased their stock during the first part of last week at lower levels and are frightened of a repetition of the crash of last week," Miller, Court and Co., say to-day.

"We would recommend that such holders forget the market for the next week until the present conditions have been adjusted. Just when the upward move is likely to be recommenced, it is impossible to forecast, inasmuch as it will be governed largely by the action of the big markets."

In refined the demand continues of a hand-to-mouth character, with prices unchanged at 5.35 for fine granulated.

C.P.R. EARNINGS DROP $6,800,000 DURING OCTOBER; MONTREAL STOCKS NEAR OLD LOWS

Montreal, Nov. 6.—Canadian Pacific gross earnings for October totaled $20,041,000, compared with $26,904,000 in October, 1928.

(By B.C. Bond—James Richardson)

Montreal, Nov. 6—Secondary reaction took place on the Stock Exchange to-day, bringing a number of the leaders within striking distance of last week's low.

Tired and discouraged holders were offering their stock in good volume and buying was only available at recessions, due to investors and traders following advice which was fairly general in the street, namely, not to reach for stocks, but on a scale down to buy them.

SIX MONTHS' HOLD

To-day's setback was of an orderly nature and it is considered probable that a good deal of investment buying is quietly taking place, and such purchases of moderate proportion made on conservative basis in sound stocks would be productive of satisfactory results for a direct hold of six months or more.

Brazilian dropped four points to 42.

BOND TRADING PACE SLACKENS

New York, Nov. 6.—Bond prices held steady to-day as the pace of trading slackened in contrast to the busy Monday sessions. Most of the advances in the list of high-grade investment securities were of fractional proportions, and such recessions as appeared were nominal.

The best tone developed in the low coupon rails, with Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s, Atchison general 4s, New York Central debenture 4s and Union Pacific 4s assuming the leadership on gains that averaged about half a point. Some of the higher coupon carriers enjoyed advances of a point or slightly less, but the buoyancy of Monday's market was lacking. United States Government issues eased off slightly.

Industrials showed few changes of importance. Purity Bakeries 5s, Armour 5½s, Youngstown Sheet and Tube 5s, Chile Copper 5s and Republic Iron and Steel 5½s were marked up fractionally. Oil bonds were firm. Trading in utilities was dull.

Sagging stock prices depressed the convertible group. American Telephone 4½s sold about 10 points. International Telephone 4½s lost 5, Commercial Investment Trust 5½s and American International 5½s fell one each and American I. G. Chemical 5½ tumbled 2½. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s lost 12 on small transactions.

The foreign list was steady, French Republic 7s, Italian 7s and Japanese 4s gained half a point each.

NICKEL 31.00, NORANDA 32.00, AS STOCKS IN TORONTO DROP DOWN AGAIN

(By Stobie, Forlong & Co.)

Toronto, Nov. 6—Influenced by sharp reaction in the price of International Nickel and Noranda shares, and by weak tone of New York market, a continuation of liquidation was apparent on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange to-day.

The market showed signs of weakness at the opening of the session and there was little improvement in evidence before the close.

This downward movement is attributed to profit-taking, which was more or less anticipated after the sensational recovery of the recent sessions and the usual month-end adjustment. It is not expected to continue for any length of time.

With the exception of the two leaders, losses were in most cases from 5 to 10 cents. Nickel and Noranda were the heaviest traders. International Nickel opened with first sale 50 cents down at 37.50 and, under heavy selling pressure, sold down to a low of 31.00 and closed 32.05. At this low level it is anticipated stock will be quickly accumulated.

Noranda closed 32.00 from an opening at 35.50.

Losses in the Lindsley issues were not heavy. Sudbury Basin attracted the most activity from an opening at 4.55 to a close of 5.15. Ventures showed evidence of recovery at the close of the session at 4.35. Falconbridge closed down at 7.25. Sherritt Gordon closed 4.25.

Other mining issues showing losses from 5 to 20 cents were Abana, Amulet, Bwana McKubwa, Hudson's Bay, Lake Shore, McIntyre, Pend Oreille, Teck Hughes and Base Metals.

SOME OILS STRONG

Oils showed a firmer tone than mines to-day.—Losses were returned in some issues but in small proportions. Nordon and East Crest were the star performers of the day showing strong tendencies. Nordon closed with a net gain of 5 at 1.50. East Crest was strong at 1.30. Strength was also noted in Commonwealth, Sterling, Associated and Acme. A. P. Consolidated closed 2.45, Associated 1.50, Ajax 1.63, Commonwealth 80 cents, C. and E. 83.00, Dalhousie 1.75, Home 12.25, Mayland 2.50, Sterling Pacific 1.10, Southwest Petroleum 1.40 and Calmont 1.40.

NO SERIOUS BREAKS IN CALGARY OILS DESPITE BIG DROPS IN EASTERN MARKETS

(By Miller, Court Leased Wire)

Calgary, Nov. 6.—It is officially announced that the Calgary Stock Exchange will be closed Saturday and Monday, Nov. 9 and 11.

Calgary, Nov. 6.—Oil stocks on the Calgary Stock Exchange to-day were slightly reactionary, the softness being induced by the weak New York and eastern Canadian markets.

None of the breaks were serious, however, and were in the nature of trading levels.

Freehold No. 1 is drilling harder formation in the north end of the field and is believed to be nearing the Home sands at close to 4,400 feet. No 2 is drilling steadily at 3,740 feet.

East Crest No. 1 is ready to start in the cement. It is standing at 4,322 feet, ten feet in the lime and is ready to go on with the new hydraulic rotary, circulating hot oil.

Mercury No. 1 is at 4,220 feet, after striking a quantity of oil in the Dalhousie sands yesterday. No. 2 is at 3,502 feet and in the Dakotas.

At Miracle, the hole has been cleared of all obstructions and everything is in readiness to run surface casing and cement.

Sterling Pacific is at 4,634 feet, 100 feet of new hole being made in the Lower Kootenays since last Friday.

NEW GREETINGS BY WIRE ARE MARGIN CALLS

Telegraph Companies Supply Form Records For Brokers

New York, Nov. 6.—The telegraph companies, well-known already for their efforts to do people's thinking for them by supplying appropriate sentiments for every possible occasion from Mother's Day to Yom Kippur, have outdone themselves.

During the agonizing moments on Wall Street the last few days brokers have had to stop and think of a suitable phrasing of a demand for more margin from a customer who has probably already pawned the family jewels and can't raise it.

The Postal Telegraph has been doing it for them. Brokers have their choice of several types of messages, some tactful and others right to the point. Only the address and the amount of the margin demanded remains to be filled out by the sender. For example:

WALL STREET GREETING

"Your account requires dollars more margin, which must be in our office before 10 a.m. or we will have to sell sufficient stock to properly margin the account."

Or if something a little less sudden is preferred, there is the following gentle warning:

"The market is having one of the severe breaks in its history. Prices on the floor are lower than those on the tape. For your protection we strongly urge that margin account be substantially and promptly increased without awaiting further advance from us. Customers with available needs should take advantage of this break and buy good securities."

The Postal Telegraph is mostly interested in speeding up transmission of the great volume of messages flowing out of Wall Street. Only the number of the form message and a few words are sent under the system.

The deluge of selling orders and calls for more margin so taxed Western Union that it had messenger boys delivering telegrams in a fleet of taxicabs hired specially for the rush. Motorcycles were also pressed into service.

The ordinary city staff of 2,300 messenger boys was augmented by 50 per cent. At the height of the trading calls began to come in from brokerage house for more telegraph blanks, and a Western Union truck, loaded with 500,000 of them, made a grand tour of the financial district.

CABLE TRAFFIC HIGHER

Western Union cable traffic to and from Europe was 6 per cent greater yesterday than the previous high record. What Western Union officers regard as a remarkable record was made when one of the duplex cables to London, with an operator sending from each end, carried 785 messages in sixty minutes. This meant that each operator sent out a message every nine seconds.

Trading activities resulted in the heaviest telephone traffic recorded. The five exchanges in the Wall Street district, serving more than 95,000 telephones, handled 2,107,000 calls in one day. This was an increase of 51.3 per cent over a normal day's traffic, according to the New York Telephone Company, which rushed operators to the lower Manhattan exchanges to meet the emergency.

The International Telephone and Telegraph Company (the Postal system) reported cable commercial messages between New York and London and Paris had mounted to new records in the last week.

Trail Zinc Plant Starts Mercury Arcs

Trail, Nov. 6.—First unit of a battery of three mercury arc rectifiers have been cut in at the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Corporation's zinc plant, producing zinc from mercury arc rectifiers for the first time in the history of metallurgy. The battery, when completed, will be the largest installation of its kind in the world. Its total cost will be $500,000.

Market Tumbles Again As Bad News Begins To Come Out

New York, Nov. 6.—At the close this afternoon the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 232.19 off 25.82 points for the day, and for twenty rails at 145.75 off 10.47 points for the day.

To-day's break brings the industrial market down near the extreme lows of the big break, which at the close of Tuesday of last week, the low day, stood at 230.07 for thirty industrials, and 151.58 for the twenty rails. To-day thus sees the rail averages at a new low.

Selling to-day was described as general liquidation, and it was claimed that short selling was not unusually large.

Decrease of 45,000 cars in freight loadings, as compared with the preceding week, was one reason to explain weakness in the market.

At no time during the three-hour session did the active stocks display evidence of strength, but they were under pressure from the outset.

Nickel opened off nearly four points at 35¼, and then broke to the 32 level.

Air Reduction broke from 125 to 100½.

New York, Nov. 6.—Stocks tumbled again to-day, with many of them breaking to new lows under the lows of that terrible Tuesday of a week ago—and much to the mystification of the millions of traders who do not know what a bear market is, and who have been trying to buy stocks during the last two or three weeks, instead of selling them at every opportunity.

"Most of those who have been buying stocks, thinking they were cheap and would have to go up, have overlooked the fact that a bear market lasts more than a few weeks and that this one may have a long time to go yet before it will be safe to buy and hold," said one big Wall Street trader to-day.

COPPER CUT COMING

Some indication of what will be facing the market in the coming few months was given by the Standard Statistics Service to-day, when it came out openly and forecast that with production overtaking the decreasing demand, copper metal prices would be cut about the end of the year from the 18-cent level, where they have been stabilized for some time. It pointed out that this is very bearish on copper stocks and specially advised against the purchase of any copper stocks at the present time or for some time to come until the bottom is reached in the copper metal market.

Lead prices were cut fifteen points to 6.35 cents a pound.

STEEL ON DOWN TREND

In the same way Standard Statistics also pointed out that the steel industry is on the down grade now, and that earnings in the current quarter will be "considerably lower."

PRICE CUTTING ON

Indication of what big business is now fearing has been given in the price-cutting that has set in, with Ford, Radio Corporation, Atwater Kent, Majestic, Colonial, a big rug manufacturer and other manufacturers jumping in to be first to cut prices.

These moves are giving holders of common stocks the shivers as to what earnings statements are going to be six months from now. Most of them have been buying stocks on earnings of six months ago, instead of stopping to think that the value of their stock to them would have to be based on the earnings six months from now. The bears have been looking ahead, while the bulls have been looking behind.

STEEL OUTLOOK ANALYZED

Dealing with the steel situation, Standard Statistics analysis says:

"Following the most active nine months in the history of the industry, the production of steel during the recent weeks has shown a decided decline from the capacity levels of the late summer. The trend has now swung below that of a year ago for the first time in 1929.

"With the decline in output, prices of steels and steel products have shown considerable weakness during recent weeks and are now down to approximately the levels of a year ago. The combined effect of reduced production and profit margins will result in considerably lower earnings during the current quarter.

"While realizing that considerable recovery from present panic levels might well be witnessed, the current trend of operations does not justify expectation of any extended period of rising quotations.

"We, therefore, do not recommend the majority of steel issues at this time as long term purchases. Bethlehem Steel appeals to use as probably the most favorably priced issue for long pull holding, both on the basis of present yield and future prospects. Other issues which might be held by the long term speculator, regardless of intermediate fluctuation, include: Gulf States, Inland, Republic and Youngstown."

"LOTS OF TIME TO BUY YET"

Wall Street Mirror to-day issued the following to its clients:

"Stocks are a purchase at a price, but not at the market. There is still a certain amount of distress selling to be accomplished and this very possibly will be spread over the next few weeks, rather than on any one day.

"While it is true there are a number of favorable factors in the situation, it cannot be said that they will have an immediate effect. One of the best things that can happen is to get the market off the front pages of the newspapers.

"Sound dividend paying issues are the first in order of purchase. When the market for this type has become rather bare, it will be time enough to think about going into the specialties. Stocks of companies which reflect the soundness of the nation, such as rails, coppers, steels, farm implements and oils are first line issues."

BIG DROP IN RAILWAY EARNINGS

Preliminary estimate of Great Northern Railway gross earnings for October shows a decrease of $4,000,000 from the $18,528,803 in October, 1928. According to Ralph Budd, president, the decrease is due to the light grain crop and the fact that farmers are holding their grain on farms.

Canadian Pacific earnings for October show a drop of more than $6,500,000 from the figures of October, 1928.

Hornblower & Weeks to-day issued the following:

"Last week's recovery movement so far outran the scope of real investment demand that it attracted profit-realizing sales, which were added to the current tremendous liquidation movement.

"We do not feel there is an immediate hurry to buy stocks except for long-range investment purposes. We prefer to keep trading accounts light in order to more clearly appraise the situation when it can be calmly surveyed."

"We would hesitate to be too anxious to buy on rallies," Frazier, Jelke & Co. say.

CURB STOCKS ARE HIT HARD TO-DAY

Electric Bond and Share broke from 81 to 65½, following its break of forty points last week.

Cities Service, which had come down from 68, tumbled to-day from 35 to 29¾.

CITIES SERVICE GETS 100,000 BARREL WELL

For holders of Cities Service stocks in this city, Christy, Hall and Co., to-day received the following message from Oklahoma about the new well struck there to-day by the company's operators. This well is flowing at the rate of 100,000 barrels a day, which compares with a total production of 102,000 from the whole of the Turner Valley for last month.

The message follows:

"The Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Cities Service Company which owns sixty-eight per cent of the stock, brought in yesterday the Thomas Fuzzel well No. 1, making at the rate of 100,000 barrels per day. The Oklahoma City newspaper headlines say it is the largest high gravity well in the world.

"The Cities Service Company through its subsidiary controls the entire structure in that field and the successful development of this pool will greatly increase the earning power of the company's petroleum division. The earnings of that division have been steadily growing owing to the fact that the Cities Service Organization in recent years has grown to be one of the large factors in the American Pertoleum industry.

Lead Price Cut; Copper May Follow

New York, Nov. 6.—The American Smelting & Refining Company to-day reduced the price of lead from 6.50 to 6.35 a pound.

Intimations were that a cut in copper metal prices below the eighteen-cent level would face the industry by the end of the year.

Rail Averages Now Back To Level of Last May

New York, Nov. 6 (B.C. Bond Corporation)—The market decline brought the rail averges of Dow Jones back to levels prevailing at the end of May.

The extent of the break from the high of early in September to the low of last week was approximately 37½ points. From the low, the recovery has been a little less than five points.

Below is presented a list of representative railway common stocks, most of them seasoned dividend issues, whose earnings make them attractive at the present time for semi-investment purposes.

One preferred issue is included, namely, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific—a stock which is entitled to dividends at the rate of $5 and it is possible that payments may be considered not later than next year.

Stock	Estimated 1929 Earnings	Div. Rate	Approx. Price
Atchison	$25.00	$10.00	244
Baltimore and Ohio	13.00	7.00	121⅝
Chgo. and Northwestern	8.50	4.00	85⅛
Chgo., Mil., St. P. and P. Pfd.	7.50	——	42⅞
Chgo., Rock Is. and Pac.	13.50	7.00	124
Erie	7.00	——	36½
Great Northern	11.50	5.00	101
Illinois Central	10.00	7.00	121½
Missouri, Kansas, Texas	4.50	——	74
N.Y., N.H. and Hart.	12.00	5.00	109½
Northern Pacific	8.50	5.00	93⅞
N.Y. Central	15.00	8.00	196
Pennsylvania	9.50	4.00	90
Southern Pacific	12.00	6.00	129½
Southern R.R.	12.00	5.00	140
Un. Pacific	22.00	10.00	235

"It seems to us as if railway managements are becoming somewhat more liberal in the matter of cash dividend payments," E. A. Pierce and Company say. "They have been noted for their extreme conservatism, but they now have back of them the O'Fallon decision, and anti-railroad agitation apparently is almost at the vanishing point."

Speculators Now Rush To Mortgage Autos

New York, Nov. 6.—How desperate has been the plight of those with small margin accounts in the stock market was revealed when a canvass of companies which lend money on automobiles showed an increase of 10 to 40 per cent in applications for loans during the past few days. The average loan on a car is $500.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—From 40 to 50 per cent increase in the number of applications for loans on automobiles is reported by various companies which lend money on automobiles and which do business in Montreal.

The Automobile Loan Corporation Limited, one of the principal firms specializing in this business, reported "40 per cent increase at least, both in number of applications and in the amounts advanced." This was confirmed by other lenders. Asked what was the average amount loaned, they were reluctant to make any definite statement, as it was difficult to arrive at an estimate without going through a good deal of bookkeeping and calculating. The amount depended entirely on the make and value of the car offered, they said.

But there were big expensive automobiles mortgaged to these firms as well as cheaper lines. Asked if any Rolls-Royces had been turned in for loan, one lender said, "Well, not just in the past few days." But he had had customers in that class coming in to mortgage $15,000 and $20,000 cars at times.

"Bottom Is Uncertain" Says Investment Expert

New York, Nov. 6.—"We do not pretend to say that the bottom has been reached, but the market for selected investments stocks is now in a buying zone, and the investor need not hesitate to buy stocks that show a reasonable income return at present prices and show promise of maintaining their earning power over a period of years."

So Luther L. Blake, president of the Standard Statistics Company, whose publications have been consistently bearish in recent weeks, to-day appraised the stock market situation from the standpoint of the man with money to invest.

"To the speculator," he continued, "the only thing one can say is that many stocks are cheap if he has the ability to carry them through."

General business, he added, is on a sounder basis than in any previous time of crisis in Wall Street.

A BUSINESS BOOM

"There is," said he, "nothing in the picture taht now indicates a major depression in business. The fact is that we have been having a business boom of the widest proportions. Over a long term of years the average increase in the volume of goods produced in the country has been 5 per cent a year. In 1928 the volume increased 9 per cent over 1927. Production for the first nine months of 1929 is 18 per cent above 1927.

"Since midsummer there has been a moderate recession. The first evidence of it came when building began to slow down and mortgage money was almost unobtainable. That was in late August and early September. Since then the volume of business has apparently been slowly declining. The present situation will tend to accentuate this for perhaps six months.

NO MONEY STRINGENCY

But this will not be another 1921. There is now no stringency of money for legitimate business.

"What has happened is that for a considerable period stock prices had been rising out of all proportion to earnings, which in the last analysis must be the determinant of prices. Thus, in the eighteen months up to September 14, when the stock market reached its peak, earnings advanced at an annual rate of about 20 per cent, while stock prices advanced at the rate of approximately 40 per cent a year.

MARKET VS. PRODUCTION

"For a considerable time money has been going into the market instead of into production. This is shown by the deposits subject to cheque in Federal Reserve Banks. In 1921 there was $670,000,000 of such deposits. By 1928 this had grown to $5,250,000,000. On October 7 last this vast reserve had shrunk to $2,750,000,000. The money had largely gone into the stock market in the form of call loans. The volume is practically intact.

"This situation is not comparable to 1921 for several reasons. In the first place there has been no excess accumulation of stocks of goods in the hands of manufacturers or jobbers, nor has there been commodity price inflation. In the next place the corporations which have been lending to retailers in the Street and whose vast balances are intact are able to finance themselves. Again, money which has been loaned by outsiders in Wall Street is now available for general corporation and mercantile purposes.

"The most of the loans in the Street have not come from the banks but from corporations—so-called loans 'for the account of others.'

"Now the banks will undoubtedly begin to take over these loans, leaving this money free for investments. There is no place for it to go but the investment market, in which there now appears for the first time in months the yield incentive.

"So far as the market itself is concerned, we cannot tell how far it will go. No one can tell how long a stampede will last."

Cities Service Holders Here Are Assured

Reassurance for holders here of Cities Service stocks was received from New York to-day by Christy, Hall & Co., in a telegraphic message from G. N. Marshall of the firm, who has been there for the last three days investigating conditions, following the big market break.

"Few hours spent with statistical department conclusively proves Cities Service has never sold at more than fifty per cent of its intrinsic value," Mr Marshall telegraphed. "The apparent complicated financial interweaving is really not so and its admirably conservative but far-sighted policy controls the whole situation. Earnings are increasing with rapidity which renders the stock probably the best investment available."

Latest Reports On Eastern Mines

Toronto, Nov. 6 (Meharey, Ros Service)—Rhyolite Rouyn, on which Noranda recently secured complete working options, has been making steady, but inconspicuous effort under the latter's eye. Some five or six diamond drill holes have already been sunk, and while core has been mineralized, there is nothing new to announce. Rhyolite Rouyn with 1,300 acres, lies on the northwest of Waite Montgomery, and also adjacent to Amulet, where the latter has found its new north "F" ore body. Dupont Mines hold 560,000 shares of Rhyolite. The drilling is taking place some 900 feet away from Waite's 11,000,000 high grade deposit, from which 1,000 tons weekly shipments are being made direct to the Noranda smelter.

These familiar with Rouyn Camp are laying stress on the zone of mineralization, extending across a possibly thousand-foot valley, in which the Rhyolite is getting drilled. It is no doubt the finding of important new ore at 600-foot depth on the adjoining Waite to the west of its one big deposit prompted Noranda to take it under its wing. Under previous exploration it had reached surface copper showings.

The Waite Montgomery shaft aimed to 700-foot depth should reach its objective in December. Diamond drilling a few months ago indicated important ore possibilities in three ore bodies at between 500 and 650 foot depths.

Informed sources advise that the Litton holding-up operations of Consolidated Smelters on the McCarthy Webb Gold property in the Goureau field may be arranged in such a way that smelters can proceed with development planned. The McCarthy Webb is recognized as the district's pioneer and has been favorably looked upon by smelters for a period of extending back nearly eight years. They did perform some work there years ago. It is now said plans have reached such a stage that the Consolidated company is ready to place money in trust to be paid over to whichever of the contesting parties secures decision in the pending suit.

Wiltsey Coushlin controlled by Mentor Exploration Company, recently instituted a campaign of diamond drilling. It resulted in nothing particularly new, and while work has been temporarily halted, campaign of drilling is understood to be planned. Also lying east and across the lake from Noranda, its neighborly location provides food for thought, in addition to the fact that of a 3,000,000 share company, only slightly over half of the capital stock is issued.

Sladen Malaretic has a property in the Chibougamau District, reported adjoining that which has been held by Ventures Ltd., preparations are made for extensive exploration.

BIG BEND ROAD

Nelson, B.C., Nov. 6.—According to word received from W. K. Esling, M.P. for Kootenay West, who is at present at Ottawa, the Department of the Interior informed him the Big Bend road from Revelstoke to Golden would be completed by 1932. This is the understanding between the Provincial and Federal Governments. The Ottawa Government will build the east section of the road from Donald to Canoe River and the Provincial Government the stretch from Revelstoke to Canoe River.

TROUBLE LOOMS IN WHEAT POOL

Winnipeg, Nov. 6. — The Free Press to-day publishes the following from Regina:

"The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool in annual conference here endorsed the action of selling agencies in not selling their wheat this year, which, they think, is justified by condition of crops in most of the wheat growing countries.

"The final payment on the 1928 crop has not been paid. This the pool attributes to the large supplies carried over on August 14. Pool members have only been paid $1.18, on the basis of No. 1 Northern at Fort William, and there is undoubtedly dissatisfaction, as the conference went on record as not being favorable to the policy of holding wheat back from year to year."

BAKER'S COCONUT

The Avenging Parrot

By Anna Austin, author of "The Black Pigeon," "Rival Wives," etc.

©1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

"Nut!" Strawn dismissed her wearily. "Let's amble down the street and surround a flock of ice cream sodas. I'll go nuts myself if this heat wave don't break."

Over the sodas Strawn became almost flatteringly reminiscent of his twenty-five years on the force, and it was nearly twenty minutes atfer twelve when Dundee entered the still unlocked front door of the Rhodes House and tiptoed up the stairs.

A pencil of light under the old woman's door indicated she was still awake. He knocked softly. There was no answer. He knocked again and listened intently. The second floor was very quiet. The only sound at the moment was the slow, steady tapping of Bert Magnus's typewriter.

Dundee knocked again, more loudly. When there was still no answer, a sweat not caused by the heat broke out on his face. Tentatively he tried the knob, sure, however, that the door was locked. To his surprise it yielded. He entered the room.

Two or three minutes later a white-faced young man staggered out of that room, lurched down the stairs like a drunken man.

"And they sent me to protect her! Me!" he groaned.

CHAPTER V

"Sure it's murder?" Lieutenant Strawn asked brusquely. Gone was the weary, cynical imbiber of ice cream sodas, and in his place the keen-eyed manhunter.

"Strangled—choked to death with her own scarf." Bonnie Dundee answered grimly. In those eight or ten minutes after his horrible discovery and while he awaited the arrival of his chief, the inexperienced young detective had got hold of his nerves—to a decent extent at least. He had been guilty of a choked voice and tears of rage when he had broken the news to Mrs. Rhodes, who now stood near him in the front hall of the boarding house.

"You found her, of course? Did you touch anything?" Strawn demanded, motioning for the group of uniformed and plainclothes policemen to come in from the porch.

"I closed and locked the window, without touching the frame, and locked the door," Dundee answered. "I listened to her heart, too, of course. She's—quite dead."

"Will it relieve your feelings any to say 'I told you so'?" Strawn asked gruffly. Then, before his young subordinate could reply, he turned to the landlady: "Mrs. Rhodes, Mr. Dundee is a detective. He came here to investigate Mrs. Hogarth's letter to the police commissioner that her life and money were in danger. No one but yourself is to know of Mr. Dundee's official status. May I depend on you?"

Mrs. Rhodes dabbed at the tears in her eyes, then answered with a dignity that, in other circumstances might have been comical, because of the fact that her hair was rolled on old-fashioned kid curlers and her body was wrapped in a skimpy kimono.

"I know how to keep a secret," she answered austerely. "Will you be staying on here then, Mr. Dundee?"

"Certainly. I like my new boarding-house, in spite of what has happened to-night."

"All right, Payne!" Strawn snapped, and a detective stepped forward. "I want you to go with Mrs. Rhodes to every boarder's room, arouse them if they are sleeping, and tell them to remain in their rooms until they're called for. If anyone has any information to give about the actual murder, bring him or her to me immediately. I'll be in Mrs. Hogarth's room. But leave the examination of the boarders to me. . . . Everyone in, Mrs. Rhodes?"

"I'm not sure of Miss Shepherd and Miss Barker," Mrs. Rhodes answered. "My husband is out. He left about eight o'clock and hasn't returned yet. I—don't know where he is. He's nearly always out in the evenings. And Tilda Brown, the chambermaid, who has a room on the third floor, got the evening off to go to a party. She had permission to be out till one o'clock and I'm pretty sure she hasn't come in yet."

When Detective Payne and Mrs. Rhodes had departed to carry out Strawn's orders, the chief of the homicide squad quickly detailed uniformed men to search the grounds, which occupied nearly half the block, and to watch the house for arrivals or attempted departures.

"And keep an eye on the porches and roof," Strawn cautioned, "though whoever did this thing has had ample time to get away, I suppose." He turned to Dundee: "The coroner, Dr. Price, is on his way. Ought to be here any minute now. Better give me the key. We'll go and have a look at the room before Price gets here."

They ascended the stairs, and, paying no attention to the excitement being caused by Payne and Mrs. Rhodes as they aroused boarders on the second floor, Strawn fitted the key in the lock of Mrs. Hogarth's door, taking care not to touch anything but the knob.

"Carraway, our fingerprint expert, will be along soon, and we don't want to gum up things for him," Strawn remarked in a low voice, just as the door swung open.

It was a fairly large and very comfortable room, except for the fact that the locked window made it stiflingly hot.

"Afraid the murderer would come back to the scene of his crime?" Strawn asked, as he strode to the window and opened it. A strong breeze, just beginning to blow, eddied the dotted Swiss curtains.

Dundee flushed, his eyes still averted from the thing in the chair before the desk.

"Partly that, and partly because I didn't want any excited boarder charging in here to see what it was all about," he explained, "but for another reason, too. I—well, I had a queer hunch that the parrot might be murdered, too."

"What?" Strawn ejaculated, incredulous of his young assistant's sanity.

"Well, you see, sir, that's a very remarkable bird. Seems to me to have almost superhuman intelligence. Picks up words more quickly than the average three-year-old child. Mrs. Hogarth was awfully proud of Cap't—showed him off to me with much glee."

"And you think the parrot may oblige us with the name and address of her murderer?" Strawn grinned wryly.

"I think—" Dundee began slowly, 'that Cap'n may repeate the last words the poor old lady ever spoke. If he does, they may be a name or a clue to the identity of the murderer. Of course he has been taught the names of most of the boarders—the old-timers, at least, and if it's one of those names he speaks, it won't help us much. Might mean a lot of nothing, but if he speaks a name or a word she hadn't taught him—"

"Fat chance!" Strawn dismissed the idea, his eyes roving about the room. "Robbery or attempted robbery is pretty evident, isn't it? Trunk open and contents scattered over the floor. Desk drawers pulled out and papers scattered. Closet door wide and clothes spilling out. Mattress dragged off the bed. Made a pretty thorough job of it, didn't he? Wonder if he found what he was looking for?"

The moment which Dundee had been dreading arrived. With the callousness of long experience, Lieut. Strawn approached the body of the murdered woman. Its great bulk, clad in a thin blue-and-white cotton dress, was slumped in a low-backed arm chair. The head, crowned with loosely-pinned, thick white hair, lolled grotesquely to one side, and about the neck, beneath three enormous chins, was tightly tied a black silk scarf, the ends hanging down from the knot in the back.

The body in the chair faced an old-fashioned mahogany desk, the leaf of which was lowered. The contents of the pigeonholes had been scattered widely, some of the papers cluttering the floor about the chair and desk.

"So this is Cap'n, eh?" Strawn asked matter-of-factly, and to Dundee's horror he clucked cheerfully to the bird which cowered on its perch. "Hello, Polly! Pretty Polly!"

The big green and yellow parrot made an angry effort to reach the detective's wagging finger with its beak.

"Seems pretty much ruffled, doesn't it?" Strawn asked. "Several feathers on the floor of the cage. Wonder if he knows his mistress is dead—murdered—and is as sore about it as you are, Dundee?"

Without waiting for a reply Strawn backed away, and stood behind the dead woman's chair, regarding the body intently. "You say that's her own scarf? Pretty hot weather for a scarf, isn't it?"

Dundee joined his superior, glad to put that horror-stricken dead face out of his sight for a while. "It's hers, all right. I noticed it this evening, thrown across the back of her chair. By George, Strawn I believe I know what the scarf was used for—before to-night. As a cover for the parrot's cage, to make it dark for him while the light was still on—"

"Then," Strawn interrupted, "if the cage had already been covered for the night when the murderer entered, and he snatched it off at the last minute to strangle the old woman with, it's pretty certain Cap'n was asleep when his mistress's last words were uttered—if any. He stood behind her to tie the knot, as you can see. It may be that she never saw her murderer at all, had no intimation that she was not alone and safe, until the scarf was thrown around her neck."

"That's right," Dundee admitted, ruefully. "But there's one thing that bothers me, chief. How did the door happen to be unlocked? Norma—Miss Paige—told me Mrs. Hogarth kept it locked, admitted no one until she knew who her visitor was. I myself saw her unlock that door three times this evening, and lock it after each visitor had entered. That rather looks as if her murderer was a member of this household, a person known to her, to whom she unlocked the door. . . . Of course," he reasoned aloud, frowning, "the murderer might have wanted us to think just that, and created the impression by unlocking the door before he fled—through the window."

"What's this?" Strawn demanded, returning to the desk and pointing to a thick, green-leather bound book, lying near the edge of the open leaf of the desk.

"Her diary," Dundee answered. "She was just about to write in it this evening when Miss Paige and I came to call on her. She remarked that it had been given her by Cora Barker as a Christmas present—"

There was a knock on the door. Strawn opened it.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Jumping Race

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

"What's the matter?" asked the Woozie Wolf of the Fuzzy Fox as the two Bad Chaps met in the forest one day.

"Matter with what?" asked the Fox, speaking sort of backward like.

"Matter with your nose," went on the Wolf. "Ha! Ha! Excuse me, but it does look so funny! All swelled!"

"Oh—my nose!" spoke the Fox, putting his paw to it. "That's some of Uncle Wiggily's doings."

"Do you mean to say you let that poor, little, old rabbit chap bash you on the nose? I'm surprised!" howled the Wolf.

"No, Uncle Wiggily didn't bash me," said the Fox. "It was a bouncing ball he has; one with a funny red face. Twice that ball bounced up and banged me on the nose."

"Why didn't you bat the ball and make a home run?" the Wolf wanted to know.

"Well, I made a home run all right," spoke the Fox, "and so would you if you had as sore a nose as I have. But I didn't think of batting the ball."

"You should have," chuckled the Wolf. "That would have scared Uncle Wiggily and maybe you could have caught him."

"Oh, I'll catch him anyhow!" growled the Fox.

"You will! How?" whispered the Wolf. "Let me in on the secret!"

"Well, it's going to be like this," whispered the Fox. "Uncle Wiggily will soon be coming along through the woods this way, and I'll step out from behind the bushes—"

"No! No! Not so fast!" spoke the Fox. "Listen."

The Wolf flapped his ears and said: "I don't hear anything but the wind blowing."

"I mean listen to me," went on the Fox. "I hadn't finished telling you the secret of how I am going to catch Uncle Wiggily. When he comes along I will step out from behind a bush and I will say, very politely:

"'Don't you want to have a jumping race, just for fun, Mr. Longears? Come on! Have a jumping race!' And he will say: 'All right, Mr. Fox, I will!' And we'll begin to jump."

"That's silly!" snarled the Wolf. "You know that rabbit can beat you in a jumping race."

"That's silly!" snarled the Wolf.

"I know he can, usually," admitted the Fox. "But not this time. Look here!" He showed the Wolf some sticky glue in a bottle. "I am going to spread this glue on the leaves where Uncle Wiggily will come down after he jumps," said the Fox. "His paws will get caught in the sticky leaves, all covered with glue, and then I can easily catch him and—"

"You needn't tell me any more!" chuckled the Wolf. "I know! After he is caught in the sticky leaves you and I will have him!"

"That's it!" snickered the Fox. "Now I'll spread the glue on the leaves over yonder, you hide behind that bush over there and I'll hide behind this one here, for I think Uncle Wiggily is coming."

It did not take the sly Fox long to make the leaves all sticky. And even Uncle Wiggily, bright as were his eyes, could not see where the glue had been poured.

Soon Mr. Longears came hopping through the woods. Out from behind the bush stepped the Fox and as soon as he saw him Uncle Wiggily was going to run home to his bungalow very fast. But the Fox politely said:

"Don't you want to have a jumping race, Mr. Longears?"

"With whom shall I jump?" asked Uncle Wiggily, speaking carefully.

"With me," barked the Fox, pretending he never wanted to eat a rabbit in his life. "I think I can beat you jumping."

"Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I have a bouncing ball at home who can jump farther than you!" At the mention of the ball the Fox felt of his nose. "But if you want a race I'm ready," said Mr. Longears. "Where shall I jump to?"

"Over on that pile of leaves," said the Fox. "I'll jump after you," and he pointed to the leaves all covered with glue.

"Ha! The trick is working!" whispered the hidden Wolf.

Uncle Wiggily twiddled his ears, swung his paws and gave a big jump straight for the glue-covered leaves. But as he jumped the wind suddenly blew and scattered all those sticky leaves far away so when Uncle Wiggily came down he landed on a dry spot of ground. He had made a big jump.

"Now let's see if you can beat that!" cried the rabbit, turning around. But as he did so he saw the Wolf coming out, for that Bad Chap thought the rabbit was stuck on the leaves. And then Mr. Longears knew it was a trick, so home he ran as fast as he could and he didn't get stuck at all. Oh, how disappointed the Fox and Wolf were! But it served them right, I think. Don't you?

And if the bath tub will let the coal shovel wash its face in talcum powder I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily's carrot pie.

German-U.S. Radio Pact Is Arranged

NBC and Deutsche Rundfunk Gesellschaft to Trade Programmes Across Atlantic

Final approval has been given by the Reichspost Ministerium of Germany for interchange of radio programmes between German stations and the National Broadcasting Company, it was announced to-day by M. H. Aylesworth, president of the NBC.

Starting immediately three experimental programmes will be directed to the NBC each day by the German Broadcasting Company (Deutsche Rundfunk Gesellschaft). Mr. Aylesworth has been advised.

These programmes will be sent through a short-wave station recently erected especially for that purpose at Konigswusterhausen. A definite effort toward working out a schedule for their reception and rebroadcasting will be continued until the signal quality is considered worthy of being placed on a regular broadcast basis for stations associated with the NBC, the executive said.

Programmes, when found available, will be of special nature, brinsing from Germany broadcasts typical of that nation, and sending to Germany programmes typically American. Descriptions of important events, speeches of prominent officials and others will be included.

APPROVED LAST SUMMER

Approval of the internaitonal radio alliance, proposed early last summer during a visit to Germany by Mr. Aylesworth and C. W. Horn, general engineer for the NBC, and furthered a few weeks later when a delegation of German broadcast officials came to the United States, was approved early in October.

Although formial approval by the German governmental body was necessary before definite arrangements for the exchange of programmes could be attempted, work on the short-wave transmitter was started immediately upon the return of the radio delegation from this country. Other new equipment is also being installed and it is hoped that after further experimentation a definite working schedule of exchanse programmes can be evolved, Mr. Aylesworth said.

A sample programme was received here from Holland on October 28 and aroused considerable favorable comment among local listeners.

DELEGATE WILL RETIRE

Washington, Nov. 6.—Dan Sutherland, delegate from Alaska, yesterday said his biographical sketch appearing in next Congressional Record would read, "Fifth and last term." He added: "I think that is plain enough that I am retiring when my term is over." Mr. Sutherland, Republican, was chosen delegate from Alaska in 1921. His present term will expire next year.

JOINS LABOR PARTY

London, Nov. 6.—The second recruit to the Labor Party from the Liberal ranks was announced yesterday. Captain G. M. Gerro-Jones, Liberal member of Parliament for South Hockney, wrote to Premier Ramsay MacDonald announcing his adherence to the Labor Party. Shortly after the general election the Liberals lost Sir William Jowitt, prominent jurist, to the Labor Party, and he is now Attorney-General.

Radio Messages Invite Prairie People to Visit Pacific Coast

Radio broadcasts from prairie stations have been adopted by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau in its drive for a record winter tourist season.

Twice a day from Station CKLC, operating from Red Deer, Edmonton and Calgary, a suitable message is broadcast with the weather and grain reports. At present the message flashed over the air reads: "Follow the birds to Victoria, B.C., where summer comes to spend the winter months. Descriptive literature and full information regarding Victoria can be obtained by writing to George I. Warren, Commissioner, Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, Victoria, B.C."

The message will be changed at different times. When the prairie cities are icebound the Victoria measure will tell them of the sunshine in Victoria. Inquiries are already being received and among those received this morning were some from Banff, Compeer, Ardemode and Hardisty.

The Close-mouthed Policy of Husbands

Finds Most Wives Resent Lack of Confidence

"Why Men Who Are Married to Women Who Are Sensible and Discreet and Loyal and Anxious to Be Real Helpmates Shut Them Out From Their Confidence Is One of the Unfathomable Mysteries That Women Grow Grey Trying to Solve"

IN A RECENT magazine article Mrs. Coolidge made the statement that she first learned that her husband "did not choose" to be President again from a Senator, and she adds that she is proud to be married to a man who feels free to make his decisions and act upon them without consulting her, or giving her any advance information about them.

Few women who have graced the White House have ever been more admired by the women of the country than has Mrs. Coolidge, but not many wives will follow her in this Patient Griselda attitude toward a husband.

For in that land of the free and emancipated feminist women feel that the ideal of marriage is not a despotic autocracy but a democracy, and that a man's wife should be his full partner and not his bond slave. They feel that since every decision that their husband makes affects their own lives just as much as it does his, they have a right to some say-so in the matter.

Of course, there are plenty of men who never tell their wives anything about their affairs and who never talk over with them any of their plans.

There are thousands upon thousands of wives who haven't the slightest idea how much money their husbands make, whether they are prosperous or not, what investments they have, nor whether, if their husbands should die, they would be left with a fortune or penniless, but none of these women that I have ever met were proud of being kept in the dark, or considered that her husband was giving her a fair deal.

If a man has picked out a congenial idiot for a wife, or if he has selected a wife who is a babbling fool who blabs everything she is told, it is understandable that he would not consult her about matters that she lacked the intelligence to comprehend, or confide to her business matters that he did not wish broadcast to the world. But why men who are married to women who are sensible and discreet and loyal and anxious to be real helpmates, shut them out from their confidence is one of the unfathomable mysteries that wives grow grey trying to solve.

Few things in family life cause more friction than this close-mouthed policy of the husband. For one thing its unjustness antagonizes the wife. She has put everything she is and has into Benedict & Co. and she considers that she has at least a right to know what the firm is doing. For another thing she is bound to consider it an insult that her husband does not consider her worth consulting, and that he holds her opinion of so little value that he isn't even interested in knowing what she thinks about things.

Much of the extravagance of which husbands complain is the direct result of their never talking over their business with their wives. Most women have a horror of debt and they would live within their income if they knew what their income was. But they don't. All they know is that their husbands always grouch over the bills, and since they are due for a scene, anyway, on the first of the month, they feel that they might just as well be hung for a sheep as a lamb, so they go on and buy what they want, and get things that they would never dream of purchasing if they knew that they couldn't afford them.

Moreover, the man who never tells his wife anything misses a lot of mighty good teamwork which she would do if he made her a party to his hopes and plans. Many a woman who frets and nags because she can't have a new car, or go to Europe, would be glad to do without the luxuries she craves if she knew that she was helping to save the money to enlarge the store, or pay for a gilt-edge bond.

And think of the tragedies that would be avoided, and that we all see happen so often, when the men who have never told their wives anything about their affairs die, and a woman who has been used to living luxuriously finds that they have spent everything her husband made as they went along, and that she is left a pauper at middle age. Or a poor, bewildered widow is left with her husband's business on her hands, of which she knows no more than a babe, and in her ignorance of all money matters is so helpless that she gets cheated out of her inheritance.

It may gratify a morbid vanity in a man to pose before his wife as an oracle who is capable of deciding every issue in their joint lives without calling upon her poor assistance, but he pays a costly price for his egotism, because it builds a wall between them. No woman can feel close to a husband who does not confide in her, who does not open his heart to her, who does not tell her of his every hope and plan and ambition, and thus make her feel that she is a part of himself. The only happy married couples are those who talk everything over endlessly together. Perhaps there wouldn't be so many bored husbands if men would only condescend to talk shop with their wives.

Furthermore, the man who never discusses things with his wife deprives himself not only of a valuable ally in saving and a helpmate in getting along and an interesting companion, but of a shrewd adviser. For while a woman may not understand the technicalities of a business deal, she often has an intuition that is so nearly occult that it enables her to go to the very heart of a matter that a man has been unable to reason out. And, anyway, for a man just to discuss a matter with his wife often clarifies it in his own mind and enables him to reach a wise decision.

Certainly any woman who is fit to be a man's wife is worthy to be taken into his confidence, and that is the way wives feel about it.

The dressing for a fruit salad should have a delicacy of flavor not necessary for meat and vegetable salads. The tartness should blend with the fruit, the salt and sugar should bring out the distinctive fruit flavor, the fat should be light and pleasantly noticeable and pepper and mustard should be used sparingly.

A particularly delicate dressing for fruit salad uses neither oil nor butter. A garnish of slightly salted whipped cream can be added to the prepared salad before serving.

Fruit Salad Dressing

Four tablespoons pear, peach or pineapple juice, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-3 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs.

Beat eggs slightly, just enough to blend whites and yolks. Add sugar, salt and fruit juices. Cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened. The mixture should coat a metal spoon like any custard. Cool quickly in a pan of cold water.

Cream Dressing

One egg, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup whipping cream.

Beat egg. Add lemon juice, salt, sugar and butter and cook in double boiler until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and chill. Fold in cream whipped until firm.

Whipped cream is often combined with mayonnaise to make a dressing for fruits. A few drops of lemon juice is sometimes needed to make this dressing pleasantly tart.

Another dressing is made by adding lemon juice to whipped cream. Two tablespoons lemon juice and one-half teaspoon salt to one cup of whipped cream is a good rule, although the proportions can be varied to suit individual tastes.

One-half cup strained honey, yolks 3 eggs, 4 tablespoons salad oil, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup whipped cream, dash paprika.

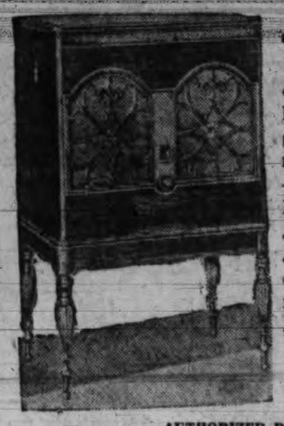

Heat honey to boiling point and pour on to well-beaten egg yolks, beating constantly. Beat over fire for one minute. Remove from heat and beat until thick as mayonnaise. Beat in salt, oil and paprika for approximately two mnutes. Let cool and when ready to serve beat in lemon juice and fold in whipped cream.

Fruit salads are excellent to serve in place of dessert for the winter dinner. When the whole is topped off with black coffee, cheese and crackers, the meal is most satisfactory.

GREATER WHEAT STORAGE URGED AT SASKATOON

Saskatoon, Nov. 6.—"There is no reason why Saskatoon should not occupy the position in relation to Canadian wheat exports that Buffalo holds to wheat exports from the United States," stated Dr. W. A. Carrothers of the ecohomics department of the University of Saskatchewan, commenting on the statement made by E. B. Ramsay that storage at interior terminals would become a big factor in the grain export business.

"Wheat exported from the eastern seaboard of the United States is not chiefly stored at Boston, New York and Baltimore," he pointed out, "but at Buffalo, whence it may be shipped to any port at which cargo space may be available.

"In the same way, wheat stored at Saskatoon could be forwarded to Churchill, the B.C. Coast or Fort William as ocean or lake space and market demand might dictate."

Times Plane Battles Way Through Blinding Storm On Trip to Santa Claus

"All Is Well," Says Wireless From Expedition Leader Speeding to Pole; Radio Pictures of Eventful Trip Will Soon Be Ready, Says Kleinschmidt; Red Garland Follows in "Spirit of Victoria"; On Way to Home of Blonde Eskimos.

By CAPTAIN F. E. KLEINSCHMIDT,
Head of The Times Expedition to Home of Santa Claus

En Route to the North Pole, Nov. 6 (By Wireless).—We are making splendid progress and Mrs. Kleinschmidt and I are delighted with the trip so far. After taking off we flew almost directly north and have kept steadily at it.

As Mrs. Kleinschmidt is an experienced pilot she has taken her turns at the controls and thus we have secured our rest. The cabin of our plane, which we have decided to call "The Santa Claus Special," is so roomy and comfortable that we have been getting along in great shape.

As I am sending this message we are flying about 6,000 feet above Canada, and "Red" Garland, in his Spirit of Victoria, is following closely. Already the air is very cold and we are fortunate in having our Eskimo parkas, made of reindeer skins, with us.

Sunday night we got into a snowstorm and had to climb to about 10,000 feet in order to get above it. The plane is functioning perfectly and we are confident we will get through the long flight in first-class shape.

We have the sky practically to ourselves. Before leaving Canada we did see a couple of mail planes. They waggled their wings in greeting to us and we waved back. Since then we have not seen any aeroplanes. There isn't any traffic problem up here where we are.

As I told your reporter when we took off, we intend to fly to the southern tip of Hudson Bay to Moose Factory, a Hudson's Bay post. We will land there to take on additional supplies of fuel. Then we will follow the western shore of Hudson Bay to Cape Churchill, where the last outpost of the Hudson's Bay Company is located. From here we will take a N.N.W. course for Bathurst Inlet, on Coronation Gulf, and land at the southern shore of Victoria Land.

HOME OF THE BLONDE ESKIMOS

This is the home of the blonde Eskimos, of which you have heard, and I have many friends there who will be waiting for me, and I will be quite at home.

We will leave the two aeroplanes here in the hands of two capable mechanics ready for the return journey, and secure dogteams and reindeer and with Eskimo drivers will proceed north in search of Santa's home.

While my wife has been at the controls I have got my camera in shape for action, so I will be able to get some good pictures when the subjects present themselves. There is a motion camera in the equipment and it is possible I will have an opportunity to take some interesting scenes with it. At any rate, there will be some good snapshots, which I will wireless back to The Times within the next few days.

You will remember that, when Mrs. Kleinschmidt was coaxing me to bring her, just before the start Friday morning, she said something about wanting to cook my meals. That is funny, as we look at it now.

Neither of us has eaten any hot food since we had breakfast Sunday morning. We have had hot coffee, of course, which we brought in Thermos bottles. But the only food we have had or cared for is a few sandwiches. There are too many things to watch, about the plane and about the country we are flying over, to give us time to think about food.

CROSSED FROZEN RIVER

We just crossed a river which is frozen over. That gives some idea of how cold it is. Men were cutting ice out of it and hauling the ice away with horses. It must be at least 20 below zero. And the air up where we are is colder than that. But fortunately our cabin is tightly closed and heated by the exhaust of the engine.

The snowstorm has been the most serious difficulty we have encountered, but it wasn't nearly as bad as sleet would have been. And, of course, it is too cold for sleet. You may remember how much trouble Lindbergh had with sleet when he was making his Atlantic flight. But snow doesn't stick to the wings when the weather is as cold as it is here, and the snow didn't bother us beyond making it difficult to see far ahead. But we watched the altimeter to make sure that we didn't run into any mountains and everything has been lovely.

I will send another story for The Times to-morrow and by that time I am sure there will be more to report.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make 16 ounces. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

"Hit-or-miss" Methods Now Out of Date He Tells Local Body

Professor A. F. Barss of the University of British Columbia, described to an attentive audidience at the meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society in the City Hall last night how science and research is aiding growers of trees and plants in modern times.

At the outset of his address, Prof. Barss recalled how horticulture was once conducted on the "hit-or-miss" system. Apple growers used to raise many varieties of apples, paying practically no attention to quality. Today the growers knew the kinds that would give them the best results. Flowers, fruits and vegetables were affected the same way and trees were being intensively studied, he said.

Prof. Barss spoke of the work of chief foresters in modern cities. Specialists were needed to find which trees were best suited to thrive in the smoke and grime of these cities, he explained.

Flower growing had passed out of the haphazard age, the speaker said. Plants were plastic, mouldable—given to man to deal with and bring out characteristics. At one time plant-breeding was considered almost a secret and those who possessed this secret were credited with supernatural powers. The principles of plant-breeding were now understood by all growers. Science had contributed much toward this progress and conditions necessary for successful growth of flowers, vegetables and trees were well known.

Prof. Barss paid tribute to the work of the British Columbia Government department in plant research and advised his hearers to take advantage of the findings of specialists. The future of horticulture was bright, he said.

The speaker was tendered a hearty vote of thanks.

Following were the winners of the monthly display competition: Floral class, first, J. Unwin; second, R. W. Paton. Vegetables: First, A. M. Scott; second, F. Devison. The judges were H. W. Whiteoak and A. Green.
